MUNICIPAL, FIRE, SCHOOL, OTHER ISSUES UP FOR VOTES IN COUNTY

95 Cities, Towns and Villages Have Elections — Tax Rise for Handicapped Children to Be Decided.

Local elections were being held today in 95 St. Louis county cities, towns and villages, 30 schools districts, four fire protection districts and one sewer district.

The only county-wide vote is on a 5½-cent tax rate increase to finance a $770,000 construction program for the special St. Louis County School District for Handicapped Children. The present rate is 10 cents on each $100 assessed valuation. A two-thirds majority is required for approval.

Most hotly contested Municipal elections are in Kirkwood, Florissant, Webster Groves and Ferguson, where there are rival slates of candidates.

In the school districts, voters are choosing school board members and passing on tax rate and bond proposals. Pattonville and Maryland Heights school district voters are deciding on annexation of Maryland Heights by Pattonville.

Some Voting Twice.

Voters in many county areas are eligible to cast ballots in two or more elections. Whenever possible, the same polling places are being used for municipal, school and other elections. In some cases, however, voters must go to more than one voting place.

Regular school elections are being held for the first time under a new state law permitting only registered voters to cast ballots. In order to comply, the county election board had to revise precinct boundaries to conform to school district lines. This necessitated an increase in the number of precincts from 357 to 510.

Special propositions are on the ballot in 17 municipalities, including annexation proposals, authorizations for use of voting machines, charter amendment proposals and bond proposals.

Annexation proposals are being submitted in Webster Groves, Brentwood, Ferguson, Ladue and Rock Hill.

School Tax Boosts.

Among the school districts, tax rate increases are being submitted in 15. New levies sought, with last year's rates and the proposed rates for 1960, including levies for previously authorized bond issues, are:

Bayless, $2.95 to $3.08; Clayton $2.29 to $2.37; Hancock Place, $2.62 to $2.88; Kinloch, $2.77 to $3; Ladue, $2.27 to $2.81; Lindbergh, $2.80 to $3.05; Maplewood-Richmond Heights, $2.99 to $3.34; Maryland Heights, $3.37 to $3.62; Normandy, $3.19 to $3.33; Riverview Gardens, $3.20 to $3.30; University City, $3.43 to $3.52; R-3 (Pattonville), $3.29 to $3.35; R-6 (Eureka), $3.00 to $3.25; R-7 (Kirkwood), $3.60 to $3.96 and R-9 (Mehlville), $2.95 to $3.10.

In Webster Groves and Ferguson, the city election campaigns have been marked by charges that some candidates seek to weaken council-manager governments under home-rule charters.

Defeat of a home-rule charter proposal in Kirkwood last November is the background of a contest between rival slates headed by William Pfitzinger

President Says Defense Critics Are Either Ignorant or Blind

Addresses 7000, Mostly Women, at Republican Rally—Gives Warmest Praise Yet to Nixon.

By JAMES DEAKIN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 5—President Eisenhower told a cheering, partisan audience last night that critics of his defense policies are either ignorant or blind.

Addressing 7000 Republican workers, most of them women, Mr. Eisenhower gave Vice President Richard M. Nixon his warmest personal indorsement to date. He praised Nixon in lavish terms as a "uniquely knowledgeable" public servant.

The President delivered a sharp rebuke to those who have found fault with the country's military readiness.

"I am convinced that our whole defensive structure has been accurately tailored in the light of both national needs and operational efficiency," he said.

"Our nation is the most powerful in the world, and only the ignorant or the blind insist it to be otherwise."

Mr. Eisenhower's warm words for Nixon found ready favor with the Republican women attending a "jumbo jamboree" in connection with the eighth annual Republican women's conference.

Nixon, the President said, "has been a credit to the Administration, to our party and to our country. Since 1952 he has gained nearly eight years of added governmental experience at the highest level—a tour of seasoning unmatched in the nation's history."

"All of us know him as a man of integrity and deep faith—one who is intelligent, mature uniquely knowledgeable in the problems and personalities in the world scene," Mr. Eisenhower said.

"And along with this, he has that priceless gift, a sense of humor — indispensable in politics. And finally, and most important, he has Pat."

Mr. Eisenhower departed from his prepared text to make this reference to Mrs. Nixon, and the women loved it. They laughed and applauded.

It was obvious that most of the women gathered from all 50 states viewed the rally as a sort

COURT RULES MAN MAY EVICT HIS ESTRANGED WIFE

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—A court ruled yesterday that a man has a right to evict his estranged wife from their home. One judge dissented, declaring such a policy would obstruct marital reconciliations.

The case involved Adolph Tausik, a real estate man, and his wife, Helen, who lived in an expensive co-operative apartment, he owns. Some time ago she decided they should live apart, court papers showed, but obtained his permission to stay in the apartment for two months.

He moved out, for the time being. When the two months were up, he sought to evict her.

In a 2 to 1 decision, upholding a municipal court order, the appellate court said Mrs. Tausik had no right to the apartment, after her decision to leave her husband.

"At the expiration of the two-month period . . . she was a trespasser," said Justices Thomas A. Aurelio and George Tilzer. Judge Samuel H. Hofstadter dissented, saying that "strained relations between husband and wife need not invariably end in the breakup of the union."

STATE ATTRACTING NEW INDUSTRIES AT NEAR RECORD RATE

JEFFERSON CITY, April 5 (AP) — New industries moved into the state in the first three months of 1960 at a pace unmatched since the boom years of the late 1940s, the State Division of Resources and Development reported yesterday.

The agency reported 57 new industries in the state for the three months. Only 61 new industries were obtained in the first half of last year.

Expansion programs undertaken by 62 industries in the three-month period are above normal, the division said. In the first half of 1959, some 77 industries expanded. Non-manufacturing and special industries moving into the state totaled 18.

The division said it would be a record-shattering year if the present rate in new industries and expansions continues.

WHAT PRICE HONESTY?

NEW YORK, April 5 (UPI)—The Holland-America line received by mail yesterday a 26 by 8 by 5½ inch box, carefully wrapped and bearing hand-printed warnings: "Do not crush," "Fragile," "Handle with care."

Inside, nestled in tissue paper, was one coat hanger, plainly marked with the company's name and removed from among the 36,000 that hang in its staterooms. Its value, said the company, is 50 cents. Postage, from Seattle, Wash., was $1.

RECORD TURNOUT LIKELY TODAY IN WISCONSIN VOTE

Interest in Primary Sparked by Religious Issue and Vigorous Campaigns.

MILWAUKEE, April 5 (AP)—Wisconsin was voting today in the nation's first big presidential primary.

The polls opened at 7 a.m. They will close at 8 p.m. The total ballot was expected to exceed the record of 1,000,000-plus cast in 1952.

The voting was unusually heavy. In some cities, the balloting was more than twice as heavy as usual during the first hours after the polls opened.

Light snow, whipped by strong winds, swept through Milwaukee but the weather was relatively warm. Elsewhere in Wisconsin, clear skies and medium temperatures set the stage for an ideal election day.

Election interest was high throughout Wisconsin, stirred in large part by a religious issue and the hard campaigns of two Democratic candidates.

One of them, Senator John Kennedy of Massachusetts, said, "If I am beaten, I'm out."

Kennedy is considered the leading candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination and the favorite to win the election in Wisconsin.

His opponent, Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, says he will not quit the race, regardless of today's outcome.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon is running unopposed on the Republican ballot. He did not campaign personally in Wisconsin. Nevertheless, his showing will be compared to that of the Democratic candidates and to the votes cast for Republican aspirants in previous Wisconsin primaries.

30 Delegates for Nixon.

As the only Republican candidate, Nixon already has the 30 delegates to the Republican nominating convention.

Humphrey and Kennedy are fighting for 30 Democratic delegate votes. They are allocated on the basis of 25 from the 10 congressional districts, plus five at-large delegate votes.

"I will consider it a victory if I win in six of the 10 districts and get a majority of the popular vote," Kennedy said. "Anything above that is just gravy."

Earlier, however, some of his

Eisenhower Says He May Run Again---For State Legislature

By a Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 5—President Eisenhower, rising to the spirit of a political occasion, let it be known last night that he might consider running again — for the Pennsylvania State Legislature, that is.

Mr. Eisenhower, barred by a constitutional amendment from seeking a third term as President, was obviously moved by the enthusiasm of 7000 Republican workers who attended a party rally last night.

As he began his speech, he departed from his prepared text to say: "Sitting here, I got so enthusiastic that I am thinking of running again, for the . . ." the rest of the sentence was drowned out by gasps, then laughter, then applause.

Reporters grabbed their pencils and mentally began calculating deadlines. The President smiled and waited for the stir to subside.

". . . for the Legislature of my adopted state," he finished.

The President has a farm at Gettysburg, Pa., and votes there. Presumably he is qualified for the Legislature, but was he serious? The consensus was no. His smile gave him away—or did it?

MISSOURI RIVER CONTINUES RISE; EARTHEN LEVEES TOPPED, BROKEN

Thousands of Acres of Farmland in Central Missouri Flooded — St. Charles Area May Be Spared.

Central Missouri residents fought with manpower, machinery and sandbags today as the flooding Missouri river continued its slow rise, flooding thousands of acres of farmland.

The crest of the early spring runoff progressed downstream, topping or breaking earthern levees and dikes in the Boonville-Jefferson City area.

The upstream break throughs were expected to ease the situation on the Missouri at St. Charles. In a revised forecast today, the Weather Bureau predicted a crest of 32 feet there on Friday, one-half foot lower than expected earlier.

If the new predictions hold true, considerable flooding may be averted, including 10,000 acres of low ground at St. Charles and 28,000 acres at Hermann.

Break in Levee.

Meanwhile, a serious break in a Mississippi river levee near Meyer, Ill., about 130 miles north of St. Louis, temporarily eased the threat of further flooding south of Meyer.

As a result of the break, the river was expected to reach a crest of only 36 feet at St. Louis, about two feet below the danger point. The Weather Bureau said the St. Louis crest would come either next Monday or Tuesday.

The river was at 31.4 feet at St. Louis today, a rise of .9 of a foot in the last 24 hours. Official flood stage here is 30 feet. At St. Charles, the Missouri river gauge was at 30.6 feet at 7 a.m. today, a rise of .6 of a foot. Flood stage there is 25 feet.

About 1500 acres were covered by two to four feet of water in Columbia Bottoms near the confluence of the two rivers. This is about half the area. The Chamber of Commerce is planning to develop Columbia Bottoms as an industrial park after construction of levees.

Missouri National Guard units and about 300 Missouri convicts were rushed to trouble spots on the Missouri and Mississippi rivers yesterday. The chief danger was at Boonville and Hannibal.

Guards Sent Home.

Guardsmen were sent home today by Maj. Gen. A. D. Sheppard, state adjutant general, who said the troops would be kept on an alert, ready for action if the flood situation should change.

The Coast Guard announced that two helicopters, one from the Elizabeth City (N.C.) base and one from New Orleans, and a DC-4 transport plane from New Orleans weer being sent heer for reconnaissance and possible rescue work.

A Coasta Guard radio communications truck has been sent to Elsberry, Mo., and personnel and rescue equipment are at the St. Louis base on a standby basis, it was stated.

The Missouri, which already covers sections of north Boonville, was expected to crest there at 28.2 feet about 6 p.m. today. This is about two tenths of a foot above the major levees.

Lt. Gen. Emerson C. Itschner, chief of the Army Corps of Engineers, made an inspection of both rivers and announced that damage along the Missouri already had reached $5,000,000. This is a high figure for agricultural land, he said.

Some of the worst flooding seen in an aerial tour by a Post-Dispatch reporter and photographer was between Glasgow, Mo., and Jefferson City.

The Missouri appeared to have reclaimed most of its wide flood plain, becoming a mile wide at some points. The brown water flowed over forests and cultivated farms, isolating farm buildings and threatening to carry them along.

Swift Currents.

Swift currents tore at the rich loam, ruining thousands of acres of land. Some of the ground was freshly plowed and other acres of inundated land were green with winter wheat.

Railroad boxcars had been tumbled about by the river below Boonville, and nearby U.S. Highway 40 had come to an abrupt end as the flood rose over it. Traffic was being rerouted over Missouri Highway 240.

Farmers were working desperately above Jefferson City, using

EATON AND MOCH ASSAIL PROGRAM, PARLEY BROUGHT TO DEADLOCK

Khrushchev's Plan Called So Faulty It Threatens Anarchy—Enslavement Peril Cited.

GENEVA, April 5 (AP)—The West today rejected Soviet Premier Khrushchev's plan for total disarmament, bringing the 10-nation conference to a deadlock. The Soviet Union previously had turned down the West's proposal for gradual disarmament.

United States Ambassador Fredrick M. Eaton declared the Soviet plan was so faulty it would threaten the world with anarchy. He also accused the Soviet Union of misrepresenting the motives of the United States Government in the conference.

The American delegate labeled as untrue accusations made by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin yesterday. Zorin had claimed the United States was trying to twist the neogtiations to secure a military advantage.

Eaton and French disarmament expert Jules Moch told the Communist block countries that the Soviet plan to disarm the world within four years is unacceptable in any form and under any circumstance.

Objections Listed.

The Soviet plan, Eaton said, fails to conform to the objectives of the United Nations resolution calling for an effectively controlled disarmament system. It also fails to provide for an international police force.

Thus, if the Soviet plan were adopted, it would result "in the enslavement of small nations by their large neighbors," Eaton said.

Eaton said the United States, like every other government at the conference table, was not prepared to sacrifice its national interest.

Zorin said the Soviet Union did not object to the Americans protecting their national security but added that "we are not here to talk about armament but about disarmament."

Follows Earlier Theme.

This remark fitted his earlier theme that the United States hoped to use control measures to overcome the Soviet Union's lead in long-range missiles and space vehicles.

Moch listed these reasons for the West's refusal to negotiate on the basis of the Soviet plan:

1. The plan seeks to set a precise time limit, which the West considers Utopian and unrealizable. The suggested limit is four years.

2. It gives conventional disarmament a priority over nuclear disarmament and fails to provide for the disposal of conventional arms to keep pace with troop reductions.

3. It seeks the destruction of all military establishments without setting up an international police force able to enforce respect for world order.

4. It calls for an uncontrollable bar on nuclear arms, which would resemble the 1928 Kellogg pact to outlaw war.

5. In the present "uncertain state of the world" the Western powers cannot sign a document rigidly fixing all stages of a program for total liquidation of their defense forces.

6. The Soviet plan seeks to separate the discussion of disarmament measures from the corresponding measures of control.

7. The plan calls for initial agreement on measures which at present seem completely unrealizable.

'Too Much Time Lost.'

"We cannot accept as a basis for discussion the Soviet plan or any text resembling it," Moch said.

He declared the conference has lost too much time in "academic debates which can lead to nothing." The time has come to speak clearly about the Khrushchev plan so as to leave no possible doubt in the minds of the Soviet bloc delegations, he said.

The Soviet proposal, outlined for the first time last September, sets a four-year deadline for complete liquidation of all arms and armaments, military bases and military staffs but has only

NEGRO POLICE OFFICER KILLED IN SOUTH AFRICA

Authorities Use Armored Cars, Clubs and Whips Against Work Boycotters.

CAPETOWN, April 5 (AP)—A Negro policeman was killed and two white policemen were injured today in new race violence at the Nyanga Negro settlement east of Capetown.

The South African Press Association said these casualties were announced by Maj. J. J. Rheeder, district commandant of police at Athlone, east of Capetown.

The newspaper Cape Argus reported five Negroes were wounded when police opened fire in Nyanga. The newspaper said the wounded included a 7-year-old child and an elderly woman, both shot in the legs.

The outbreak came as police with armored cars ranged through Nyanga, beating Africans in an attempt to get them to go back to work, witnesses reported.

Other Violence.

Scattered outbreaks of violence by Negroes opposing South Africa's white supremacy laws also were reported at Johannesburg and Durban after a quiet night.

In a Negro settlement near Johannesburg police used armored car patrols to disperse a group of Negro agitators. Near Durban on the east coast a bus was stoned after night riots were quelled by police.

About 100 Negroes were besieged by knife-carrying Africans last night at the S. J. hostel near Lamonville, 10 miles from Durban. They were rescued by police and a military detachment this morning.

Most of those besieged were tribesmen who had decided to return to their native reserves in the countryside until the racial strife is over. Police said many had been victims of intimidation by city Negroes.

Reports from other areas told of Negroes arrested on charges of inciting to riot and burning the passbooks all non-whites must carry by law.

For the second straight day,

MAN SMASHES UP WIFE'S AUTO--FEELS BETTER NOW

SAN MATEO, Calif., April 5 (UPI)—Jack E. Jensen, angry after an argument with his wife, got in his automobile and drove head-on into his wife's from a distance of 200 feet.

Then he backed across a neighbor's lawn and attacked again, this time sideswiping the parked car. He completed the demolition with a final attack from a distance of half a block.

When police arrived he said contentedly: "I was mad, and now I feel better."

'COPTER DEFLATES BALLOONISTS' PLAN TO CROSS ATLANTIC

LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands, April 5 (UPI) — Jose Maria Ansaldo, 61 years old, a Spanish pilot and free balloonist, was taking off yesterday to cross the Atlantic in a balloon. With him were a copy of his favorite book, "Don Quixote," and a radio operator.

As Ansaldo's balloon Canarias was towed off shore a helicopter hovered for a better look. The down draft from its whirling blades twisted a two-foot gash in the gas-filled balloon.

The balloon slowly deflated. Ansaldo and his radio operator, Gregorio Alonso, were scooped from the water as a large crowd watched.

Ansaldo had hoped to be the first to make a complete crossing of the Atlantic in a balloon and he had worked for years on the project, waiting until just the right moment. First estimates said it would take at least five months to repair the damage.

CO-PILOT OF NICARAGUAN AIRLINER KILLED IN CRASH

MANAGUA, April 5 (AP)—The co-pilot of a Nicaraguan passenger plane was killed today in a crash landing on a mountainside.

An earlier report said three infants were also killed but Lanica Airline officials said this proved false. Five persons were seriously burned. Three Americans were among the 18 passengers who survived. They were Marcus Valdez, Phillips Cardizolez and William Fister. Home addresses were not given.

The crash occurred when an engine failed shortly after the twin-engined C-46 takeoff at Siuna, 150 miles north of Managua.

GAMBLE BENEDICT MISSING AGAIN; PORUMBEANU TOO

NEW YORK, April 5 (UPI)—Gamble Benedict, 19-year-old heiress to a Remington typewriter fortune, has been missing from her grandmother's town house for 24 hours. It was her second disappearance since Dec. 27.

The Briarcliff College freshman, who ran off to Paris with her 35-year-old lover, Andre Porumbeanu, in her first disappearance, has been under court order not ot see him.

Porumbeanu also is missing from his New York City haunts, his friends said.

QUEEN, 100,000 GREET DE GAULLE IN LONDON VISIT

French President Taken to Buckingham Palace—To Talk With Macmillan.

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

LONDON, April 5 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II and 100,000 cheering Londoners welcomed French President Charles de Gaulle to Britain today.

For De Gaulle it was a sentimental occasion. He had not been in London for nearly 16 years. Tears filled his eyes at the stirring strains of "The Marseillaise" as the wartime general of the Free French forces returned to the scene where he struggled with his Allies for recognition as an equal partner.

He came back today as president of the fifth French republic, more powerful than any other Frenchman of his times.

The Queen, dressed in a long mauve coat and a mauve wastebasket-shaped hat, met De Gaulle at Victoria Station. The general took her hand, shook it and bowed slightly. Mme. De Gaulle was beside him.

De Gaulle was wearing the uniform of a brigadier general, his wartime rank.

General's Uniform.

It was the Queen's first public engagement since the birth Feb. 19 of her third child, Prince Andrew. Spectators remarked that she appeared as radiant as ever, but had gained some weight.

Prince Philip, Princess Margaret and the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester were there.

The Queen took the De Gaulles to a line of dignitaries waiting to be presented.

De Gaulle beamed when he saw Field Marshal Earl Alexander. He took Alexander's right hand in both of his — and squeezed it hard.

Next in line was Prime Minister Macmillan, dressed in a tail coat and striped trousers. He

Opera Houses in 'United Front' To Hold Singers to Contracts

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 5—Rudolph Bing, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera, said yesterday that he and the managers of the Chicago and San Francisco operas had formed a "united front" to keep artists from breaking their contracts.

Bing said there is "an extremely dangerous and deteriorating situation with some singers—both European and American—who more and more tend to ignore contractual obligations, and play off one company against another."

Under the terms of the agreement, a breach of contract at one opera house could be considered a breach of faith at the others, barring singers from engagements with the three leading American companies.

Bing said that though the agreement is not legally binding, "it might be helpful if we knew what went on at the other companies, and kept ourselves informed as to engagement periods and fees so not as to be misinformed by singers and managers."

SENATE DEFERS FINAL VOTE ON CIVIL RIGHTS BILL UNTIL TOMORROW

Dirksen Says President Is 'Quite Happy' With Measure in Present Form — Predicts No Changes.

By EDWARD F. WOODS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 5—Final vote on passage of a civil rights bill in the Senate, which had been scheduled for tonight, was deferred late this afternoon until tomorrow.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Kirksen (Rep.), Illinois, told reporters after a meeting of the Republican policy committee that the Senate bill probably would go to the House tomorrow and, barring some unforeseen obstruction, that it would be concurred in by the House and sent to the President for signature by the end of this week.

Dirksen, who conferred with President Eisenhower this morning, said that the President was "quite happy" with the bill slated for Senate approval.

Predicts no Changes.

Dirksen predicted that the middle-of-the-road, bi-partisan majority in Senate would continue its course of shelving amendments submitted by Northerners and Southerners today and tonight, go through the third reading for the final draft and then come in tomorrow for final passage.

Dirksen said that "everybody is" just plain fatigued" by the wrangling over the legislation.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas said that the Senate would pass the bill "about substantially as it is," but not before tomorrow. The Senate is now in its eighth week of debate on civil rights.

Dirksen and Johnson proved, in yesterday's voting on amendments, that they command a sufficient majority to assure passage of the measure as it now stands.

Yesterday's Actions.

In yesterday's voting the Senate:

1. Killed an amendment to put back in the bill provisions for federal aid to school districts attempting to comply with court orders on desegregation. The amendment was tabled by a vote of 61 to 30.

2. Tabled by a vote of 50 to 34 an amendment to authorize the Attorney General to intervene in federal courts in behalf of persons complaining that any of their civil rights were abridged. Presently, the Attorney General may intervene only after individuals have filed their own court actions.

3. Defeated an amendment which would have waived requirements that Negro voting applicants must prove that they have been turned down by local registrars in order to be certified by the federal referee for registration. The vote was 52 to 38.

4. Shelved, by a vote of 58 to 26, a proposal by Senator Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (Dem.), Missouri, that the Government have a choice between using the court-referee system or enrollment officers appointed directly by the President to assure voting rights.

Both Senator Hennings and Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.), Missouri, voted against shelving the amendment to give federal aid to school districts and against the motion to table the amendment to give the Attorney General specific authority to intervene in school integration cases.

HOUSE COMMITTEE FORMALLY VOTES 4 BILLION IN AID

Authorization Measure Cuts $136,500,000 From Eisenhower's Request.

WASHINGTON, April 5 (UPI)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee formally approved a $4,038,500,000 foreign aid authorization today, cutting $136,500,000 from President Eisenhower's request.

The vote was 18 to 5, with one member voting present.

The measure would bar any aid to Cuba unless the President specifically ruled such assistance to be in the "national or hemispheric interest." Only $350,000 in technical aid had been allotted for Cuba in the Administration's proposals.

The measure, which was tentatively approved by the committee last week, faces efforts at further cuts in the House. The program is likely to have even rougher going when the Appropriations Committee determines how much actual money to put up for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Chairman Otto E. Passman (Dem.), Louisiana, has predicted that his foreign aid appropriations subcommittee will chop more than one billion dollars from Mr. Eisnhower's over-all $4,175,000,000 program of military, economic and technical help for the free world.

The Foreign Affairs Committee's cuts of $136,500,000 were in defense support, special assistance and contingency fund categories. Some funds, authorized last year on a continuing basis, could not be cut by the Foreign Affairs Committee but will be subject to reduction later in the Appropriations Committee.

As it stands now, the bill carries two billion dollars for military aid; $675,000,000 for defense support; $700,000,000 for the Development Loan Fund; $172,000,000 for technial co-operation; $256,000,000 for special economic assistance; $100,000,000 for the emergency contingency fund, and $135,000,000 for various small programs including atoms for peace, administrative expenses, children's welfare, and refugee relief.

No schedule has yet been determined for House action. Chairman Thomas E. Morgan said, however, he hopes it can be completed within two or three weeks.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has held hearings on the bill, but has taken no action on amendments or changes.

Pro-Red Youths Cheer Castro And Boo 'Yankee Imperialism'

Delegates From Various Countries Attend Havana Rally — Eisenhower's Name Stirs Protests by Crowd.

HAVANA, April 5 (AP)—Pro-Communist youths from around the world thunderously indorsed Fidel Castro's revolution early today at a rally marked by a wild display of anti-Americanism.

Some 1000 delegates, 800 of them from Cuba, jammed a Havana theater for the start of the week-long meeting of the Cuban Congress of Socialist Youth. Foreign delegates came from Asia, Europe and Africa, as well as other Latin American countries.

They roared approval at every mention of Castro. They booed at every reference to "Yankee imperialism" and "Eisenhower."

A big cheer greeted an announcement that the government's National Institute of Agrarian Reform had ordered the "intervention" of 165,000 acres of land owned by the United Fruit Co. A company spokesman said, "We have not been advised officially of such a step."

No Details Given.

The rally announcement gave no details of the purported "intervention," a term describing a legal step which could lead to token supervision of the land or outright seizure.

There have been reports that the government plans to expropriate United Fruit's big sugar holdings, valued at $32,000,000, when the current sugar harvest is completed.

Another cheer went up when Juan Marinello, president of Cuba's Popular Socialist (Communist) party, declared that "part of our territory is not Cuban. It (the territory) poses a threat of American military might." This obviously was a reference to the United States naval base at Guantanamo, in eastern Cuba.

President Eisenhower's name came up when a speaker made critical references to his recent Latin-American trip.

No top Cuban officials were present. The meeting is a prelude to a May day rally for which Prime Minister Castro has called on 1,500,000 Cubans to turn out.

Bonsal's Position.

United States Ambassador Philip Bonsal, in the two weeks since his return from Washington, has made no request for a meeting with Prime Minister Castro and has no plans to do so.

"Bonsal's channel here is through the Foreign Ministry," an embassy official said.

The Foreign Ministry serves only as a messenger for Castro, and in the past this method was ineffective. Informants said the State Department appears to be following Bonsal's policy of patience, but they saw this policy as growing thin.

United States business men, for example, said they were convinced nothing can be done to halt Castro's policy of nationalization or socialization of all phases of the Cuban economy, including the takeover of American firms and property in Cuba.

Some Americans favor Bonsal's policy in the hope the Castro regime will fall or modify its ways. But others said the United States should embark on a campaign of economic sanctions to match those Castro is applying to United States firms in Cuba.

ADMINISTRATION SETS GUIDE ON CARE FOR AGED

Social Security Tax Hike Ruled Out in Voluntary Health Insurance Plan.

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) President Eisenhower and Republican congressional leaders agreed today on guidelines for a voluntary program of health insurance for the aged.

The Administration program, still being developed, definitely rules out any increase in the social security tax to finance the plan, the G.O.P. congressional group told a news conference.

Senator Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate Republican leader, said the program would operate mainly at the state level, but that federal participation—through the general tax program—is contemplated.

In reply to a question, Dirksen said that as he sees it, the federal government would make some contribution toward payment of health insurance premiums.

Asked whether Mr. Eisenhower had indorsed that principle, Dirksen replied that the President had made no commitments.

But, Dirksen added, the President did express flat opposition to any increase in the social security tax for financing a health insurance program.

Dirksen said Mr. Eisenhower and the leaders agreed that the administration program should be based on these guidelines:

1. It must be voluntary and not compulsory.
2. It must not be excessive in its size.
3. It should be geared to private health insurance system.
4. There must be no increase in the social security tax.
5. It must be somewhat limited in its benefits and scope.

Dirksen said exploratory work based on these guidelines is being carried on with "real vigor" by Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Flemming. Flemming sat in at today's White House conference.

RUSSIANS DECIDE BONN OFFICIAL IS WAR CRIMINAL

MOSCOW, April 5 (AP)—A Soviet commission declared today it considers it has established that Theodor Oberlaender, West German refugee minister, committed war crimes and crimes against humanity as a German officer in World War II.

A report by "the Soviet Extraordinary State Commission on the Establishment and Investigation of the Crimes of the German Fascist Invaders" was presented at a news conference.

Quoting witnesses and documents, the commission charged that a battalion of Ukrainian nationalists set up by Oberlaender killed various Soviet officials, Jews and Poles after entering Lwow, Poland, June 30, 1941. It said 12 Soviet citizens were hanged on the balcony of the opera theater and 15 persons were shot on Strelecka square.

As commander of another battalion in the northern Caucasus from September 1942 to January 1943, Oberlaender was accused of shooting 15 Soviet citizens in a prison cell.

Oberlaender contends Soviet troops were responsible for the killings. He agreed recently in Bonn to an investigation his Christian Democratic party, which is headed by Chancellor Adenauer.

ARBITRATORS BEGIN HEARING RAIL ENGINEER WAGE CASE

CHICAGO, April 5 (AP) — A six-man arbitration board today began hearing a wage case that may set a pattern for 800,000 workers on the railroads.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, with 40,000 members, wants a 12 per cent increase in pay. The rail lines seek a wage reduction of 15 cents an hour. The union says its members average $2.83 an hour, straight time. Rail management places the figure at $3.80.

The two sides were unable to find a basis for settlement in negotiation and mediation, but they did agree to binding arbitration.

The arbiters are Prof. Archibald Cox of Harvard University and Prof. Richard A. Lester of Princeton University, neutral members of the board; J. E. Wolfe of the Chicago Burlington and Quincy Railroad and Guy W. Knight of the Pennsylvania Railroad, industry choices; and Roy E. Davidson and Donald S. Beattie, union choices.

KANSAS CITY GROUP BACKS DALTON IN GOVERNOR RACE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 5—Indorsement of the candidacy of Attorney General John M. Dalton as a Democratic candidate for governor was announced today by the Democratic coalition of Kansas City, through the Dalton headquarters here.

The indorsement was signed by Kansas City Democrats George W. Aylward, Bernard W. Gnefkow, Henry McKissick, Alex Presta, Charles Hipsh, Harry Gallagher and Jackson County Judge Hunter Phillips. Mayor William Sermon of Independence, an eastern Jackson county Democratic leader, indorsed Dalton several weeks ago.

A resolution adopted by the Democratic coalition commended Dalton for his record as attorney general.

HAIR LONG, CLOTHES SLOPPY; SCHOOL SUSPENDS 50 BOYS

BILLERICA, Mass., April 5 (UPI)—Billerica High School officials suspended some 50 boys yesterday because their hair was too long and clothes too sloppy.

Vice principal David Nutall, in charge of school discipline, said most of the boys suspended were teen-age rebels "and not true students." The school committee March 24 passed a set of good grooming regulations.

Nutall said most parents he spoke to were pleased with the school's action, but some took the attitude it was none of the school's business how their children dressed or had their hair cut.

KENYA TERRORISTS INJURE 5, INCLUDING PRIEST AND NUN

NYERI, Kenya, April 5 (AP)—Knife-wielding terrorist tribesmen have injured five persons, including a Catholic priest and a nun, in two raids.

A gang attacked the Guturi Catholic mission at Fort Hall, 45 miles northeast of Nairobi, yesterday. Father Arbinoro, a European missionary, was slashed on an arm and leg. The nun, Sister Filomnia, suffered serious head injuries. Police said preliminary investigation disclosed no apparent motive for the raid.

Nine Africans, believed to be Kikuyu tribesmen, raided a small trading center near Embu, 70 miles northeast of Nairobi, last night. They slashed the owner of a shop, his wife and a child, and rode off in a stolen car with $840.

Three terrorists attacked an Asian trader and his family near Nyeri March 11, killing the wife and two children.

PHILIPPINE BID FOR HIKE IN SUGAR QUOTA REJECTED

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower has rejected the request of President Carlos P. Garcia for an increase in the Philippine sugar quota.

In a message to Mr. Eisenhower March 17, Garcia had requested an incerase of 200,000 tons in the amount of sugar his country is permitted to supply the United States market.

The White House made public yesterday a reply which said: "After weeks of the most careful study of this problem, I have concluded that the time is not propitious to recommend any change in the present sturcture of quotas assigned to foreign countries." Mr. Eisenhower noted that sugar quotas are determined by Congress and that any modification of the sugar act would require congressional action.

BRITISH TAX RISE MAKES CIGARETTES 57½ CENTS A PACK

LONDON, April 5 (UPI)—The British Government increased the tax on cigarettes and lowered the levy on wine yesterday in a "deliberately cautious" budget that gave no direct tax relief to the man-in-the-street.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Derick Heathcoat Amory estimated total revenue at $16,743,000,000 and expenditures at $15,893,250,800, leaving a surplus of about $850,000,000.

The cigarette tax meant that a pack of non-filter cigarettes will cost 57½ cents instead of 55 cents. Taxes on other tobacco products also were increased. Tobacco companies said they would boost the price of pipe tobacco from the present 74 cents an ounce to 77 cents. The price of a medium cigar will go up about two cents.

A reduction of about 28 cents a gallon in the price of wines, ranging from champagne to port, made little difference to the average Briton, who tends to be a beer drinker. Last year, Amory knocked three cents a pint off the price of beer.

Japanese Volcano Erupts.

TOKYO, April 5 (AP)—Mount Minami, most active of three volcanos on Sakura island, Kagoshima, southern Japan, erupted three times yesterday, spewing black smoke and rocks to a height of 6000 feet. There were no reports of casualties or damage.

TUGS WILL SEEK TO RAISE PLANE IN LAKE ERIE CRASH

PORT STANLEY, Ont., April 5 (AP)—Salvage tugs today will try to raise the main section of what is believed to be a United States private plane that crashed in Lake Erie Sunday with four persons aboard.

Small sections of a plane and two men's coats were pulled to the surface last night. No survivors or bodies were reported found.

The occupants of the leased plane, all employes of the Chrysler plant in Detroit, were returning from a United Auto Workers bowling tournament in Buffalo.

NO FRENCH NUCLEAR TESTS SOON, U.N. DELEGATES SAY

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., April 5 (AP)—The French delegation has circulated among other delegations a document indicating that no further nuclear tests are planned by France in the immediate future.

French sources said the document consisted of excerpts from French newspapers and news agency reports based on official information.

These sources said the two tests held by France had achieved the purpose intended, namely showing that France now could begin producing nuclear weapons.

DRIVE TO STOP BIG POLICY GAME DISCLOSED AFTER RAID IN COUNTY

City Police Announcement Follows Seizure of Supplies at Reported 'Red Bird' Headquarters.

A campaign to shut down a large policy operation, with gross sales of several million dollars a year, was announced today by St. Louis police.

Lt. Charles Craft, newly appointed head of the gambling squad, made the announcement following a raid yesterday at the headquarters of the "Red Bird" policy game in St. Louis county. Craft told the Post-Dispatch the "Red Bird" was one of three large lotteries directed by a man long associated with policy operations here. The other games are named the "Original Rex" and "Jim S.," Craft said.

Equipment Seized.

Yesterday's raid was at the home of John V. Harness, a tavern operator, who lives at 11041 Littie drive, Concord Village. The raid was led by Capt. F. J. Vasel, head of the county police secret service division, on information furnished by the St. Louis gambling squad. Lt. Craft and Detective Thomas McInerney accompanied Vasel and three county detectives, who had a search warrant.

After Harness refused to answer the doorbell, Capt. Vasel kicked in a door and served the search warrant on Harness, who, the raiders said, was busy hiding policy paraphernalia. The officers seized boxes of policy slips, result sheets and other sheets pertaining to the daily drawings, which they found in various sections of the house. In the basement they found a hand-press on which some of the material was printed, they said.

Harness was quoted as admitting he had been printing policy sheets for "several weeks." He refused to name associates or to elaborate on the operation.

Several telephone calls to the home were answered by the officers. One was from a policy agent, who asked why Harness had not kept an appointment to meet him, police reported. Harness refused a police request that he talk with the agent.

Had Been Watched.

St. Louis police reported they observed Harness distribute policy slips and the results of drawings to various agents in the city in the last 10 days. Meanwhile, county officers had kept the Harness home under surveillance. Capt. Vasel estimated the gross business of the "Red Bird" policy game at $5000 each day of operation.

Police said there were indications the three large policy games are under directions of a former East Side gambler now living in St. Louis county.

Harness, who operates the Modernaire Tavern, 8718 Gravois road, Affton, furnished $2000 bond returnable at Clayton next Tuesday.

$1500 FINE IN FIRE AT ROOMING HOUSE

Mrs. Pensacola Robinson, owner of an unlicensed rooming house at 3922 Delmar boulevard, where two persons were burned to death last Jan. 22, was fined a total of $1500 today by Police Judge Morris Rosenthal.

Judge Rosenthal assessed the maximum of $500 on each of three charges: Failure to have a rooming house license; failure to provide dual egress from the third floor, and failure to provide fire separation between floors.

Various tenants testified that there were four light housekeeping units in addition to quarters occupied by Mrs. Robinson on the first floor. They said stairways were not enclosed and there were no fire escapes.

City Building Inspector Robert Streator said records of his office showed that in applying for a Government-guaranteed loan to make repairs of tornado damage in February 1959, Mrs. Robinson reported the three-story structure was used by only three families.

Mrs. Robinson did not testify. Her attorney, Karl F. Lang, contended that an inspection was made of the premises in February 1959, and that no violations were reported. He said there had been no structural changes since that time.

Lang told the court Mrs. Robinson, 64 years old, had put her life savings in the building and that the insurance barely covered the mortgage. He said she was destitute and would be unable to pay a fine. He said an appeal would be taken.

Mrs. Esther Allen, 29, died of injuries suffered when she jumped from a third floor window after fire broke out in the building in the early morning hours. The body of Patricia Ann Allen, 9, her daughter, was found in their quarters. Five other persons were injured in the fire.

MOTORIST SUFFERS BRUISES AS AUTO IS HIT BY TRAIN

Archie L. Gates, 3157 California avenue, suffered possible broken ribs and minor bruises today when the automobile he was driving was struck by a northbound passenger train at the Missouri Pacific Railroad crossing at De-Tonty street.

Gates, 71 years old, said the warning light at the grade crossing was not flashing. Police reported it was flashing when they arrived.

J. A. Brandon, Little Rock, the engineer, said Gates was approaching from the west, hesitated at the crossing and then went across. The locomotive struck the car on its left rear fender, spinning it around. He said he was able to reduce the train speed from about 25 miles an hour to 10 to 12 miles an hour. Gates was taken to City hospital.

LEIF SVERDRUP ADDRESSES STUDENTS AT M'KENDREE

Perseverance is more essential to success than genius, Leif J. Sverdrup, president of Sverdrup & Parcel, Inc., engineering firm, said last night in an address before students of McKendree College at Lebanon, Ill.

Sverdrup told the students that "if at first you don't succeed, you're like most other people," but, he added, "if you just push ahead with what you want to do, you'll be surprised at what you can accomplish."

Vision is another important attribute of success, he told the students. Sverdrup described his rise from an immigrant farm laborer to the presidency of his own engineering firm, which now has international operations.

STATE COMMITTEE TO PAY NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC LEVY

The Missouri State Democratic Committee has agreed to advance $27,200 needed to pay in full the Democratic National Committee's assessment against the state party organization, Democratic National Committeeman Mark R. Holloran said today.

Holloran said the members of the state committee were polled yesterday by their chairman, Wilbur F. Daniels, Fayette, and agreed to advance the money as a loan.

Individual promissory notes covering the loan have been signed by Holloran, Anton Sestric, James H. Meredith, Sidney Salomon Jr., all of St. Louis, and Richard R. Nacy of Jefferson City, Holloran said. The notes are payable when the fall campaign starts, he added. The money will be raised in a fund-raising drive or by private solicitation, he explained.

Failure to pay the assessment would have meant that Missouri Democrats attending the national party convention would not have received good hotel accommodations or strategic seating arrangements needed to press for the nomination of Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri for President.

LEMAY MAN FOUND DEAD IN GARAGE OF HIS HOME

Melvin Y. Jobe, an office worker for International Shoe Co., was found dead yesterday in his automobile in the basement garage of his home at 500 Chapel road, Lemay.

The body was found by Jobe's wife upon her return from a shopping trip. Police said a hose was attached to the car's exhaust and led into a window of the vehicle. The motor was running.

Mrs. Jobe told police her husband, 57 years old, had been ill and despondent. He left a note in the house. St. Louis county Coroner Raymond I. Harris ruled the death a suicide.

WOMAN, 67, DIES IN FIRE AT HOME; 24TH THIS YEAR

Victim Is Found in Chair — Careless Smoking Given as Probable Cause.

Mrs. William Bunton was burned to death last night in a fire in her home, 3631A Cozens avenue. Her death was the twenty-fourth caused by fire in St. Louis since Jan. 1.

Firemen reported they found Mrs. Bunton seated in a burning chair in the living room of the three-room flat. She was pronounced dead at Homer G. Phillips Hospital.

Mrs. Bunton, 67 years old, was alone in the flat when the blaze was discovered by neighbors. Firemen gave careless smoking as the probable cause of the fire. Damage was estimated at $700.

The family of Hugh E. Bearden was routed from its home, 4 South Dellwood avenue, Dellwood, by fire early today.

Bearden, an employe of McDonnell Aircraft Corp., was awakened by smoke at 4 a.m. He aroused his wife, a son and a daughter. All fled in night clothing to the home of a neighbor.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started near a furnace, which Bearden said had not functioned properly. Damage was estimated by firemen at $3000.

ALTON NAVY PILOT KILLED IN FLORIDA PLANE CRASH

Navy Lt. Daniel E. Gorman Jr., whose parents live at 2312 Hale drive, Alton, was killed when a Navy training plane he was flying crashed Sunday about 12 miles north of Milton, Fla. The bodies of Gorman and a crewman, Lt. Bertram Blount of Portland, Ore., were found yesterday.

Gorman, 28 years old, was a flight instructor at the Pensacola Naval Air Station. He had visited his parents over the weekend and left late Sunday from Alton. The plane, en route to Whiting Field near Milton, was last heard from after it reported over Evergreen, Ala., late Sunday night.

Gorman received a degree from the Alton campus of Southern Illinois University. He had spent four and one-half years in the Navy and returned to active duty in January.

BURGLAR IS SEIZED, LOOT FROM OTHER BREAK-IN FOUND

A burglary was discovered last night after police arrested a suspect in another break-in and found the loot in a parked automobile.

A man who said he is Albert Robbins, 22 years old, was arrested after a watchman surprised him in the storeroom of a laundry at 4236 Natural Bridge avenue. Police said he admitted picking the lock of the storeroom.

In the suspect's automobile, parked nearby, officers found a watch, silverware and other items, which they said Robbins admitted stealing from the apartment of Mrs. Clarence L. Winans, 5323 Lucas-Hunt road, Jennings, several hours earlier. Robbins gave an address in the 2200 block of Dodier street.

20 ELIGIBLE CITY EMPLOYES ASK TO RETIRE NOW

Limited Deferment Is Requested for 271 Others More Than 70 Years Old.

Twenty municipal employes more than 70 years old have applied for immediate retirement, R. Elliott Scearce, director of personnel and secretary of the new municipal employes pension board, reported today.

Scearce also reported requests from department heads for limited deferment of retirement of 271 other employes more than 70 years old. The purpose of deferments, from one to three months, is so that all the approximately 300 experienced employes over 70 do not leave their jobs at the same time.

Among the individuals requesting immediate retirement was Henry Ochs, who for many years has been in charge of the city greenhouses and the Jewel Box in Forest Park. Park Commissioner Palmer B. Baumes retired last week.

The pension plan for all city employes, except police and firemen, was passed by the Board of Aldermen last month. In general, the plan provides that employes with 30 years service, who retire at age 65, will receive, with Social Security benefits, about 50 per cent of the average of the five highest paid years of their last 10 years' service. The cost to the city will be about $1,200,000 a year.

Retirement is optional at age 65, and will be mandatory at age 70 after April 1962. Employes contribute 2 per cent of the first $4800 of their annual salary and 5 per cent of the excess above that figure.

MOTHER OF 9 SEIZED; LIVING IN CONDEMNED QUARTERS

Mrs. Raycee Simm, mother of nine children, was arrested yesterday in quarters she occupied with her family at 1529 (rear) Franklin avenue. The arrest was made on complaint of City Building Inspector Robert Streator.

Streator said the building had been condemned Feb. 23, at which time Mrs. Simm was given three days to move. Police also arrested another tenant, I. V. Faulkner, a laborer.

Mrs. Simm said she had tried unsuccessfully to find other quarters. A similar explanation was given by Faulkner, police said. The children range in age from 7 months to 15 years. The condemned structure has no water, gas or electricity.

YEAR'S FIRST CONTRIBUTION TO TAX 'CONSCIENCE FUND'

The first contribution of the year to the Internal Revenue Service's "conscience fund" arrived at the St. Louis office today.

Director of Internal Revenue Alvin M. Kelley said nine $20 bills were in an envelope addressed simply, "Internal Revenue Service, St. Louis." The sender did not inclose a note.

SCIENTISTS TO GIVE PUBLIC FACTS ON RADIATION PERILS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, April 5—A nation-wide service by scientists to give the public information on nuclear fall-out and other radiation dangers was organized here yesterday.

The service will be provided in each community by a committee of local scientists under the general guidance of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The local organizations will disseminate nuclear information in a readily understandable form in the hope of correcting false impressions the public may have on the subject, it was explained.

Two cities, New York and St. Louis, already have such organizations. The St. Louis group, the Citizens Committee for Nuclear Information, joined with the New York group and the A.A.A.S. in sponsoring the two-day meeting here. Barry Commoner, professor of plant physiology at Washington University, represented the St. Louis unit.

FUNERAL TO BE TOMORROW FOR MRS. OTTO L. HERMANN

Funeral services for Mrs. Otto L. Hermann, wife of a department manager at Buxton & Skinner Printing and Stationery Co., will be at 9 a.m. tomorrow at St. Stephen's Protomartyr Catholic Church, 3949 Wilmington avenue. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. Hermann, 79 years old, died of complications yesterday at her home, 4089 Toenges avenue. A member of an old South St. Louis family, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Emil Burst. Her father was an architect. She formerly had an art studio and specialized in pastels and water colors.

Surviving, besides her husband, are two daughters, Miss La Donna Hermann of the Rural Parish Workers of Christ the King at Fertile, Mo., and Mrs. Gerhardt Boekers of the Toenges avenue address, and four sisters, all of St. Louis.

CASHES PENSION CHECK, THEN IS ROBBED OF $131

William Warren was robbed of $131 yesterday in the 1300 block of Whittier street, he reported to police.

Warren, who lives at 1212 Whittier, said he had cashed his monthly pension check at a nearby store and was returning home when a man with a handkerchief mask stopped him at the mouth of an alley and demanded his money.

Warren said he gave the money to the man, who ran through the alley to a waiting automobile and drove north on Sarah street. Warren was not injured.

RULING ON COUNTY SUMMER SCHOOLS

6-Director Districts May Permit Operation by Other Parties.

By the Post-Dispatch Jefferson City Correspondent.

JEFFERSON CITY, April 5—Summer schools may be operated in St. Louis county school districts by entities other than the school board, Missouri Attorney General John M. Dalton said today.

Dalton said six-director school districts, such as those in St. Louis county and in most of the state, may permit individuals, unincorporated associations or not-for-profit corporations to operate summer school programs.

The opinion confirmed that of attorneys for several St. Louis county school districts, who had held that school boards could give private, non-profit corporations authority to conduct summer school programs in the districts' buildings with the districts' personnel.

Circumvents Legal Bar.

This device, they said, would circumvent the legal obstacle raised by Dalton in an opinion last November. In that opinion, Dalton held that school boards could not conduct summer schools because they would be extending the school year beyond the 10 months prescribed by law.

On the basis of their lawyers' views, at least eight school districts — Clayton, Normandy, Ferguson-Florissant, University City, Webster Groves, Kirkwood, Affton and Maplewood-Richmond Heights—went ahead with plans to have summer schools this year.

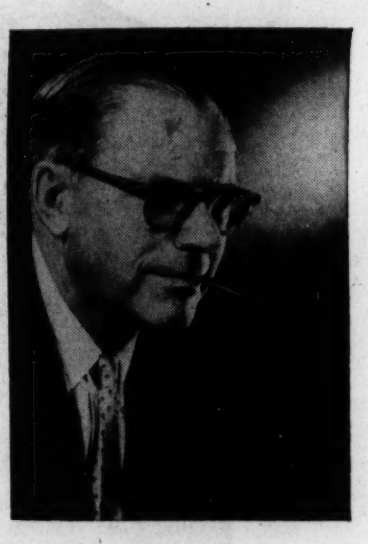

However, the attorneys asked Prosecuting Attorney Norman Anderson to seek an opinion from Dalton to corroborate their view.

In the opinion, Dalton held that a district's school board members also could be members of a corporation formed to conduct a summer school.

No Pecuniary Interest.

The members of the summer school corporation could hold "no direct or indirect pecuniary interest" in the contract with the school board, he said.

Dalton's original opinion on the legality of a school board conducting a summer school was issued in response to a question raised by Northcutt Coil, a member of the Kirkwood Board of Education. Until Coil raised the question, it had been assumed for years that six-member school boards could operate summer schools.

BLANSHARD SPEAKS ON RELIGION, POLITICS

Any discussion of religion in the presidential campaign should be confined to specific public issues, Paul Blanshard, author and lecturer, said last night. A presidential candidate's own religious faith is irrelevant, he said.

Blanshard, author of the controversial "American Freedom and Catholic Power," addressed the first meeting of a public forum lecture series at the First Unitarian Church, 5015 Waterman boulevard.

It is important that religious questions, when they do affect public policy, be thoroughly discussed, He said.

Remarking on the campaign of Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts for the Democratic presidential nomination, Blanshard said there are six points on which the public should question a Catholic candidate closely.

He listed them as abolition of divorce and birth control, governmental support of private schools, censorship, discrimination against religious groups and the "formal boycott" of public schools.

Blanshard said Kennedy must receive "all credit due him" for his stand in opposition to some policies of the Catholic Church, particularly on the question of public support for parochial education.

The Senator drew severe criticism in some sections of the Catholic press for his flat declaration that a grant of public funds for parochial education is unconstitutional, he said.

However, he said, on other issues, such as birth control and the question of "boycotting" public schools, Kennedy has not made his position clear.

Laws prohibiting doctors from giving pre-marital advice on birth control, Blanshard said, abridge the right of all persons, irrespective of their faith, to obtain unrestricted medical advice.

"Our greatest fight right now is to keep our system of public education neutral," he said. "If our state or federal governments begin subsidizing parochial education, it will inevitably lead to a fragmentation of the entire system of education and the consequent loss of one of the great unifying elements for all creeds in this nation."

MRS. EISENHOWER PLANS TO GO TO SUMMIT, RUSSIA

© New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, April 5—Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower is planning to accompany the President to the summit meeting in Paris and to Russia and Japan in June. The plans are subject to change, depending on the health of Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, who has been ill for several months.

There is still no official word on whether any of the Eisenhower grandchildren will accept the invitation to Premier Khrushchev to make the trip to Russia, but there have been reports that they would not. The summit meeting is scheduled to begin on May 16, the Moscow trip on June 10.

Mrs. Eisenhower had planned to accompany her husband on his Latin American trip but decided not to on the advice of the President's physician, who said it was not a question of her health, but of the extreme altitudes and heat in South America.

RHEE DECLINES TO SEE 31 TOURING EDITORS IN SEOUL

SEOUL, April 5 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee declined today to see 31 touring members of the International Press Institute.

Some of the visiting editors regarded it as a deliberate snub and linked it to reports of Rhee's displeasure over press coverage of the bloody March 15 Korean elections.

The meeting with Rhee was arranged by the Korean Publishers Association, host to the editors here. The group was left waiting without transportation at the Bando Hotel in downtown Seoul.

U.S. WILL SHARE WEATHER PHOTOS FROM SATELLITE

© New York Times News Service

WASHINGTON, April 5 — The United States will share the weather pictures obtained from Tiros I and future meteorological satellites with the rest of the world, a space agency official told Congress yesterday.

The co-operation at first will be limited to distributing cloud cover pictures, Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told the House Space Committee. Ultimately, it is expected that detailed weather information obtained from satellites will be distributed through the World Meteorological Organization.

Space agency and Weather Bureau scientists were overwhelmed by the quantity and quality of pictures of the earth's cloud cover received from Tiros. The satellite has sent back about 1200 pictures covering regions as far apart as Red China and Central America.

Never before had the meteorologists had such a complete bird's eye picture of the earth's weather looks.

MAINE'S U.S. SENATE RACE IS FIRST BETWEEN WOMEN

AUGUSTA, Maine, April 5 (AP)—Thomas L. Maynard of Portland has dropped out of the race for the Democratic nomination to the United States Senate. His withdrawal last night cleared the way for the nation's first contest between two women for a Senate seat.

The contenders in next fall's general election will be Senator Margaret Chase Smith in the Republican column, and Democrat Lucia M. Cormier of Rumford, minority leader in the Maine House.

Maynard was forced from the race when he failed to gain enough signatures on his nomination papers.

TENNESSEE BANK ROBBED OF $20,000; SUSPECT HELD

OAKLAND, Tenn., April 5 (AP) — Two well-dressed men walked into the Oakland Deposit Bank yesterday, pulled the blinds, tied and gagged President P. J. Henry and shoved him and three women employes into the bank vault.

As they left the bank with $20,000, they waved to a passerby, got into a green and white automobile and drove away.

Today in Memphis, Federal Bureau of Investigation agents arrested 22-year-old William Arthur Lohmann at his home on a charge of robbing the Oakland bank. A second man is being sought.

Wisconsin

supporters had predicted he would take eight, and possibly all 10, of the district races.

Humphrey, while less specific, said he would win the state-wide total and a majority of the delegates.

Kennedy is a Roman Catholic and Humphrey is a Protestant.

Toward the end of their campaigns, a newspaper advertisement urged Protestants to vote for Humphrey. Anti-Catholic literature also appeared.

Humphrey and Kennedy both declared they deplored making religion an issue. About 30 per cent of the voters in Wisconsin are Catholics. The state's election law permits Republicans to "cross over" and vote for a Democratic candidate, and vice versa. There was considerable speculation as to whether Republican Catholics would mark Democratic ballots for Kennedy.

Discounts Religious Issue.

Kennedy said he did not believe the religious issue would materially affect the outcome of the election.

"I would think that, if some people vote for me because I am a Catholic, an equal number will vote for Hubert because he is a Protestant," he said. "I believe one will cancel out the other."

Apart from this issue, interest ran high because the election today was the first direct collision between two major Democratic candidates.

Kennedy had only token opposition when he won last month in New Hampshire, the nation's first primary. It was a major victory for him, however, because of the record total vote he racked up.

If he puts a big victory today back-to-back with the spectacular showing in New Hampshire, his chances of taking the Democratic nomination for President will be greatly enhanced. As he put it, "I just have to beat Hubert Humphrey in his own backyard."

Humphrey is considered especially popular with the Wisconsin farmers. He also has the backing of the leadership of the AFL-CIO in the state.

In the campaign, Humphrey blasted away at Kennedy's voting record in the Senate on both labor and agricultural legislation.

Kennedy's Family Aid.

Kennedy brought his brothers and sisters and mother and some of his in-laws to Wisconsin to campaign for him. Humphrey had some outside help, too, but not on the same scale.

"I feel like a one-man operation competing against a chain store," Humphrey quipped at one point.

Kennedy spent the final hours of his campaign in Superior and Eau Claire—in the northwest area where Humphrey's greatest strength is believed to be concentrated.

He had only a so-so day. In Superior, the people he approached on the streets, in stores—and even in the engine room of a Great Lakes ore ship—were cordial. But he found few hands to shake.

A crowd of about 100 met him at Eau Claire. He made television appearances in both cities.

"I'm glad this is finished," he said as he flew back to Milwaukee.

Humphrey, meanwhile, rolled through the vote-rich area between Milwaukee and Madison in his campaign bus. The public address system on the bus blared and Humphrey stopped frequently to shake hands and appeal for support. People were cordial to him, too.

Both candidates planned last-minute appearances at factories and other points today and prepared to stay in Milwaukee tonight to await election returns.

and former United States Attorney Harry Richards, candidates for Mayor. Pfitzinger was chairman of a commission which submitted the charter proposal. The proposal was opposed by the city administration under Mayor William L. Berthold.

Complaints of election irregularities may be reported to Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Jack Koslow over a direct line to St. Louis County Courthouse. The number is PA 6-5474.

Bridgeton Election.

In the special-charter town of Bridgeton, five incumbent members of the board of trustees were returned to office in an election yesterday. The sixth incumbent trustee was defeated.

Incumbents re-elected were Robert V. Krueger, Edwin C. Swan, Francis J. Zigrang, Julius R. Telscher and Henry L. Swantner. Ellwood J. Crafe, incumbent, was defeated by John J. Komosa.

The vote: Krueger, 1138; Swan, 1028; Zigrang, 1009; Telscher, 953; Swantner, 741; Komosa, 811; Crafe, 601; Robert L. Capobianco, 568; B. L. Melton, 366; Paul D. McCown, 295; Charles P. Roth, 216; O. Pierre Harcourt, 231, and Frank X. Grossi, 127.

Flood

bulldozers to push dirt against threatened agricultural levees. The river was inches away from going over in several places.

Persons living in low areas of Lexington, Waverly, Boonville, Jefferson City and Miami Station have evacuated their homes because of the flood threat. Cattle herds were removed, some by barge.

A major dike, the Overton-Wooldridge Levee, was broken by the Missouri and about 4000 acres of land near Boonville was inundated.

A barge with 30,000 bushels of wheat broke loose from its mooring at Kansas City, drifted four miles downstream and overturned.

A large section of the business district of Hannibal, on the Mississippi, was under water when the Post-Dispatch plane passed over yesterday. But the situation had eased today because of the levee break at Meyer.

Hannibal south of Main street and Broadway was flooded, including the Mark Twain Hotel and the ballpark. The Wabash Railroad yards were inundated.

About 50 Hannibal business establishments near the river were forced to suspend operations. Business was resumed today, however, as the water level fell.

Ten towboats with long strings of barges were marooned between Canton and Hannibal because locks on the Mississippi river dams were inoperable.

Both the Wabash and the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad were forced to suspend operations along tracks which parallel the Mississippi north of St. Louis. The Burlington was rerouting passenger trains to Quincy, Ill., by way of Beardstown and Galesburg, Ill.

About 100 persons fled to safety when the Mississippi topped a 30-foot levee at two points south of Clarksville, Mo., last night, flooding about 5000 acres of farms. Clarksville is about 70 miles north of St. Louis.

Appeal for Workers.

A new appeal for flood workers was issued in the nearby Gregory Landing district when a levee emergency developed. Breaks, which would flood another 10,000 acres, threatened the levee in two places.

Water continued to pour through a major gap in the levee above Meyer today. The break, which occurred early yesterday, was at a point where the Mississippi veers sharply to the west.

Dirty white gashes in the water indicated that the current near the mouth of the break was swift. A cluster of farm buildings near the break was inundated.

Engineers estimated that water pouring through the Meyer gap was advancing through lowlands at the rate of about 100 yards an hour.

The city water department announced that the flood would not become serious enough in the St. Louis area to call for sandbagging of its stations at Chain of Rocks and Howard Bend.

The Mississippi was expected to flow over some small levees near Alton within the next few days. This would flood several thousand acres, but would not threaten Alton itself.

In St. Louis county, another section of Missouri Bottom road has been closed, from Aubuchon road to Taussig road and southwest as far as St. Charles Rock road. A section of Meramec Bottom road between Wells and Kerth roads were closed.

At the northern end of Columbia Bottoms, county police reported, there was about two feet of water over Madison Ferry and Strodtmann roads.

Highways Closed.

Many Missouri highways remained closed today. New closings announced by the State Highway Patrol were State Highway 5, north of Glasgow; State Highway 79, south of Clarksville; State Highway 136, at Alexandria; State Highway 240, south of U.S. Highway 40 near Rocheport, and State Highway 13, north of Lexington.

Three roads were reopened. They were U.S. Highway 61, at LaGrange; State Highway 91 at Tracy, and State Highway 168, between Palmyra and Hannibal.

The Corps of Engineers said some flooding is expected along the Mississippi south of St. Louis. Danger spots are near the confluence of the Kaskaskia and Mississippi rivers and near Cape Girardeau.

The Engineers have been unable to obtain right of way for levee construction near Cape Girardeau, the spokesman said, and an International Shoe Co. plant is in some danger. The city built an earthen levee around the property last weekend in anticipation of the flood.

It was pointed out by the Engineers that 26 dams built on the Mississippi north of St. Louis have no effect on the flood. Their purpose is to raise the river's level when the water is low.

De Gaulle

and De Gaulle greeted each other enthusiastically.

Outside the station the general was met by the famed Coldstream Guards and their band.

Spectators crowded every inch of standing room. "Vive De Gaulle," sang out a man atop a nearby building. Others took up the cry.

Then the band started playing the French national anthem.

It was then that De Gaulle choked up.

The Queen looked up at the towering general for a moment and then down at her feet.

When the band finished Prince Philip escorted De Gaulle on a brief review of the guard.

"Vive De Gaulle," came from the crowds again.

Deeply touched, the general turned and saluted them.

With the Queen beside him, in a carriage drawn by six grays, De Gaulle drove off to Buckingham Palace. The streets were lined with spectators.

In front of Carlton House terrace, his wartime headquarters, De Gaulle stood up in the landau and saluted. The Free French flag flew over the building.

De Gaulle and his foreign minister, Maurice Couve de Murville, arrived by train after landing from France at Gatwick Airport, where the Duchess of Kent greeted them.

The visit is to last three days. He is officially visiting the Queen, but the trip gives him a chance for talks with Macmillan.

De Gaulle's meetings with Macmillan will mark the midpoint of the French President's preparations for the summit. He conferred last week and the week before with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, and later this month will go to Washington to see President Eisenhower.

Officially, De Gaulle is returning the visit the Queen made to Paris in April 1957. The French leader's visit also coincides with the fifty-sixth anniversary of the Entente Cordiale, the French-British proclamation of friendly relations signed April 8, 1904.

Put to many tests since then, the entente is showing new cracks today because of European economic affairs.

France leads the six-nation Common Market, which Britain refused to join because of its commitments to other nations of the British Commonwealth. Britain heads the rival, seven-nation European Free Trade Association.

The Common Market is dedicated to eventual removal of all trade barriers among its members and at the same time a uniform set of tariffs on imports from outside the zone. Britain and its partners fear that as a result they will lose traditional customers in the Common Market countries.

The visit for De Gaulle also represents a return to the island base from which he rallied the Free French forces 20 years ago, after the French surrender to the Germans. The French President included in his London schedule a talk with Sir Winston Churchill.

The government arranged trappings of royal pomp for the visit.

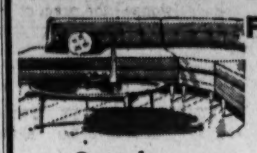

For one gala 250,000 pale pink carnations were ordered. Twelve huge cartons of strawberries were flown 4500 miles from Kenya for one of the banquets.

A huge fireworks display was scheduled at St. James's palace, for the first time since 1815. That one celebrated Wellington's victory over Napoleon at Waterloo, and the British hoped the sensitive French leader would understand it as a coincidence.

10-Hour Long Playing Record.

TOKYO, April 5 (AP)—Communist China claims a Shanghai plant has produced two kinds of long playing records, one that plays 5½ hours and the other 10.

VICTORY MEETING OF MARCH OF DIMES

March of Dimes volunteers collected $390,000 in the 1960 campaign here, about the same amount as was collected last year, Bernard F. Dickmann, campaign chairman, reported last night.

Speaking at the annual victory meeting of 350 March of Dimes leaders at the Chase Hotel, Dickmann praised the work of the volunteers as "truly outstanding."

Gabriel Stickle of New York, head of the National Foundation's statistical division, said in an address that the public is giving more money than ever before to health agencies. Stickle said evidence did not support the often-heard contention that the public is revolting against the agencies' campaigns.

In last year's campaigns, he said, the 10 leading health agencies received a total of $146,250,000, which was $3,000,000 more than was contributed the previous year.

"In the past 20 years, the level of giving to these 10 has more than doubled, rather an amazing performance for a contributing public which is said to be deep in the throes of conflict with its own better impulses," Stickle said.

The National Foundation faces great challenges because one of every four households contains a resident suffering from polio, arthritis or birth defects, Stickle said. The National Foundation, supported by the March of Dimes, is working in all three fields.

He said that congenital malformations rank third as a cause of death among children 1 to 4 years old and are a leading cause of death in the 5-to-14 age group.

At least 11,000,000 persons in this country suffer from some form of rheumatic disease, he asserted.

As for polio, Stickle said, about one third of the population under 20 years old had not received the full series of inoculations at the peak of the polio season just ended.

The National Foundation has set up "guide lines for an aggressive program aimed at these conditions," Stickle said.

PARK OPERA SEASON WILL OPEN JUNE 9

The Municipal Opera will open its forty-second season June 9 with a production of "Meet Me In St. Louis," it was announced today.

The production will be the first musical stage version of the book, which was made into a movie starring Judy Garland in the early 1940s, and the presentation here will be its first showing.

Miss Sally Benson, author of the book, is writing the stage version. It will retain the three hit songs from the movie, "The Trolley Song," "The Boy Next Door," and "Meet Me In St. Louis."

Nine new songs will be added for the stage production, which will be adapted in other ways to the large outdoor theater in Forest Park. The musical will run for 11 nights.

"Meet Me In St. Louis" deals with the life of a St. Louis family at the time of the 1904 World's Fair here.

Other shows which were previously announced as scheduled for the coming season are: "Redhead," "Tom Sawyer," "Madame Butterfly," "Kismet," "The Desert Song," and "The Student Prince."

Season tickets are on sale at the Municipal Opera box office in Forest Park. Hours Monday through Friday are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

SHERIFF LITZINGER FREED OF LINN (MO.) SPEED CHARGE

Sheriff Orion J. Litzinger of St. Louis county was acquitted of a charge of speeding in Linn, Mo., by a jury at Hermann, Mo., yesterday.

The jury of four women and eight men in Circuit Judge Joseph P. Tate's court returned the verdict after slightly more than an hour's deliberation. Marshal Lee Lumpkin of Linn testified Litzinger traveled through the town at 57 miles an hour March 18, 1959.

Litzinger told the jury he had slowed to about 40 miles an hour. He was taking two prisoners to the state penitentiary at Jefferson City when the arrest occurred. The case was transferred from Linn, in Osage county, to Hermann, in Gasconade county, on a change of venue.

'V-Day' April 12.

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—President Eisenhower called yesterday for observance of April 12 as a new kind of V-day—vaccination day against polio. In a statement, he noted that April 12 will mark the fifth anniversary of announcement of the Salk vaccine against poliomyelitis.

UNION MONITOR INSISTS COURT LET HIM RESIGN

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP) — Daniel B. Maher, union-designated monitor over the Teamsters Union, said yesterday he is resigning because of poor health despite a United States district judge's rejection of his resignation.

Maher wrote Judge F. Dickinson Letts that he ended his service as one of the three court-appointed monitors as of yesterday. Maher said he has been trying to quit for almost three months on advice of physicians because of a heart ailment.

Maher's insistence on resigning again posed the problem for Judge Letts of acting on the nomination made by Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa of William E. Bufalino as the union-designated monitor.

Bufalino, attorney and Detroit Teamsters official, has been criticized by the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee. Judge Letts wrote Maher late last week that he could not consider a resignation at this time. Letts wrote Hoffa that this made it unnecessary to consider appointing Bufalino.

The court fired a second monitor, Lawrence T. Smith, recently for alleged failure to co-operate in the cleanup objectives of the monitorship. Smith has appealed to the United States Court of Appeals.

Letts, in Smith's place, has already sworn in Terence F. McShane, an FBI agent, to serve along with Monitor Chairman Martin F. O'Donoghue. McShane has worked on FBI investigations of Hoffa's activities.

In writing Judge Letts yesterday, Maher said that besides poor health he was quitting because of a feeling the monitorship was not getting any place. He said he had done "as much, and more, than any lawyer could be reasonably expected to give to a court."

HOUSE UNIT ACTS TO LIMIT SALES BY EX-OFFICERS

WASHINGTON, April 5 (UPI) — The House Armed Services Committee voted today to make it a court-martial offense for a retired military officer to take a selling job with a defense contractor within two years after he leaves the service.

By a 25 to 8 margin, the committee agreed to back a strengthened substitute for its own "anti-influence-peddling" bill, which is scheduled to come up for debate on the House floor tomorrow.

It was an obvious attempt to head off a drive to revise the legislation on the floor and write in specific stiff criminal penalties.

The bill originally approved by the committee would provide that any officer who engages in selling to the armed forces within two years of his retirement would lose his retirement pay for the period he is so engaged. It also would require these former officers to register with the Defense Department.

In a surprise move, Representative Paul Kilday (Dem.), Texas, offered a substitute today. He asked the committee to authorize him or Chairman Carl Vinson (Dem.), Georgia, to present it on the floor.

This substitute would cut off retirement pay for a two-year period, instead of just the period during which the ex-officer engages in selling. It also specifically provides for court-martial of anyone who sells to the Defense Department within two years after he retires.

Representative F. Edward Hebert (Dem.), Louisiana, tried to substitute his own bill which carries criminal penalties of up to one year in jail and a $10,000 fine for officers and contractors alike who violate the anti-selling provisions.

Hebert lost by a 24 to 10 vote. Then, after making some minor changes, the committee approved the Kilday substitute.

Hebert told reporters afterwards that he intends to offer his proposal on the House floor tomorrow.

Bill to Aid Refugees.

By the Associated Press.

The House passed a bill yesterday that would clear the way for up to 5000 refugees now in Europe to enter the United States.

The House acted by voice vote, sending the bill to the Senate. There was little debate, but enough to indicate there is virtually no chance that the House will consider this year President Eisenhower's recommendations for broadening the general immigration laws.

Chairman Francis E. Walter (Dem.), Pennsylvania, of the House Immigration subcommittee said the Eisenhower proposals, which include doubling the over-all limit on immigrants, will not come before the House this year. He said the subcommittee wants first to complete studies on "the capacity of this country to absorb them."

He told the House an influx of immigrants into the Pennsylvania coal fields and other economically hard pressed areas would aggravate unemployment.

The bill passed continues for two years the authority of the Attorney General to admit refugees by parole instead of the regular immigration procedures. Its benefits are limited to refugees under jurisdiction of the United Nations high commissioner for refugees. Walter said this group, almost entirely in Europe, totals about 22,000, not all of whom want to emigrate.

The House passed by voice vote and sent to the Senate yesterday a bill extending the 1949 Export Control Act for two years, until June 30, 1962. The act authorizes the Commerce Department to regulate exports when necessary to prevent a heavy drain on scarce domestic commodities.

vague references to controls. It also rejects the idea of an international police force to maintain order in a disarmed world.

The Russians already have rejected the Western plan for carefully controlled disarmament by three stages, complaining that it does not provide for liquidation of military bases, that it sets no time limit for disarmament, and that it is in reality a plan for control of armaments, Not for disarmament.

Zorin also has rejected an American proposal that the United States and Russia join at once in a controlled bar on weapon-carrying space vehicles. Zorin said this was a Western trick to nullify the Soviet lead in manpower and space weapons.

Today's session of the three-nation nuclear test bar talks was canceled at United States and British request. The two Western delegates told Russia's Semyon K. Tsarapkin they needed more time to prepare replies to a series of questions Tsarapkin had asked about the Camp David proposals for a partial test bar linked to a moratorium of small underground explosions.

ANOTHER CHESSMAN MOVE TO ESCAPE DEATH REJECTED

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5 (AP)—Caryl Chessman's latest move to escape execution May 2 was rejected today by three judges of the State District Court of Appeals.

Chessman's petition, filed yesterday, argued that his 12 years of confinement constituted cruel and unusual punishment and that the Los Angeles trial judge's instructions to the jury violated Chessman's constitutional rights.

Other courts previously rejected both claims.

Sure Way Out Of a Bad Situation

ST. JOSEPH, Mo.—Mr. John M. Guthrie, 313 South 6th St., says: "I believe I had tried every known remedy for dandruff and itchy scalp when I heard of Baker's Hair Tonic. It did for me what everything else failed to do. I am so grateful I want all dandruff victims to know that Baker's is truly wonderful." It's so easy and pleasant to use. Not messy or greasy like most so-called dandruff remedies. Use it any time, anywhere. There is no Federal excise tax on Baker's Hair Tonic, because it's a specific for dandruff. For "a sure way out of a bad situation" caused by dandruff and itchy scalp, use Baker's Hair Tonic. Satisfaction, or money back. Adv.

Eisenhower

of informal kickoff for the 1960 Republican campaign, with Nixon as the standard bearer.

The hall was decorated with banners, state flags and pictures of Mr. Eisenhower and Nixon. There were drum majorettes and pretty girls with Nixon buttons, all calculated to give the impression of a miniature national convention.

Dispelling Any Doubts.

Mr. Eisenhower's praise for Nixon went far beyond the indirect indorsement he gave at a recent press conference. The President apparently wanted to dispel any lingering doubts about his choice for the Republican presidential nomination.

On the subject of defense, Mr. Eisenhower made it clear, without naming names, that he is in fundamental disagreement with those, notably Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.), Missouri, who are worried about the adequacy of United States military might.

"In programming America's defense, as well as that of the free world, we have insisted not only on sufficiency, but on balance—a balance that makes maximum use of our material resources, human energies and national spirit, and is designed to counter every foreseeable risk," the President said.

"To do otherwise would be to court disaster.

"Some, I know, have felt and expressed themselves individually as qualified to criticize adversely the comprehensive and painstaking calculations that responsible military, scientific and governmental personnel have made in satisfying our defense requirements.

"For myself, I assure you that I have the highest personal confidence in those calculations, made by a great co-operating group of able and dedicated people."

Stability and Expansion.

Mr. Eisenhower said the Republican Administration had achieved "marked success in preserving stability and promoting a great expansion in our economy."

"If we spread the news properly," he said, "the public will pay no attention to those who have developed an amazing, and what is to them seemingly an enjoyable, habit of making forecasts that drip with gloom, lack of faith and self-doubt."

Speaker after speaker emphasized the same twin themes of peace and prosperity as they preceded Mr. Eisenhower to the platform.

Said House minority leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana: "Things are better for everyone." The issues in this campaign, he declared, will be pocketbook, money in the bank and bread and butter."

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois called it "peace coupled with prosperity."

Warnings on Congress.

Warnings that the Republicans nevertheless face uphill fights in their efforts to regain control of the House and Senate came from Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Representative William E. Miller of New York.

Goldwater, who is chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, told the rally that "cold statistics" will "deny us effective control of the Senate." He attributed this to the number of Southern Democratic Senators up for re-election this year but predicted a G.O.P. gain of at least four Senate seats.

Miller, who heads the G.O.P. Campaign Committee in the House, predicted that the Republicans would recapture House control but hedged the prediction with many reservations.

The Republicans, he said, must keep the seats they have and pick up 65 more to take control. He called this an "uphill battle mathematically."

Contrast in Ovations.

Two Republican vice-presidential possibilities, Goldwater and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, received applause amounting to ovations when they were introduced.

In contrast, the applause for two others who have been mentioned as possible vice-presidential nominees was restrained and modest. They are Halleck and Senator Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, the Republican national chairman.

Goldwater, who gave Nixon a veiled warning a few days ago that he might alienate the more conservative Republicans if his policies and programs were too "liberal," repeated the warning last night.

He said the Republican party is essentially conservative, then added: "To win in 1960, our candidates will have to stand on basic issues and not waver all over the lot."

In between the speeches, the audience, with Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower and Mr. and Mrs. Nixon in the front row, was entertained with music and comedy. The performers included gospel singer Mahalia Jackson, comedian Sam Levenson and Roberta Peters of the Metropolitan Opera.

The rally got under way with a box supper which included 2750 fried chickens, 200 gallons of potato salad, 580 dozen cloverleaf rolls and 7000 apple turnovers, all done up neatly in individual boxes handed out to the guests.

Where your savings can do so many extra jobs...

Millions of Americans find their dollars work harder for them in life insurance... enabling them to protect their families now, building added security for themselves in later years.

1 Your home can be secure when you own life insurance. You can make certain that your family will not be left with an unpaid mortgage.

2 Your children will be able to go to college. By using life insurance to help provide for college expenses, you can make sure that youngsters can have a good education.

3 Big decisions can be made with more confidence. With life insurance you know, in advance, the exact amount of money which will be available in an emergency.

4 When you're all set to take it easy, life insurance can guarantee you an income which neither you nor your wife can outlive.

5 Your later years can be happier because life insurance can relieve you and your wife of the burden and risk of money management.

Life insurance, in addition to providing for family security, plays an important role in our national growth. Savings, through life insurance, help provide the funds for new schools, new factories and the new jobs a growing America needs. The money saved and used in this way also helps in the continuing fight against inflation.

HOFFA U.S. WITNESS IN BAKER BRIBE CASE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 5 (AP)—James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, testified for the Government at the trial of Robert (Barney) Baker, one of his officals, yesterday.

Baker, 41 years old, of New York, is accused of violating the Taft-Hartley Act by unlawfully accepting $525 from George F. Callahan Jr., president of Exhibitors Service Co. of McKees Rocks, Pa.

The Government contends that Baker received payments of $100, $125 and $300 from Callahan to keep labor peace.

Hoffa testified in United States District Court he authorized payment of Baker's expenses while he was in the Pittsburgh area because he was on union business. He explained that an official from one area can enter another district when similar work is involved.

But Baker had no authority "at all to serve here," added Hoffa. "To my knowledge, he had nothing to do with the local situation."

The Government contends that Baker entered the local teamster picture in December of 1957 when the Exhibitors company was caught in a jurisdictional dispute between Teamster Locals 249 and 211. The company transports films and newspapers between Pittsburgh and points in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia.

however, the center of trouble was Capetown, the legislative capital.

Witnesses said police, backed by troops, used whips and clubs on rebellious Negroes as they did yesterday. One source said police gunfire wounded a woman.

Rheeder said the two injured white policemen were struck with clubs.

He said a police patrol made up of an armored car, an armored troop carrier and several riot trucks moved into the Nyanga settlement early today to protect Negroes who wanted to return to work. "We told the people that busses were waiting for them," he said. "While we were talking, we heard shots. We found the body of African Constable Moskosolo, who had been hacked to death. His revolver was missing. People who witnessed his murder said he emptied his revolver at his attackers."

Rheeder said that the "Nyanga location today is alive with defiant stay-aways (work strikers)."

Dragged Into Streets.

Negroes in the township claimed police smashed windows and doors of houses and ordered Negroes into the streets. If they refused, they were dragged out and beaten, they said.

"Even those who obeyed the order were beaten up," said one African witness.

Other reports from the township said Negroes had decided to resist police and began gathering, armed with sticks and rocks. It appeared that when police saw Negroes banding together, they charged in to scatter them.

Just before dawn helicopters dropped leaflets, telling laborers in the township to go to work before 8 a.m. and warning against forming groups. Helicopters flying low over Nyanga broadcast the message. A military cordon, placed around Nyanga since yesterday, was lifted at dawn but only a few Africans came out to go to work.

Cordon Closed Again.

After the police moved in and began their raids, the cordon was closed again, and no more Negroes were allowed out.

In Durban, Zulu Chief Cyprian Bhekezulu called for a conference Thursday between government officials and Leaders of the African National Congress and the Pan American Congress. The Chief appealed to Africans to remain calm, go back to work and "let your leaders discuss any grievances at the meeting."

The Right Rev. Ambrose Reeves, Anglican Bishop of Johannesburg, who had criticized the police shootings at Sharpeville March 21, took refuge in the neighboring British protectorate of Swaziland. He said he would return to Johannesburg "provided I can obtain reasonable assurance that I can continue my work and duties there unmolested." He said he feared he would be arrested.

Macmillan Refuses to Make Riots a Commonwealth Issue.

LONDON, April 5 (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan rejected efforts in Parliament today to make the South African race riots an issue for the entire Commonwealth.

Labor leader Hugh Gaitskell declared that because of what is happening nations soon to gain independence may decide against membership in the Commonwealth.

Macmillan retorted that he had warned the South African government that one must recognize the way the wind is blowing.

Gaitskell asked Macmillan to make representations to the South African government again, but the Prime Minister declined to commit the government.

Herter Holds Out Slight Hope That Beginning Can Be Made With Russia on Disarmament

Warns Against Expecting Too Much From Summit Conference—Reviews Foreign Policy During His First Year as Secretary of State.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
© 1960 St. Louis Post-Dispatch

WASHINGTON, April 5.

REVIEWING AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY during his first year as Secretary of State, Christian A. Herter put the major stress on the North Atlantic Alliance while holding out a slight hope that a beginning may be made with Soviet Russia on disarmament.

This last would come if the Soviets accept the Eisenhower-Macmillan proposal for a limited voluntary moratorium on small underground nuclear explosions while joining in a treaty to bar every other kind of blast under inspection and control. This, the Secretary pointed out, is now up to the Russians at Geneva where the test talks are well into the second year.

Herter's review, given in a speech yesterday to the National Association of Broadcasters meeting in Chicago, was as notable for what it left out as what it included. While he put new stress on the three-phase Western disarmament plan under progressive safeguards and referred to the Communist plan as "vague," he said nothing of the deadend to which the 10-nation talks on disarmament seem to have come.

THE WEST is calling as a first step for the prohibition of nuclear explosions or the sending of nuclear weapons in any form into outer space. As Fredrick M. Eaton, chief United States delegate at the arms talk at Geneva, hinted recently, the belief is that the Soviets now have the power to put a nuclear weapon in orbit in outer space.

They may also have mastered the ability to instrument the satellite in such a way that the weapon could be directed at any part of the earth at a signal from a secret control station in the Soviet Union. The threat inherent in such a device poised in outer space is obvious enough.

After advance hints, the Russians at yesterday's session came forward with their price for agreeing to a bar on nuclear explosives in the stratosphere. Valerian Zorin said it was the elimination of foreign bases. It is more and more apparent that the Soviets will not surrender what they consider one of their greatest assets—secrecy—for less than a major concession by the West. Even if the Eisenhower Administration wanted to reduce or eliminate the bases that ring the Soviet Union, it would probably be impossible, politically speaking in this country, to do it.

IN THE COURSE of his review, Herter spoke in strong refutation of Premier Khrushchev's attacks on Chancellor Adenauer and West Germany. He said that far from being "militaristic," as Khrushchev had charged, West Germany had "proved itself in every way a worthy and respected ally."

"At the summit meeting next month in Paris," Herter told the broadcasters, "the West will continue to make clear the free world's determination to defend essential rights. At the same time, it will continue to seek to explore all avenues, particularly arms control, which would reduce the risk of war.

"We can hardly move forward confidently in negotiating new arms control agreements with the Soviet Union, however, if our existing agreements with them about Berlin are meanwhile being violated or threatened with violations. There is a clear relation between these two crucial issues."

If anyone looks for dramatic achievements at the summit, he may be disappointed, Herter warned. Somewhat this same line has recently been taken by Khrushchev. He suggested while he was in France that, if a first summit meeting could make a beginning on disarmament, then a second heads-of-government conference, held shortly afterward, might be able to make progress on Berlin. But he has never ceased to repeat his demand for separate treaties with the two Germanys. With this goes the threat that, if the West refuses to sign with East Germany, the Western powers will lose all rights in Berlin.

IN HIS REVIEW, Herter gave no intimation of any new policy lines. He has less than a year to serve as Secretary of State. While he has long been close to Vice President Nixon, there has been no suggestion that he would stay on in a Nixon administration.

Herter also omitted any reference to the troubled situation in Cuba. This is rapidly becoming the No. 1 trouble spot, and public opinion in this country is increasingly concentrated on Cuba and on the threat to the Trujillo dictatorship in the Dominican Republic. The possibility of widespread Communist influence and infiltration in the Caribbean looms as a frightening possibility in the months ahead.

Nor did the speech contain any reference to the growing tension in the Western alliance over the European trade grouping of six continental powers led by Germany and France versus the seven European states that have combined in their own tariff union under British auspices. There were reports at the time of Prime Minister Macmillan's visit to Washington that he had spoken in a threatening manner of the political consequences of a tariff war between the six and the seven. These reports were denied when Macmillan returned to London.

HERTER SPOKE of President Eisenhower's good-will trips to Asia and Latin America as "the most important and dramatic steps of recent years" in building a bridge of understanding to emerging new nations. The Secretary, when he came into office in the last critical phase of John Foster Dulles's illness, immediately encouraged the President to use his personal appeal as widely as possible.

He has described the President's personality as one of the great assets of the free world which will in a few months no longer be available and which should therefore be used to the fullest extent. President Eisenhower is going to Moscow on June 10 for a 10-day stay in the Soviet Union. From there he will visit Japan and perhaps four or five other Asian powers on his return around the world. There have been rumors of a presidential tour of Africa after the November elections.

Anyone looking to the Herter speech for foreign policy guidance must have been disappointed. But unlike his predecessor, his method has been to follow a cautious and discreet line in public while working in private for the goals he believes important.

Adenauer Hails Success Of U.S. Talks

He Claims Accord on All Points to Be Taken Up at Summit Talks.

By SYDNEY GRUSON
© New York Times News Service

BONN, April 5.

CHANCELLOR ADENAUER claimed last night that he and President Eisenhower were in agreement on all the main points to be taken up at the May summit conference.

In a nation-wide radio and television speech, the Chancellor said he had found "great understanding for our cause" in the United States and that he was "extraordinarily pleased" with the results of his talks with Mr. Eisenhower and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

The tone of the remarks was such as to reassure the West Germans about American intentions at the summit meeting. The Chancellor gave no details of agreements reached with Mr. Eisenhower but cited the communique issued after their talks as proof of the "success" of his trip.

FROM THE GERMAN point of view, the communique's political importance lay in its stress that the right of self-determination for the people of West Berlin "must underlie any future agreement affecting the city."

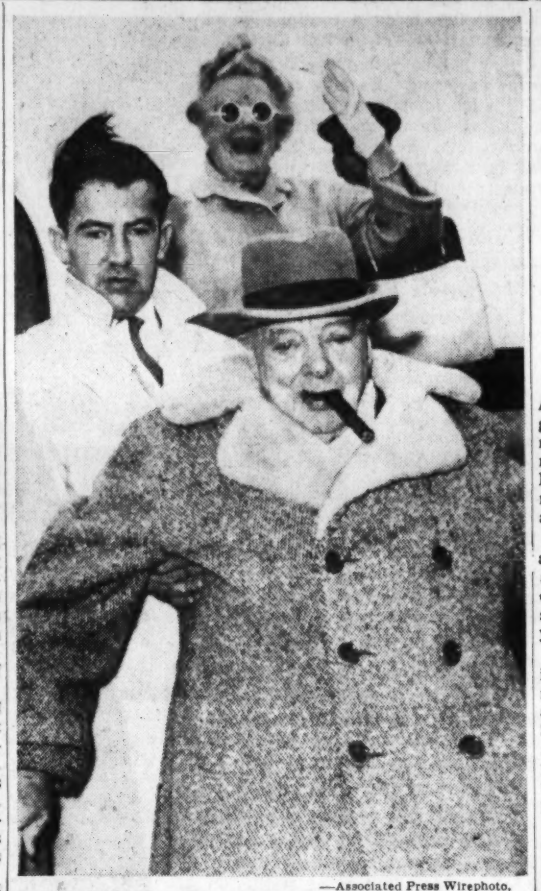

Adenauer, who visited Japan after his American visit, praised the United States for bringing Japan's military power "into the great area of tension which exists in Asia as well."

The Chancellor made no mention in his speech of his proposal for a plebiscite to determine whether the West Berliners want any change in the city's present occupation status.

ADENAUER is as strong for the idea now as when he raised it in Washington, Felix Von Eckardt, the government's press chief, said at a press conference.

The proposal had a cool reception among West Germany's Allies and Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, though he has been careful not to take public issue with Adenauer, is reliably reported to be opposed to the idea.

A plebiscite could, according to West Berlin officials, weaken the basis of the Allies' rights to be in Berlin—rights based on the complete military victory over Nazi Germany. Additionally, these officials believe, a plebiscite in West Berlin could be made the pretext for the Communists to hold a series of plebiscites to approve of the way of life in East Berlin and East Germany.

Debre Reports on De Gaulle's Talks With Khrushchev.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Radio.

PARIS, April 5—President De Gaulle told Soviet Premier Khrushchev that if the Kremlin really wanted a relaxation of tension it should not bring pressure against Communist-encircled West Berlin.

This view, delivered in private during Khrushchev's recent visit to France, was made public last night by Prime Minister Debre in a television address.

Reporting on the Khrushchev visit, Debre said that Gen. De Gaulle stood firm for the status quo in Europe and told Khrushchev that a change in allied rights in West Berlin could not be made a condition for better East-West relations and a relaxation of tension.

Debre also rejected Khrushchev's claims that West Germany was a "militaristic" threat to its neighbors. He said Germany was not governed by militarists, that the terrifying weapons other states possessed made Germany no danger, and that Gen. De Gaulle frankly told Khrushchev so.

Power Seeks $571,000,000 For Air Alert

Amount Is Seven Times That Recommended by Eisenhower.

WASHINGTON, April 5 (UPI) THE CHIEF of the Strategic Air Command appealed to Congress yesterday for $571,000,000—nearly seven times the amount recommended by President Eisenhower—to stockpile equipment for a continuous airborne alert.

Gen. Thomas S. Power said the ability to keep B-52 bombers aloft at all times will be the only effective answer to Russia's missile threat "for the next several years."

POWER OUTLINED his views in a prepared statement given to newsmen and then elaborated on at a closed-door session with the Senate Appropriations group. He stressed that funds for stockpiling spare parts and equipment for an airborne alert must be provided now.

Subcommittee chairman Dennis Chavez (Dem.), New Mexico, told reporters afterward that Power estimated the cost for the first year at $571,000,000. The cost will climb to $850,000,000 in the second year.

Chavez said that Power expected to get about $85,000,000 for the project under the President's budget for the new fiscal year starting July 1.

Power said consideration is being given to increasing the number of missiles in all Atlas squadrons—a step already announced for some Atlas squadrons. He had high praise for the solid-fueled Minuteman missile, now in process of development.

HE SAID that the first United States anti-missile radar will not be ready until September and that the operational date for the Midas warning satellite is "several years away."

"Because of considerations which this country will face for the next several years, airborne alert is the only answer to reducing Soviet confidence that a surprise attack could virtually eliminate the nuclear strike capability of the free world," he said.

Nixon Says He Would Honor Fixed-Time Test Moratorium

Vice President Joins Other Presidential Candidates in Support of Eisenhower-Macmillan Proposal.

By RICHARD DUDMAN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, April 5.

VICE PRESIDENT RICHARD M. NIXON has joined other presidential candidates in supporting a fixed-time moratorium on small underground nuclear weapons tests.

Through his press secretary, Herbert Klein, Nixon indicated yesterday that he would honor the moratorium proposed by President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan to accompany a treaty outlawing all other atomic tests.

The question put to the Vice President was whether, if elected, he would honor a moratorium on the small tests that may be ordered by President Eisenhower.

Klein dictated this reply, which he said had been authorized by Nixon:

"There of course is no question whatever that the Vice President would carry out commitments the President makes at the summit conferences. He has fully participated in discussions on this issue and supports the policy decisions which have been made."

WHEN IT WAS POINTED out that the statement said nothing about respecting a moratorium after Mr. Eisenhower's term ends next Jan. 20, Klein said, "I am sure this pertains to after Jan. 20."

Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.), Missouri, another announced candidate, had expressed support yesterday for the proposed moratorium. But he had avoided committing himself to any position after Jan. 20 if he should be elected.

Senator John F. Kennedy (Dem.), Massachusetts, has made a clearer commitment than either Nixon or Symington. In a television program Sunday, Kennedy disclosed that he had written a letter last week to Mr. Eisenhower assuring him that he would "undertake to carry out in good faith any moratorium extending beyond your term of office which you now decide to be in the best interests of the nation."

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey (Dem.), Minnesota, chairman of the Senate Disarmament subcommittee, however, had proposed a two-year moratorium on small tests in a speech last October. His plan, like the Eisenhower-Macmillan proposal, would be coupled with a joint research program to improve methods of detecting small underground tests.

Symington answered inquiries yesterday with the following formal statement:

"Everybody should be for the banning, by mutual agreement, of high-yield nuclear tests. In that the President says such a test agreement must involve adequate inspection, I would support the moratorium on underground testing of low-yield explosions the President believes advisable."

The American-British plan would consist of voluntary declarations by the United States, Britain and Russia to forego small underground tests for an agreed period.

THESE DECLARATIONS would accompany a treaty outlawing larger underground tests as well as nuclear explosions in the atmosphere. The formula approached a recent Russian proposal in its main points, except that the Russians indicated they were thinking of a long moratorium of four or five years or longer.

President Eisenhower told his press conference last week that his personal opinion was that his successor would have the right to exercise his own judgment and that a moratorium would have to be reaffirmed by his

A Musician on the Symphony

Is there a public for music in St. Louis? Does the symphony get complete support from the people who are considered in light language "music lovers"? Does the public know that its professional musicians have reached a new low in morale due to insufficient wages, and without much hope of financial betterment?

Unhappily, the symphony does not get complete support from the St. Louis public. Why? Because too many think that by buying seats only they are thereby doing all that is necessary to support it. Actually no symphony orchestra can meet its budget by ticket sales alone. Therefore people also should contribute to the maintenance fund.

The general public does not realize the low standard of wages offered professional players of fine music in St. Louis. The average player in the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra (or 65 of the total 87) gets a bare subsistence pay of $105 per week for a 25-week season, or a per annum salary of $2625.

This is particularly regrettable when considered in light of the fact that the education of a professional musician of symphony caliber is comparable in time and cost to that of a doctor or lawyer. Is this quite fair?

Even when augmented with outside work the annual take-home pay is insufficient, and the out-of-town players cannot take local employment outside the symphony until they have a residency of three years in the local musicians' union.

Is St. Louis being realistic? Does St. Louis, with its cultural traditions and its status as a major American city deserve to have a fine symphony orchestra with excellent professional players?

To Enlarge an Idea

So Normandy is to have a junior college with its teachers provided for by the University of Missouri.

The need for a junior college in the area is acknowledged. If a local group, such as the residents of Normandy, wishes to provide such a school for their young people they should be encouraged to do so. But should we use state taxes to support junior colleges in every little community that chooses to have such an institution?

Is this college to be the answer to the recommendation of the Committee on Higher Education Needs of Metropolitan St. Louis? This committee was organized to study the needs for a state-supported area college. Would it not be more logical to provide state support for a junior college embracing an area that is compatible with the area demands for such an institution?

I am not happy about my state taxes providing teachers for the local residents of Normandy alone.

Second the Nomination

Here is a second for the views expressed by Paul Simon in his recent letter in this space concerning the candidacy of Steve Mitchell for the Democratic nomination for Governor in the forthcoming Illinois primary.

Mitchell has campaigned on the issues of clean government, the open primary, the end of boss rule, better mental health facilities, more educational opportunities and industrial development in downstate Illinois.

Illinois Democrats can be proud to vote for Steve Mitchell.

A Pair of Possibles

Truman for President! He will be mentioned. In view of the capacity shown by Adenauer and Syngman Rhee, his age is not a bar.

Majority leader Lyndon Johnson, who has been on the Washington scene constantly since 1933, except for his war service in the South Pacific, is a man strong enough to save the free world. He has the know-how to get the things done that must be done in Washington in the next four years. He is the only prospect for President who would not need to begin running for re-election the day he was inaugurated.

Key to a Test Ban

A fairly useful rule of thumb can be applied to disarmament talks. It is this: whenever the Russians demand abandonment of overseas bases by the United States, they are making propaganda or stalling for time. The Russians know as well as anybody that the problem of overseas bases will disappear if and when a disarmament treaty is agreed to. When they now make the abandonment of American bases the condition of any agreement to bar nuclear-armed space vehicles, they must be construed as simply rejecting the American proposal to tackle that problem without delay.

So, as the Geneva disarmament talks enter their fourth week, not much hope of early achievement there can be entertained. From the beginning it has seemed unlikely that these talks could prove fruitful prior to the summit conference in May. But this only emphasizes with all the more urgency the crucial nature of the parallel—and much older—negotiations on nuclear testing.

Secretary Herter says the Eisenhower-Macmillan testing proposals of last week have brought East and West "within reach of an agreement which could well be a historic turning point in the quest for agreed arms control measures." There is no question that a testing treaty could be a historic turning point; for if international inspection and control can be established for nuclear tests they can the more easily be applied to broader measures of disarmament later. And if such a key pact is "within reach," it behooves all concerned to put more than ordinary energy into the final push for agreement.

Senator Kennedy has now joined Senator Humphrey in unreservedly backing the Eisenhower-Macmillan proposal. He has informed the President that if he should be elected he would continue any moratorium on small underground tests that the President had agreed to. Senators Symington and Lyndon Johnson have given somewhat more guarded indications that they, too, would honor an Eisenhower commitment. Vice President Nixon says there is "no question" about his doing so. The President should be reassured that he can if necessary accept a moratorium extending beyond next Jan. 20, when his term ends.

Executive agreements of one kind or another are signed at the White House every week, and it has never been suggested before that in a President's last year all such agreements must terminate with his tenure in office. Why apply to a nuclear moratorium a doctrine that nobody would think of applying to trade agreements, reorganization orders or many other kinds of Executive acts that bind the United States Government beyond the presidential term?

There is some suggestion in Geneva dispatches that Messrs. Eisenhower and Macmillan favor a moratorium of about a year, and that they are deliberately being vague about its duration until some other aspects of a test-ban agreement are cleared up—notably the details of the inspection system to cover above-ground blasts. This would be a perfectly sound negotiating position. But if it is to aid rather than hamper negotiation, it must be backed by flexibility of decision.

The West must be free to accept a two-year moratorium, say, if that proves a necessary quid for the quo of a satisfactory inspection system. And certainly a two-year moratorium would be a small price to pay for the "historic turning point" Secretary Herter talks about. We trust that Mr. Herter will persuade the President that this Administration does have the authority to sign a moratorium beyond next Jan. 20.

Economy That Costs More

Atomic power plants for remote military bases are opposed by the Bureau of the Budget because their initial cost would be higher than that of conventional power plants, although lower operating costs would effect net savings. So report Senator Anderson of New Mexico, chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, and Representative Holifield of California, chairman of the committee's subcommittee on legislation.

Is this not plainly a wasteful policy disguised as economy? A policy that costs more in the long run to avoid some increased investment in the short run? Small atomic generating plants at distant bases to which fuel now has to be supplied by air would not only save money but also increase this country's expertness in atomic power production. The Budget Bureau should reconsider.

Mr. K. Exudes Good Will

Russian Premier Khrushchev was at his best as a good will ambassador in France. Received with less than wide open arms, he met coolness with dignified warmth. On Saturday, the last day of his visit, he was on the Eurovision TV network and a Communist hook-up from 5:30 to 8:23 p.m. with the exception of half an hour. (It seems a Johnny Weismuller jungle show simply could not be kept off the air.) In answering questions, he was unfailingly serious and cordial. Surely this must not be dismissed as an exercise in Machiavellianism.

True, the communique issued by President De Gaulle and his guest was rather empty, except for the platitude that "better mutual understanding would contribute to diminishing of international tension." But De Gaulle likes specific commitments even less than most statesmen do. Khrushchev's most significant statement was made in the TV interview when he said of a possible separate peace treaty with East Germany:

> If we fail to make our allies understand and if we are forced to sign a peace treaty, that would be undesirable. . . . When the treaty is signed, it must be understood that the (East) German Democratic Republic will have sovereign rights and . . . all rights of the occupying powers will lose their validity.

This was a toned-down version of his Berlin "ultimatum," and its implications are flatly rejected by the Western powers. Khrushchev, however, followed up with the assertion that disarmament "is the most important problem of our era," and that if progress is made at the May summit conference on this subject, he would be glad to postpone discussion of a German settlement to a later meeting of the Big Four leaders. This suggests that he may be exploiting Communism's strong position—based on the truism that possession of East Germany is nine points of the law—to gain an agreement especially on nuclear weapons. If the German question can be shelved in favor of concentration on disarmament, the whole world gains.

The Russian premier and the French President reached new agreements on trade, co-operation in the peaceful uses of atomic energy, more cultural interchanges, fairs in Paris and in Moscow, a return visit by De Gaulle and similar matters of secondary importance which nevertheless mean a continuation of post-Stalin penetrations of the Iron Curtain.

Mr. K. may not be giving anything away. Can that be expected? He may or may not believe in the inevitable non-military triumph of Communism. We are entitled to our own opinion about that. Yet he talks like a man interested in a reasonable deal to preserve world peace. And if Khrushchev really is serious about that, the West can do business with him.

Arthur Murray's Responsibilities

> Fraud in the criminal sense . . . is not present in the sale of these dance lessons. The student is . . . the victim of undue pressure, oral misrepresentation, extreme influence, pitchmanship and all the rest. Morally she is being deceived but legally she is not defrauded under existing Missouri statutes.
> —From the Circuit Court grand jury's report.

This is the heart of the jury's findings of fact concerning the dance-lesson racket as practiced by some St. Louis studios. While criminal indictments may not be indicated, corrective action certainly is.

Arthur and Kathryn Murray, who from New York skim off 10 per cent of the gross of their St. Louis franchise, are under a heavy moral obligation to put an end to the sheep-shearing operation being run here under their names. Ray Quinlan is similarly obligated to the extent that the jury's findings apply to his studio.

The Murrays and Quinlan surely ought to see to it that these elderly widows and other "students" who have been talked out of their life savings by instructor-salesmen should get their money back. If these two studios expect to regain even a shred of public confidence, they will have to start by making restitution to those the jury described as the "dance-studio victims."

The studios ought to move at once to carry out the jury's recommendations with respect to the contracts they write for lessons; to draft and to live up to a code of ethics, and to pay their instructors a fair wage instead of straight commission.

We agree with the jury's recommendations for amendments of the municipal dance hall ordinance. These would require that studios post a full schedule of prices in large lettering in the main ballroom and elsewhere, and that all contracts for dance lessons be in writing.

The jury and Circuit Attorney Eagleton are to be commended for the thoroughness of their investigation into this messy business. We hope the next jury will see what corrective action, if any, has been taken by the Murrays and Quinlan. The people will want to know.

Father Dowling

The Rev. Edward Dowling, S.J., was a kindly man who never allowed kindliness to keep him from speaking his mind. He made friends wherever he went, especially among newspaper people. He left the city room for the Jesuit seminary, but he was like the old firehorse. Crippling arthritis restricted his activities but a cane always got him to a Newspaper Guild meeting, to a party for a Pulitzer Prize winner, or any journalistic bull session which promised to bring out the "inside story" of what made the wheels turn. Eddie Dowling did not vaunt his kindliness; he used it quietly to help those who needed help. They will remember him as long as those who only learned from him that the world never is too gloomy for cheerfulness—even though it always is a little better with a dollop of bourbon and a touch of branch water.

Inviting Disaster

The Union of South Africa's racial problem will not be brought closer to a solution—if indeed it can be solved at all—by the wholesale clubbing of Negroes such as occurred in the Capetown area. No doubt the orders to the police and troops were given as a means of serving notice the whites will not retreat an inch from their segregation policy, as well as to effect the immediate objective of breaking up a Negro work boycott. But what can be the final outcome of tactics like this in a country where blacks outnumber whites by more than three to one?

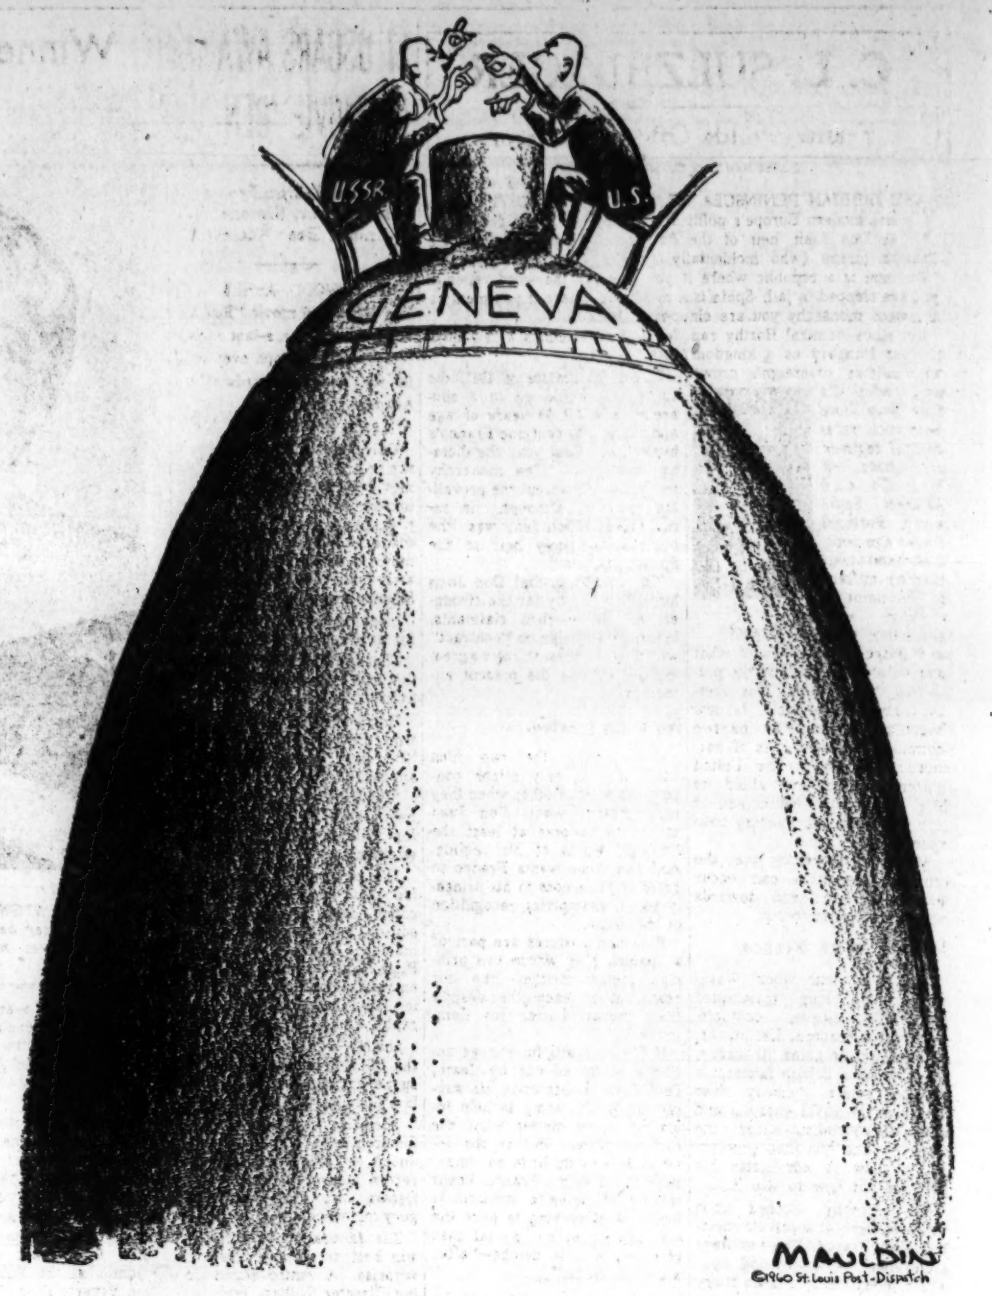

One answer is suggested by a remarkable article in the Dutch-dialect Sunday newspaper Dagbreek, which is controlled by a trust of which Prime Minister Verwoerd is chairman. This analysis said in part:

"All elements are present for the development not only of a crisis but of a national catastrophe. We can put it out of our minds to suppress this awakening by violence. . . . We shall have to make room for the political awakening of the black man. Pressure has accumulated on which no damper will stay put in the long run. We have come to the point whence we shall have to take a great and dramatic stride into history—to separate development or to integration."

Prime Minister Verwoerd's government has given no sign that it intends to make room for the Negro, and it describes as "hypocrisy" the United Nations Security Council resolution calling for abandonment of apartheid. But the editor of Dagbreek noted that the resolution had transformed an international critical attitude toward South Africa "into a world-wide enmity."

The resolution supports and encourages Negro nationalists, extremists as well as moderates. The more the whites intimidate the moderates the more likely it is that the leadership of the Negroes will fall to younger and lawless elements. Such a cycle can end only in more violence.

The Afrikaners obviously believe they can, and must, rule by force. Perhaps they can, for a week or a year. But in the long run it is fanciful to believe that clubs, bullets and shortsightedness can win out. Some compromise must be reached if the national catastrophe mentioned by Dagbreek is to be avoided. The time to begin was yesterday, but it may not be too late. U.N. Secretary General Hammarskjold has been instructed to consult with South African officials; if he can find the beginning of an answer he will indeed have merited the world's gratitude.

THE NIT-PICKERS

Reminding Mr. Truman of '48

He Questions Stevenson's Ability to Win, Yet Himself Won Against Odds

Margaret Halsey in
The New Republic

For the people who have never ceased to admire Adlai Stevenson, isn't it time for more talking?

Isn't it time to rebel against an absurdity?—the absurdity of 1960 election gossip that revolves endlessly around the topic of who can get elected and devotes almost no time at all to consideration of who can do the job?

There is something so ironic as to be almost farcical in the apparent helplessness of the United States to take care of its own political needs. The one presidential possibility who could restore American prestige abroad and who would not be an earn-while-you-learn Executive at home is way off at the periphery of public attention while gossip and speculation center on candidates who—like Rupert Brooke's curates at Grantchester—

The Mirror of Public Opinion

". . . come and go,
On lissome, clerical, printless, toe."

Among professional observers of the political scene the notion seems to be fairly general that Adlai Stevenson is the one man who could really handle the job of the presidency.

But Harry Truman dismisses a Stevenson candidacy on the ground that the Governor is a "two-time loser;" and whatever poignant regret this assertion may cause in some liberal hearts, few voices have challenged the former President's perspective.

That perspective, however, is not unassailable.

To a Stevenson enthusiast feeling angry about wasted talent and political absurdity, the most questionable part of the Truman dictum is its unconscious assumption that the electorate in 1960 will be exactly the same electorate that voted in 1956.

Maybe it will. Maybe (to transpose the Marxists a bit) opiate is the religion of the masses.

But the point is arguable.

There is as sound a basis for assuming that the voters of 1960 will be a little chastened, a little different in taste and inclination, a little altered in their view of the presidency, as there is for assuming that nothing can change them. And if they are at all changed—if events have got through to them at all—then Stevenson has the advantage of fame, which is more than can be said for Mr. Truman's reported choice among The Curates.

But does the rebellious Stevensonian—impatient for the resumption of serious government—have any room in which to maneuver? Is there any way of coping with the "He-can't-win" stereotype? One possible way might be to take a less over-awed view of the voters. Could the current thinking of many liberals about the presidency be roughly paraphrased, the paraphrase might go as follow: "God knows, I want a mature and competent and experienced man in the White House, but look at all those light-minded fellows down the street. They want some kind of political Frank Sinatra . . . and they have more votes than I do."

But those light-minded fellows down the street, in the magnitude of their folk wisdom, have given us two go-rounds of Eisenhower and at this point even they are a little daunted. Now is the time to take them by their pointed lapels and talk sense.

How, after all, are climates of opinion created? Not just by the nominated candidate himself — obediently going through the fertility rites prescribed by Madison avenue. Climates of opinion are also created by people stubbornly expressing feelings they have never had any reason to abandon. Feelings, in fact, which they have seen increasingly justified by the turn of events.

By whom are climates of opinion created? Sometimes they are created by people with self-confidence and faith in their own judgment. By Harry Truman himself, for instance, in 1948.

In 1960, who has more right to self-confidence and faith in their own judgment than the people who have never ceased to admire Adlai Stevenson?

The Canal's Future

From The Christian Science Monitor

Senator Aiken believes the United States should place the Panama Canal under some kind of international operation. He does not urge this immediately but thinks North Americans should explore the possibility and weigh the reasons for and against it.

The instinctive reaction of most in the United States is to resist any such suggestion. A related question was put before President Eisenhower — the matter of allowing the flag of the Republic of Panama to fly with that of the United States in the Canal Zone.

Mr. Eisenhower said that a few years ago he would have known exactly what to say. Some weeks earlier he had said he "would not even think" of internationalizing the canal. But as to the flag question he indicated that it is an involved and sensitive subject on which he has made no decision.

This will do for the present. But as time moves along the nation is going to have to come to some conclusions both as to permitting an expression of Panamanian sovereignty and as to acknowledging an interest on the part of other nations in how the canal is operated. Mr. Aiken suggests some sharing of control with the Organization of American States, with the U.N. or with an agency composed of shipping nations. This may be much further than citizens of the nation that built the canal want to go. But in view of attenion that is being turned toward the Panama Canal from many parts of the world they should know pretty clearly what they think about the matter and their reasons for thinking as they do.

Between Book Ends

Perhaps Nothing Is the Matter

THIS IS HUMPHREY, by Michael Amrine. (Doubleday, 261 pgs., $3.50.)

If Senator Humphrey is as able as his record indicates, what is the matter with him? That question has been asked a good many times since the Minnesota candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination achieved national prominence by leading the fight for the civil rights plank at the 1948 Democratic convention. Mr. Amrine's book provides ample reason why the question should have been asked, but it leaves the reader with the feeling that perhaps there is really nothing the matter with Humphrey. Nothing, that is, that cannot be cured by a little seasoning, if indeed it has not already been largely corrected.

Senator Humphrey

The Senator's gift of gab undoubtedly contributed to the early impression that although he was elected Mayor of Minneapolis at the age of 34, he was really a lightweight. He talked so much and so fast that no one could determine how he ever absorbed any knowledge. Mr. Amrine appears as baffled by this phenomenon as anyone. But the fact is that Senator Humphrey has absorbed a tremendous amount of knowledge on a great variety of subjects, and if he remains windy there is often substance in the breeze.

When Humphrey was elected to the Senate in 1948, winning a phenomenal victory over Republican Joe Ball, he was often described in a slighting way as a former pharmacist. Mr. Amrine dwells a good deal on Humphrey's occupation as a pharmacist in his father's drug store. The family had a bitter fight to remain solvent during the depression in South Dakota and Hubert did his part to help. The drug store was a gathering place where the young Humphrey learned much of human nature. When times improved, he was able to return to the University of Minnesota and to graduate magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa in political science; he then obtained a master's degree in political science from Louisiana State University.

A background like this, coupled with wide experience in debating, boundless energy, intense curiosity about nearly everything, imagination, personal attractiveness and considerable courage, is about all the voter could ask of a candidate's early years.

There is no question that Humphrey has matured. He has done outstanding work as chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Disarmament and has continued to exercise leadership in civil rights battles. His eight-and-a-half-hour interview with Premier Khrushchev made headlines in December 1958; the Kremlin was interested in Humphrey even though the Russians certainly knew he is one of the few American politicians with a record of having fought domestic Communism (in Minnesota 15 years ago).

Humphrey is only 48 years old and he has a long political career ahead of him. Possibly he is too clearly typed as a liberal to win wide support for his presidential aspirations, but he is held in increasing respect and times may change.

Mr. Amrine, who has written a great deal in the field of atomic energy, has done a balanced job on Senator Humphrey. The writing is somewhat spotty, but the last chapter—it is only a page and a half in length—is a little gem, a piece of imagery not easily forgotten.

Franco Holds Off a Successor

PARIS.

THE IBERIAN PENINSULA OF GLORIOUS TRADITIONS remains modern Europe's political anomaly, no less a personage than Don Juan, heir of the Bourbons and pretender to the Spanish throne (who incidentally lives in Portugal) observes: "Portugal is a republic where if you mention the word republic you are clapped in jail; Spain is a monarchy where if you mention the word monarchy you are clapped in jail."

Not since Admiral Horthy ran pre-war Hungary as a kingdom with neither sovereign's crown nor admiral's fleet have there been such paradoxical regimes as those of Franco and Salazar. Spain and Portugal discourage political aspirations of their citizens in the name of calming and protecting them and dodge the question of what system shall succeed to the prevailing dictatorships. This question, always inevitable, is now becoming imminent as the two dictators age. And it is of particular interest to the United States for we are allied to Portugal through NATO and to Spain through our military base agreement.

Franco

We pray, therefore, that the eventual transition can occur peacefully and tend towards more democratic forms.

Meeting With Franco.

Don Juan, with whom Washington for long maintained shamefully slender contacts, shares this concern. He intends, if and when he gains his throne, to work for a British monarchic system where "nobody ever mentions the royal question and even the Socialists accept the Queen." But his first problem is not how to administer his heritage but how to win it.

He indirectly touched upon this last week at a private meeting with Franco. That military statesman, while avowing himself a monarchist, is in no hurry to yield the powers he now holds.

His family is famous for its longevity and he wants to bargain the authority he retains — and which Don Juan covets — against concessions in favor of his ideology.

Continuing the System.

Fourteen years ago Franco first told me: "I am a monarchist. The traditional methods of Spain are monarchic. A modern form of monarchy could achieve the methods of a presidential regime and still conserve the advantages of stability."

But he hastened to add it was "impossible to fix a date" for such a switch. As if to stress his doubts, he arrested several leading monarchists a few days later.

Under his statute of 1947, the succession would go to a sovereign at least 30 years of age and pledged to continue Franco's basic laws. Last year the dictator told me: "The monarchy would have to accept the prevailing system" although, he remarked that Don Juan was "the obvious and only heir to the Spanish throne."

The trouble is that Don Juan himself, while by far the strongest of all Bourbon claimants, insists he will sign no "contract" with Spain's present ruler agreeing to continue the present autocracy.

No Love Wasted.

Consequently the two men could discuss only minor concessions to each other when they met. Franco wants Don Juan tacitly to endorse at least the "moral" worth of his regime. And Don Juan wants Franco to grant royal honors to his princely son, thus implying recognition of the father.

But such gestures are part of a shadow play whose two principal actors neither like nor really respect each other despite their mutual hatred for Communism.

If Franco waits for change until he is forced out by death, Don Juan counts upon his supporters in the army to help install him no matter what the dictator plans. But in the interim he can do little but impatiently murmur: Franco keeps talking of being a monarchist but he does nothing to pave the way for monarchy; a real case of apres moi le deluge—"after me, the deluge."

The Communists Hope!

Meanwhile, Franco broods about Don Juan's suspected "liberalism." Says he: "The domination of the Liberal party put Spain 50 years back vis-a-vis the rest of the world. That is why Stalin said Spain was the European country best prepared for Communism.

And also meanwhile, the Communists themselves make feverish efforts to penetrate the discontented Spanish masses. Most of these have little use for Moscow.

But, frustrated and impoverished, they crave for the chance they cannot have. And fearfully they remember how Europe once went to war on the issue of Spanish succession.

11 OSCARS AWARDED TO MOVIE 'BEN-HUR'

Charlton Heston Proclaimed Best Actor, Simone Signoret Best Actress.

HOLLYWOOD, April 5 (AP)—The $15,000,000 movie "Ben-Hur" received 11 Oscars last night in the greatest triumph ever scored in the annual awards of the Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences.

Only one of the Oscars for which Hollywood's costliest movie was nominated went to another production. The screenplay award went to the British-made "Room at the Top." That movie also won the top actress award for the French actress, Simone Signoret.

"Ben-Hur" was not nominated for any actress awards.

Charlton Heston, who portrayed the title role Ben-Hur, won the award for best actor.

Hugh Griffith, a Welshman who played an Arab sheik in "Ben-Hur," was named best supporting actor.

"Ben-Hur" won the award for best picture and best director for William Wyler, practically wrapping up the top awards.

The picture also won awards for best costume design in color; best sound; best film editing, best art direction, which included best set direction by Hugh Hunt, who did the same job on the original silent "Ben-Hur" in 1924; best color cinematography, and best musical scoring.

Shelley Winters, nominated for the third time, was named best supporting actress for her work in "The Diary of Anne Frank."

"Ben-Hur," by winning 11 Oscars, beat "Gigi," also produced by MGM, as the Oscar record holder. "Gigi" won nine Oscars last year—every category for which it was nominated.

The failure of "Ben-Hur" to win best screenplay was not a surprise. A controversy involving Director William Wyler, the Screen Writers Guild and British writer Christopher Fry colored the voting on the screen play.

A Screen Writers Guild arbitration committee finally decided that writer Karl Tunberg should have sole credit on the screenplay, despite protestations from Wyler, Fry and even Tunberg himself.

Probably the most applauded award of the evening went to Bob Hope, perennial master of ceremonies for the Oscar show, who received the Jean Hersholt humanitarian award, a special Oscar.

Miss Signoret, of five actresses nominated for the top actress award, was the only one who put on an active campaign to win it.

"My husband, Yves Montand, was here to do a picture with Marilyn Monroe, so I had nothing else to do but spend three months at the Polo Lounge of the Beverly Hills Hotel, shaking hands with everybody. I did not think I would win it, I just wanted to be friendly."

RUSSIAN STILL LEADS CHESS EVENT, AMERICAN SECOND

© New York Times News Service

NEW YORK, April 5—While Boris Spassky of the Soviet Union continues his winning streak to lead in the international chess tournament at Mar del Plata with a score of 5-0, Bobby Fischer, 17-year-old United States champion, took second place with a score of 4-1, a report which reached here last night says.

The youthful American won in 44 moves in a Ruy Lopez from Erich Eliskasas of Argentint. It was a close struggle, but Fischer succeeded in capturing a piece in the ending. Spassky had the black side of Ruy Lopez against Carlos Incutto of Argentina. The Russian sacrificed a piece for the attack and won in 25 moves. David Bronstein, the other Russian, is in a quadruple tie at 3½-1½.

'Mary Stuart,' Schiller Version, Opens at American Theater

Grandiose, Bravura Salute to Classic Manner—Eva Le Gallienne and Signe Hasso Are Starred.

By MYLES STANDISH

The American Theater presented its final offering of the season last night, Friedrich Schiller's "Mary Stuart," a grandiose and bravura salute to the classic manner.

The German classic, first given in 1800 and adapted into English for this version by Jean Stock Goldstone and John Reich, is a fascinating piece of theater. Tyrone Guthrie, who directed it for the Phoenix Theater production in New York in 1957 and again for this road production by the National Phoenix Theater, has staged the duel between Elizabeth I, imperious Queen of England, and her captive rival, Mary Queen of Scots, with high romantic fervor.

He has drafted a sharp method of attack for Signe Hasso as the proud but now desperate and penitent Mary and Eva Le Gallienne as an arrogant, cruel but inwardly unsure Elizabeth. The language, although not in the original verse, retains the high luster and imagery of poetry and at times rises to lyricism and sweeping grandeur. Mary and Elizabeth are presented with equal royal grandeur — larger than life, starting on a high pitch and soaring to stormy emotional peaks, with the lulls in between merely moments for gathering resources for the next flight.

Mr. Guthrie and the cast have kept this noble and majestic tone at its consistently high level because of complete integrity; there is never the suggestion of the bombastic or the spurious emotion, of plain hamming. With Donald Oenslager's impressionistic sets and dark lighting and Alvin Colt's costumes, the action suggests a series of low-key Flemish paintings in sepia and black.

Schiller's romantic and passionate treatment, in which he obviously favors Mary, is simple in its outlines and the difference between the women is made rather elemental. It is not so subtle or complex as Maxwell Anderson's treatment of the same theme in "Mary of Scotland," in 1933, Mary's horrified rejection of Mortimer's proposition as a price for rescuing her seems not in character in view of her record, and she does not assume tragic proportions until her final genuinely moving scene when she makes her last confession to Sir Andrew Nevil, a priest, before going to the headsman's block.

As did Anderson later, Schiller had the queens and rivals meet, contrary to history. It is a high point in the play, starting with a triumphant Elizabeth and a humiliated, beaten Mary, and suddenly mounting to a seething whirlwind of hate and passion, with the bitter pale mask of Miss Le Gallienne's face and the wild defiance of Miss Hasso's in burning conflict.

The supporting cast was well up to the quality of the stars. Patrick Waddington was an unctuous, plausible Leicester, John Colicos a shrewd and scheming Mortimer, Staats Cotsworth a smooth Lord Burleigh, Sydney Walker a compassionate Melvil, Muriel Kirkland a warm and understanding Hannah.

Because the scenery had been shipped by mistake to Little Rock instead of St. Louis and didn't arrive until late yesterday afternoon, the performance was an hour and a quarter late in starting. With the curtain up, the waiting customers were treated to a view of stagehands at work as something different at least. The production was well worth waiting for, however. The show will run this week.

Hemus Rates Cards '50 Per Cent Better' Than Club Year Ago

Birds Vs. Giants at Phoenix

By Bob Broeg
Post-Dispatch Sports Editor

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 5—The Cardinals "more than fulfilled" expectations in Florida, Manager Solly Hemus agreed today with General Manager Bing Devine. Hemus said he considered the ball club to be "50 or 60 per cent better" than the one that left St. Petersburg last year, en route to a seventh-place finish.

If the club is nearly as good at Busch Stadium as it was at Al Lang Field, the 1960 Cardinals will be even more surprising than the 1957 team that finished a strong second. Down in Florida the Cards not only posted the top Grapefruit League record, 13-7, but they also won 11 of 13 games in the park at St. Pete.

So they flew West gaily for a series against the four Arizona-based clubs, San Francisco, Boston, Cleveland and the kingpins of the cactus country, the Chicago Cubs.

They'll open this afternoon at Phoenix with Larry Jackson pitching against the Giants, the same pennant-favored club he'll undoubtedly face in the opener a week from today at San Francisco's new Candlestick Park.

Back to Homestead.

Devine didn't make this trip, by-passing Phoenix for another look at minor league operations at Homestead, Fla., and to check plans in St. Louis for the April 19 home opener with the Cubs. However, the general manager saw his manager and players off yesterday morning on their chartered TWA flight covering 2000 miles in seven and one-half hours.

Devine had reason to smile, he explained, because developments during spring training had, to repeat, "more than fulfilled" his expectations. Why? "Because," he said, "the club showed so well the pattern for which we had dealt last winter and hoped —more punch and better pitching."

Devine said he was aware before training and now, too, that the Cardinals' defense was below standard. "We took a calculated risk, going for the bat in preference to the glove," he said, "hoping that more runs might more than offset any added difficulty our pitchers might have because of our defense."

The St. Louis G.M. emphasized that he felt Hemus could juggle his manpower to take advantage of better fielders whenever possible, noting that Solly had said he planned to make three late-inning changes regularly whenever the Redbirds led. The manager will shift Bill White from center field to first base, put Curt Flood in center and rookie Ellis Burton in left.

Help From Youth.

"I don't expect Burton and Flood to hit triples and home runs often, as they did Sunday against the Yankees, but they're two young players who will profit from the part-time work as well as help us win with their defensive skill," said Hemus.

"I'm convinced you've got to go with the big bats. Look around and you'll see how players have been moved from one position to another to get their offensive ability in the game. Gil Hodges, a catcher, became a great first baseman because Brooklyn had another outstanding catcher, Roy Campanella, but no first baseman with power. The Giants moved Orlando Cepeda to the outfield to make room for Willie McCovey, and neither of them is a first-rate fielder.

"Stan Musial proved for years that a good player could move around without it bothering his hitting, and the Yankees, the way Casey Stengel has handled them, have demonstrated during the last several years how much versatility means. To me, Ken Boyer is the best all-round third baseman in the major leagues, but the Cardinals nearly won a pennant three years ago with him in center field, didn't they?"

Had any player disappointed Devine? The general manager said reluctantly that he hoped Leon Wagner, husky lefthanded-hitting outfielder obtained from the Giants, would hit more often and strike out less. Hemus, though, said he had expected Wagner to fan. "He's a slugger who takes a helluva cut," Solly said of Wagner, who will platoon with Bob Nieman in left field.

Chris Top Surprise.

The most pleasant surprise, the field foreman and front-office boss agreed, was Chris Cannizzaro, 21-year-old catcher who led the team in hitting in Florida with .419. As a reward, Hemus said he planned to carry the kid at least for the first month of the season.

"I wouldn't be afraid to use him to pinch-hit or to go behind the plate to help protect a lead, if Hal Smith was out of there," said the Mighty Mouse. "You might argue that he ought to be catching regularly, but it's my opinion an alert kid can soak up an awful lot of baseball wisdom on a big league bench.

"Besides, I didn't have the heart to option him. How can you ask rookies to show something in spring training and then send back early the one who shows the most?"

Veteran Throneberry Tops Nats With .462

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., April 5 (AP)—Washington's fearsome foursome minus one, shopping around for a new partner to aid in the war against organized baseball's exhibition trail yesterday, the credentials of Faye Maynard Throneberry.

Throneberry continued his torrid hitting along major league pitching, today began checking day, driving in the winning run with a seventh-inning single as the Senators edged Kansas City, 3-2, in the only game played.

With slugger Roy Sievers traded to the White Sox for Catcher Earl Battey, First Baseman Don Mincher and $150,000, Throneberry may be just the man to fill the depleted ranks.

With Red Sox in 1952.

A 28-year-old Tennessean who has kicked around the American League since he came up with Boston in 1952, Throneberry crashed the Washington lineup last season and compiled a .251 batting average in 117 games. The outfielder-first baseman hit 10 home runs and drove in 42 runs.

Now he's the sensation of the Senators' training camp with his .462 batting average, and has been outshining the fearsome foursome's holdovers — Harmon Killebrew, Jim Lemon and Bob Allison.

Killebrew (42 homers), Lemon (33), Allison (30) and Sievers (21) slugged 126 home runs during the 1959 campaign and a little more power from Throneberry could make up for the departure of the aging Sievers.

While Throneberry drove home the clincher against the A's, Killebrew and Lemon started the Senators on their way to their seventh victory in 20 games by driving home two runs in the first inning with sacrifice flies.

The A's tied it in the second when Bob Cerv hit his fourth homer of the spring — with a man on. Then, in the seventh, Lennie Green singled, advanced on a grounder and came around on Throneberry's clutch hit.

In the sixth inning, the first four Washington batters singled but the Nats failed to score. Lemon and Don Dobbek were nailed running the bases.

Lineups Take Shape.

Meanwhile, Cincinnati manager Fred Hutchinson and Charlie Grimm, field boss of the Chicago Cubs, took advantage of the open date to get their starting lineups in shape for the National League's opening program a week from today.

Hutch said Billy Martin, acquired along with Pitcher Cal McLish in the swap that sent Johnny Temple to Cleveland, will definitely open at second base for the Reds.

Grimm named rookies Sammy Drake and Lou Johnson to his probable starting lineup at third base and right field, respectively.

Drake batted .292 at Burlington, Ia., and .303 at San Antonio last season. Johnson hit .316 at Lancaster, Ohio, and .327 for San Antonio during the 1959 campaign.

Other clubs continued paring their rosters to get down to the required limit. The only surprise came from the San Francisco camp where the Giants asked waivers on Infielder Danny O'Connell, a 10-year major league veteran.

Cheney Sent Down.

The Cubs also optioned Pitchers Dick Ellsworth and Joe Schaffernoth and Infielder Jerry Kindall to Houston. They returned Infielder Ron Santo and Pitcher Dave Gerard to the same club and purchased Pitcher John Goetz from the San Antonio.

Tom Cheney, obtained from the Cardinals, was among four pitchers sent by the Pirates to Jacksonville Beach for reassignment. The others are Al Jackson, Ed Bauta and Curt Raydon. In 9⅔ innings this spring, Cheney yielded eight runs and 16 hits.

The Orioles trimmed Pitchers Herb Moford, Jim Archer, Vito Valentinetti and Art Quirk. All went to Miami.

The Yankees sent Hal Stowe, lefthanded pitcher, to Binghamton and Catcher Joe Miller to Amarillo.

3 Drivers Assigned

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Three veteran pilots were nominated as entries for the forty-fourth annual 50-mile Speedway automobile race climbed to 34.

Drivers assured of cars when qualifications open May 14 were Bill Cheesbourg, Tucson, Ariz.; Cliff Griffith, Indianapolis, and Johnny Tolan, Norwalk, Calif.

Dale Long To Giants For Cash

MESA, Ariz., April 5 (UPI)—The Chicago Cubs today announced the sale of veteran First Baseman Dale Long to the San Francisco Giants for an undisclosed amount of cash.

The Giants said they planned to use Long primarily for pinch-hitting chores as Manager Bill Rigney felt he was short of left-handed swingers on the bench.

Long is the fifth first baseman on the Giants' roster counting Utility Infielder Andre Rodgers, who may be traded; Orlando Cepeda, currently playing the outfield; Willie McCovey and Jim Marshall, purchased a week ago from the Boston Red Sox.

Long, 34, stands 6 feet, 4 inches. Last year he batted .236 in 110 games for the Cubs. He came to the Cubs from the Pittsburgh Pirates for whom he hit eight homers in eight consecutive games in 1956 for a major league record. He joined the Cubs in 1957 in a trade that included Outfielder Lee Walls in exchange for First Baseman Dee Fondy and Second Baseman Gene Baker.

Grim for Kiely.

TUCSON, Ariz., April 5 (UPI)—Trader Frank Lane announced today the Cleveland Indians have traded Southpaw Leo Kiely, obtained from the Red Sox only last winter, to Kansas City for Righthander Bob Grim.

Lane announced the trade after returning to the Indian training camp from Florida.

The oft-trading general manager said he didn't know if Grim would be a starter or a relief man for the club.

"That will be up to Joe Gordon (the manager)," he said.

Grim had a 6-10 record with the Athletics last season. His best year in the majors was 1954, when he posted 20-6 for the Yankees.

Kiely's record last year for the Red Sox in a relief role was 3-3. He wasn't used much by the Tribe this spring.

Kiely is 31, Grim is 30.

Lane also said he thinks University of Arizona product, Pitcher Carl Thomas, will stick with the club, at least for the time being.

Bracemates Point Only Covey of Day

Hedgerow, a pointer male, and his bracemate, Catalpa Ridge Woody, collaborated in finding the only covey yesterday in the Derby Stake of the Missouri Field Trials Association meet at Weldon Spring.

Hedgerow, owned by W. L. Lang of Edison, Ga., and handled by John Gates, Leesburg, Ga., came to point as the covey was being pointed by Catalpa Ridge Woody, owned by J. Brantley, Ridgeland, S.C., and handled by Leon Covington, Calhoun, Ala. The time was 28 seconds.

Pineland Topsy, a pointer female, found a woodcock. The dog, owned by the Dixie Plantation, was handle by Gates.

Forty-Niners List Exhibition Schedule

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5 (UPI)—The San Francisco Forty-Niners announced today a six-game exhibition schedule starting on Aug. 7 against the New Dallas Cowboys.

At the same time, Coach Red Hickey said all players, rookies and veterans, were due at camp by July 22 at St. Mary's College, Moraga, Calif.

Site of the Dallas game hasn't been set, but two early games will be played in San Francisco —against Washington Aug. 14, and Philadelphia Aug. 21.

The other games are Sept. 3 against Cleveland at Portland; with the Rams at Los Angeles Sept. 9, and the St. Louis Cardinals in San Francisco Sept. 18. The league schedule opens Sept. 25.

Engelbert Places 7 On Stars

By Dent McSkimming

A squad of 18 players has been named and a three-sessions-a-week training program mapped by C.Y.C. soccer officials as they get their team ready to meet an English League club here, May 25. Bob Guelker, C.Y.C. athletic director and soccer coach at St. Louis University will direct the training of the all-star squad that is to face Manchester United at Public Schools Stadium.

There are eight forwards, four halfbacks, four fullbacks on the local squad scheduled to start practice this week. Ed Scott, manager of the C.Y.C. St. Engelberts and Leo Creamer of Holy Rosary will be assistant coaches and Hal Weigel of St. Agatha the trainer.

Following are the players selected:

FORWARDS: Dean Wilson, John Calcaterra, Bob Malone, Tom McDonnell, Bob Copple, Bob Renaud, John Vitale and Sam Davis.

HALFBACKS: Jack Dueker, Tom Donovan, Sam Sapienza and Dick Niehaus.

FULLBACKS: Bob Burkes, Dan Puricelli, Charley Calcaterra and Tom Hennessey.

GOAL: Gene Block and Bill King.

Champion St. Engelbert supplies the greatest number of players, seven; St. Ambrose four places; Nativity three; Holy Family parish two, and one player comes from All Souls and from St. Kevin parish.

Many of the players picked by the C.Y.C. committee have had experience in more than one position. Among the more versatile are Dueker, Davis, Vitale, Donovan and Niehaus.

Failed on Chances.

"That was just another one of those games where we should have won but didn't," said Nick Jost, manager of the Kutis soccer team on his return from Los Angeles, yesterday. Kutis was beaten, 3-2, by the L. A. Kickers in the western final of the United States Open Cup Competition.

"We couldn't get organized in the first half, but when we did settle down we were by far the better team," he added "To put it in simple language, we should have scored more than two goals; we had the scoring chances but failed."

Jost said that his team will concentrate now on getting ready for the United States Amateur Cup western semifinal against Chicago Eagles. That game is to be played at Chicago one week from next Sunday.

"We were hurting for lack of competition in the six weeks before that game at Los Angeles," he said. "Now we have a whole stack of local games in front of us. We should be at our best when we reach the Eagles."

The stack of games is a series of night matches at Fairground Park, starting tonight. Kutis is down to oppose St. Kevin in a Carling Cup match this evening; if successful will oppose the Meramec club tomorrow night. Then, on Thursday evening there is the Marre Trophy final with St. Engelbert, and, if all goes well Kutis will play in the Carling Cup final, Sunday. Fortunately, Kutis carries a big squad of 18 players, all of whom should get plenty of action in that stretch of four games in six days, making five games in eight days.

Cahokia's Davis Hurls One-Hitter

Tight pitching was featured yesterday in three of the four prep baseball league games. The top effort was by Cahokia's Eddie Davis, who hurled a one-hitter as the Commanches opened Mid-western Conference play with an 8-0 victory over Highland.

Davis struck out seven and allowed only a single. Berkeley's Bob Crews yielded only two hits and struck out 10 in hurling the Bulldogs to a 4-0 North County League triumph over Wellston.

Madison scored a run in the sixth and went on to beat Dupo, 3-2, in another Midwestern Conference game. Dan Mueller got three hits for Lutheran Central, which opened ABC League action by downing Lutheran South, 14-7.

In non-league games, Marty Aubuchon hit a three-run home run to pace Roosevelt to an 11-3 victory over DuBourg. And Bob Price, an all-district basketball player, banged a two-run homer as Granite City beat Belleville Cathedral, 5-3.

Alston Respects 'Em

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 5—Walter Alston feels that the Los Angeles Dodgers are better than they were last year when they merely were good enough to win the world championship, but the former Ohio schoolteacher isn't claiming another pennant.

"Because," he explained, smiling, "I know first-hand how it's possible to go from seventh place to first as we did in 1959. Actually I'd say we've got to beat four or five clubs to win it again."

Alston said he expects San Francisco to be stronger because of three players acquired in winter deals, Pitchers Billy O'Dell and Billy Loes and Second Baseman Don Blasingame. The champions' manager sees the return of Red Schoendient as strengthening Milwaukee, the team with which Los Angeles tied in the regular season. And Alston regards Cincinnati as a dark-horse.

"The Reds led the league in all offensive departments last season," he recalled, "and beat us eight out of 11 at Cincinnati. They did it without the two good pitchers they obtained in those winter deals, Cal McLish and Billy Henry. Watch 'em because we will."

Los Angeles used good infield defense, good pitching and pretty good power and speed in its sensational surge that caught sagging San Francisco, outlasted Milwaukee and then outclassed the White Sox in the World Series.

"Our key man proved to be Wally Moon," Alston analyzed his pleasant surprise, "and Charley Neal came into his own, too. Then you've got to give our farm system credit. When you can reach down during a season and come up with a Maury Wills to help you at shortstop and Roger Craig and Larry Sherry to help your pitching, you're lucky—and I was."

Modesty, it must be obvious, is one of Mr. Alston's virtues, modesty and frankness.

The Howard Case

The frankness was apparent, too, in his discussion of the most publicized rookie in years, Frank Howard, a strawberry blond version of Paul Bunyan and Babe Ruth. Howard is the 6-foot-7, 245-pound former Ohio State basketball star who has battered down fences in the Texas and Pacific Coast Leagues, justifying the whopping $108,000 bonus the Dodgers gave him and topping a combined baseball-basketball offer made by the Cardinals and Hawks.

"Howard is a tremendous prospect, all right," said Alston, "and if I really felt he was ready—the way I could use another power hitter—I'd find a spot for him, either in the outfield or at first base. But he still doesn't know the strike zone, swings at too many bad pitches—and swings too hard."

The L.A. manager sympathized with the 23-year-old giant to an extent. "He hits 'em a mile in batting practice, like the one he hit clear over the scoreboard in St. Louis," Alston said, "and the fans 'ooh' and 'aah'. When they do, Frank swings even harder, and he doesn't hit as well. He's learning, though."

He's not learning to take direction, however, and his field foreman is not sympathetic when he comments on the big boy failing to show up for two Sunday exhibitions.

"Personally, he has changed from a meek kid to one I don't understand now, but I hope only temporarily," said Alston. "He was upset, he told me, because I left him at Vero Beach the other Sunday, to play in a Montreal-Spokane game, while I took a look at other outfielders. After all, I've got some veterans to get ready and I had played him with the varsity more than any other outfielder."

He acts like the Babe even if he doesn't hit like him.

Young Howard resembles Ruth, all right.

Moon and the Men

The Dodgers have the best group of prospects Alston said he ever had seen, but only one, Tom Davis, a Brooklyn boy, had more than a fair chance of sticking when the manager was going over his manpower recently at Al Lang Field.

Davis is an outfielder, big and fast, a righthanded hitter who batted .345 at Spokane. Unless he can play regularly, however, the 21-year-old speedster is not likely to stay.

Moon, who became a better hitter in the Coliseum, will be in left field against both left and righthanded pitching. Wally uses what the Walker brothers, Dixie and Harry, call the "inside out" swing, one in which a lefthanded hitter uses slower hand action to slice rather than hook a ball. Moon not only hit 12 of his 14 home-park homers over the left field fence, but the delayed hand action also caused him to take a longer and better look at the ball. The one-time soft touch for southpaws hit .390 against lefthanders.

Duke Snider, his legs fit, will be in right field except against lefthanders and rangy Don Demeter probably will be in center. Outfielders? Man, they've got 'em in L.A. Others

Fired-Up Hawks and Fiery Celtics Meet in Fifth Game Tonight

Cousy May Ask to Be Benched

By Harold Flachsbart
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

BOSTON, April 5 — They're screaming "bloody murder" about the Hawks' rough play up here in Boston but Coach Ed Macauley of the St. Louis western champions of the National Basketball Association feels complimented over remarks made by the Celtics' coach.

Red Auerbach, who storms and shouts in trying to tell the referees what to do, said, in effect, that Macauley swayed Sunday's St. Louis victory when Easy Ed complained about the officiating.

"I never was so complimented in all my life," said Macauley, waiting for baggage after a long flight from St. Louis. "If Auerbach, of all people, says that I was able to put a bug in the referees' ears, that is something out of this world!"

The big league pro finalists, tied at two victories each, resume action here tonight in basketball's "world series." The fifth game, starting at 7 o'clock St. Louis time, will be televised and carried by KPLR, Channel 11, and also will be broadcast by KMOX radio.

Celts Still Seething.

And, if the angry words being tossed about are any indication, the game may be a fiery one. Certainly all the hullabaloo about the Hawks' rough play, a lot of it aimed at Clyde Lovellette as a result of his close guarding of 6-foot-10 Bill Russell, hasn't lulled the St. Louis players.

"I haven't held Russell one bit," Lovellette said during the trip here. "I've merely tried to beat him to the ball."

Celtic player Tommy Heinsohn charged that Lovellette "belted" him deliberately Sunday. "I'll get even, though, don't worry about that," Heinsohn added.

Lovellette denied Heinsohn's charge but criticized Boston's Frank Ramsey for "blocking" him at the foul line. "I told him the next time he pulls it I'm going to run right over him."

Bill Sharman of the Celtics said the Hawks were "beating us up physically, hoping to wear us down eventually."

Cousy Downhearted.

Actually, the Celtics are hurting most because their star playmaker, Bob Cousy, has been having one of the worst series of his 10-year career. He's downhearted and has threatened to even bench himself if he doesn't snap out of it tonight.

One Boston paper ran a big headline: "Only No. 14 Looks Like Cousy."

The backcourt magician, who dribbles, passes and shoots almost equally well with either hand, had nothing to say after the Hawks' equalizing 106-96 Sunday victory, a game in which the Hawks' backliners, Si Green and Johnny McCarthy, did a good job of guarding him.

"I hate to think of it, but if I'm no good, I'm going to take Auerbach off the hook," Cousy said. "I wish he'd take me out any time I'm not doing the club any good.

"I'm completely exhausted. I never had this feeling before in a playoff. I've always been able to get myself up, but now I can't seem to do it."

Cousy has an injured thumb, which has affected his shooting —not his play-making in Saturday's 102-86 victory at Kiel Auditorium—and his scoring has been far off his regular season's 19.4 average. In the playoffs, he has hit 46 in four games, and Sunday made only one hoop in 13 tries from the field. Saturday he was three for 16.

Macauley feels it's a new series now and, as the series shortens, a lot of things can happen in one game to sway the outcome.

"We know we're facing a great ball club, but we got 'em crying now and maybe we can beat 'em in their home bailiwick," Macauley said. "If we can, we could wrap it up Thursday night in St. Louis."

St. Louis's backline, now composed of Johnny McCarthy, Si Green and Al (Mugsi) Ferrari, has come to the front in containing Boston's fabulous backliners, Cousy, Bill Sharman, and the Jones boys, Sam and K. C.

But the St. Louis points have to come up front, and that's where Bob Pettit, Cliff Hagan and Lovellette, when all are on the ball, can outshine anything Boston has to offer on the frontline, scoringwise.

If a seventh game is needed to decide the championship, which the Hawks won in 1958 and the Celtics in 1957 and 1959 (last year over Minneapolis), it will be played in Boston Saturday afternoon, not Saturday night, as previously reported. The sixth game is scheduled for Thursday night in St. Louis.

Basketball Fans Besiege Box Office for Tickets

Fans, seeking to buy tickets for the sixth game of the National Basketball Association title playoff series between the Hawks and Boston Celtics, scheduled for Kiel Auditorium Thursday night, line up in the Arcade building. The lines, which started forming at 4 a.m., had stretched around the balcony, down the stairs, through the lobby and out into Olive street by the time the windows were opened at 9 o'clock. It was the largest crowd of ticket-seekers in the history of the building, attendants said. After a few hours the ticket supply was exhausted.

1000 Welcome Grid Cards at Luncheon

By Robert Morrison

A crowd of about 1000 luncheon patrons welcomed officials and other representatives of the transferred football Cardinal professional football team today at the Sheraton-Jefferson Hotel.

Jim Conzelman, who coached the last (1947) championship Chicago Cardinal team, was master of ceremonies of the Ad Club luncheon attended by present Cardinal coach Frank (Pop) Ivy, the club's managing director Walter Wolfner and others.

"After 40 years of league development we'll be able to enjoy the finished product," remarked Conzelman on the National Football League games that will be seen at Busch Stadium next fall.

Wolfner promised that all season ticket orders through Thursday will be "treated equally" as to choice seat locations at the indicated prices.

"I want you all to realize that Busch Stadium is just our temporary home," he said, "and that the season ticket buyers now will have first choice when the new (downtown) stadium is built," he said. He added with emphasis: "And it had better be built."

Preston Estep, of the Downtown Stadium Committee, said it is the view of the committee that "by 1964 the football Cardinals will be playing in the new stadium."

Others attending the luncheon included Cardinal players Mac Lewis and Ken Panfil, both 6-foot-6 tackles, and rookie Quarterback George Izo, who is currently finishing school at Notre Dame.

Tigers End Arkansas Win String

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., April 5 (AP)—John Scowcroft collected five of Missouri U.'s 23 hits as the Tigers handed Arkansas its first baseball loss, 21-8, yesterday. The Razorbacks had won six games. Mizzou is 2-1.

Scowcroft, who had two doubles, drove in four runs.

Going into the seventh inning, Missouri had just six hits and was locked in a 7-7 tie. Coach Hi Simmons' men then scored three runs in the seventh, seven in the eighth and four in the ninth.

Arkansas committed eight errors, Missouri five.

David Koch was the winner in relief. Darrell Peters, the Arkansas starter, was charged with the loss.

Dayton Grid Schedule

DAYTON, O. (UPI)—The University of Dayton announced a 10-game 1960 football card.

The schedule: Sept. 17, Ohio University; Sept. 24, at Cincinnati; Oct. 1, Villanova; Oct. 8, at Xavier; Oct. 15, Louisville; Oct. 21, at Detroit; Oct. 29, at Wichita; Nov. 5, at Holy Cross; Nov. 12, at Miami; Nov. 19, Kent State.

6th Game A Sellout

There is a sellout for the sixth game of the National Basketball Association playoff title series between the Hawks and the Boston Celtics, scheduled for Kiel Auditorium Thursday at 8:30 p.m. Standing room only is available.

Opening their ticket office in the Arcade building at 9 o'clock this morning, the Hawks had sold out before noon. Lines of fans began forming at 4 a.m. and by the time the windows opened the lines stretched around the balcony, down the stairs, through the lobby and out into Olive street.

Purchasers were limited to six tickets each.

Smentkowski Wins Bowling Tournament

Joe Smentkowski won the second annual bowling tournament of Quarter Century Club of the Greater St. Louis area with a score of 668, which included 81 pins handicap.

Leo M. Fuerst, last year's winner, was second with 661 while Charles Fussner and Emil Reitz tied for third with 644.

Johnny Ott had high three out of the money with 551 and Clarence Stein's 202 was high scratch single.

Track Record

LAUREL, Md., April 5 (UPI)—Big M, a non-winner in three previous starts this year, set a track record of 1:11 3-5 for six furlongs yesterday while winning the $5000 Beau Brummell purse at Laurel in a photo finish.

Buchholz, McKinley On Davis Cup Team

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5 (UPI)—The United States started preparation for the 1960 Davis Cup matches today with the naming of a 14-man squad that included no surprises.

Jim Moffett, chairman of the Davis Cup selection committee, picked the top ranking net stars for the team—leaving off such old-timers as Dick Savitt, Noel Brown, Vic Seixas and Hugh Stewart.

The team: Bernard Bartzen, Dallas; Tom Brown, San Francisco; Earl Buchholz, St. Louis; Chris Crawford, Piedmont, Calif.; John Cranston, San Marino, Calif.; Don Dell, Bethesda, Md.; Jon Douglas, Santa Monica, Calif.; Myron Franks, Los Angeles; Jack Frost, Monterey, Calif.; Ronald Holmberg, Brooklyn; Cliff Mayne, Berkeley, Calif.; Barry MacKay, Dayton, O.; Chuck McKinley, St. Louis, and Whitney Reed, Alameda, Calif.

A four-man team will be named for the first series against Mexico in Mexico City in August. Two of these probably will be Bartzen, the 31-year-old lefthander, and 37-year-old Tom Brown. Both are known as very fine clay courts players.

Conspicuous by their absence are the No. 1 man of last year's team, Alex Olmedo, who has turned professional; and Ham Richardson, the controversial star.

With Olmedo now a pro, Bartzen ranks as the No. 1 player in the country. MacKay is next. Reed is the national intercollegiate champion. Buchholz has two years of Davis Cup experience and is ranked sixth. Franks is seventh. Douglas, an ex-Stanford football player, ranks fifteenth.

At San Antonio, Tex., McKinley, the nation's thirteenth ranking amateur and No. 1 star of the powerful Trinity University net team, underwent a thorough physical examination of a painful foot ailment last night.

McKinley, who has won eight of nine matches in this, his first collegiate season, has been bothered by a bone spur on his right big toe. Recently the injury worsened, the toe became infected and now his foot is so swollen he can scarcely touch his foot to the ground.

Rod Susman, a St. Louis teammate of McKinley and his doubles partner, is suffering from a back ailment and is playing in a corset.

Undergoes Operation.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5 (AP) — James B. Moffet, who announced the U. S. Davis Cup tennis squad yesterday, underwent emergency surgery at St. Francis Hospital a few hours later. His condition was critical today.

Moffet, chairman of the Davis Cup selection committee of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association, complained of severe abdominal pains at his home here. Gerald Misner, U. S. L. T. A. vice president, took him to the hospital and surgery for a perforated intestine followed: peritonitis set in.

Dr. Lawrence R. Custer described Moffet's condition as critical.

Teams Wanted

The O'Fallon Baseball League has openings for several senior men's teams and an umpire. Applications will be considered at an organization meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at 2739 Franklin avenue.

Table Tennis Champs

Captain Dick Browning's team No. 3 won the championship in the V.F.W. table tennis league with a record of 19 victories in 20 matches. Browning's teammates were Joe DeRosa, Jr. and Steve Burns.

Palmer Is Masters Favorite

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 5 (AP) —Drenching rains have turned the 24th Masters golf tournament, starting Thursday, into a prospective battle of muscle men and one of the most eminent of these, Sam Snead, says it could be his year.

"The way I'm playing, I just might do it," drawled the three-time winner from West Virginia. "I don't know when I've hit the ball better.

"I'll tell you one thing—as heavy as this course is, no short hitter is going to win it."

One of the game's strongest players, Arnold Palmer, has been established as the advance favorite. Most of his competition is expected to come from such powerful hitters as Snead, Cary Middlecoff, ex-footballer Mike Souchak and perhaps even the husky U. S. amateur champion, Jackie Nicklaus.

Nicklaus, a 200 pounder from Columbus, Ohio, trudged around the Augusta National course in a driving rain yesterday in 69, three under par. It was the best score of those rash enough to buck the elements.

No amateur ever has won the Masters.

Snead played a full 18 holes and was even par although experimenting with his long irons. Ben Hogan gave up after eight holes and said, "I don't have a chance." Palmer, the year's leading money winner, didn't even come out.

Argentine Victor in U.S. Debut

NEW YORK, April 5 (UPI)—Young Jorge Fernandez, making his first appearance in the United States, scored a technical knockout last night over Mel Barker at 1:26 of the seventh round in the feature event at St. Nicholas Arena.

Referee Harold Valan halted the scheduled 10-rounder when Barker became helpless after absorbing powerful punches throughout the bout.

Fernandez, a 1-3 favorite from Buenos Aires, scored his seventieth triumph against three losses and one draw. The 24-year-old Argentine had lost the first round but was far ahead in each succeeding round, according to ring officials. He weighed 149.

Barker, 147¾, from Austin, Tex., managed to withstand Fernandez' powerful flurry of lefts and rights until he began to tire in the fifth round. Barker now has a record of 28 victories, 12 losses and nine draws.

The victory has put Fernandez in contention for a possible television bout against high-ranked Emile Griffith.

Hatfield to Manage Little Rock Team

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 5 (UPI)—Fred Hatfield, 35, former infielder with the Boston Red Sox, Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox, yesterday was named player-manager of the Arkansas Travelers of the Southern Association.

Hatfield had been training with Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League. He said he would leave their camp in Yuma, Ariz., today for the Traveler camp site in Winter Garden, Fla.

The Travelers rejoined the Southern Association last week, taking up the franchise dropped by New Orleans.

Hatfield was in the American League from 1950 to 1957. His best year was 1954 with the Tigers when he hit .294. The 6-foot, 170-pound left-handed hitter has played all infield positions, but prefers third. He was with Spokane and San Diego in the P.C.L. last year.

26 Horses Nominated For 'Wood'

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—The New York Racing Association reported today 26 nominations for the $75,000 Wood Memorial, final Eastern race of major importance for three-year-olds prior to the Triple Crown races beginning with the Kentucky Derby May 7.

The one-and-one-eighth miles Wood Memorial will be run at Aqueduct April 23. It is an old Jamaica standby stakes, but that track now has been closed permanently.

The leading nominees include the first three finishers in the Gotham Stakes last Saturday, the Merrick Stable's John William, Mrs. Ada L. Rice's New Commander, and Reginald N. Webster's Count Amber.

Others eligible for the Wood include George D. Widener's Yorktown, who was fifth in the Gotham after finishing second in the Louisiana Derby, and the Elkcam Stable's Keenation. Keenation was out of the money in the Gotham, but ran third in the Flamingo, won by Bally Ache.

Louis Wolfson's Francis S., winner of the Governor's Gold Cup at Bowie and second to Warfare in the Swift Stakes, is here training for the Wood. Also nominated was the Llangollen Farm's Eagle Admiral, fourth in the Florida Derby.

Bally Ache, owned by Len Fruchtman, won the Florida Derby last Saturday, and would have been sent here for the Wood had Warfare not injured an ankle. Fruchtman wanted to test Bally Ache against Warfare, the California-bred champion two-year-old of 1959. Warfare beat Bally Ache in three meetings last year. Instead, Bally Ache heads for Kentucky directly from Miami to complete his Derby preparations.

Butler Signs 3-Year Texas Loop Contract

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., April 5 (UPI)—Dick Butler, president of the Texas League the past five seasons, yesterday was given a new three-year pact amid the outside possibility he also may serve the Southern Association in the same capacity.

Butler, who has been on a one-year contract since taking over in 1955 from John Reeves, said one Southern Association official had asked him "not to close the door to the possibility" of becoming head of both Class A circuits.

"It would certainly be a challenge," Butler said, admitting he did not know what the sentiments of his own Texas League directors might be toward the dual role.

include Rip Repulski, Ron Fairly and Chuck Essegian.

The infield has a talented leadoff man at third base, Junior Gilliam, a power-hitting glove master at first base, Gil Hodges, and a classy second-base combination. Wills is a quick, nimble shortstop and Neal a clever second baseman with power. They've all got speed and even the catcher, John Roseboro, though no Roy Campanella at bat, can run, too, and—as the White Sox found out—he really can throw.

Sidewheeling Don Drysdale and comeback Craig are the righthanded starters of a pitching staff that has depth and talent. Johnny Podres and strikeout whiz Sandy Koufax are the southpaw front-line members. Whether World Series hero Sherry will start or relieve will depend largely on how Ed Roebuck, Johnny Klippstein and Clem Labine do in the bullpen. Big Stan Williams and Danny McDevitt are spot starters.

"There are just two things wrong with the staff," said Alston. "A couple of the guys, like Koufax and Williams, have trouble with their control. And the staff, in general, has a lot of ability, but it's unpredictable."

Michigan State Is Against Ending Post-Season Sports

EAST LANSING, Mich., April 5 (UPI)—Michigan State's faculty representative to the Big Ten athletic conference was under orders today to vote against two proposals to eliminate post season athletics.

The school's athletic board voted unanimously to go against a plan that would end all hope for a league team to get into the Rose Bowl and oppose a bar on post season athletics by all teams.

Final action on the two questions will come up at a meeting here May 18-21.

The conference voted to end a contract with the Rose Bowl in a meeting at Columbus, Ohio, in March. The question coming up here would kill a Big Ten by-law that would permit a team to go to the Rose Bowl.

The bar on all post season sports was pushed through by athletic directors in protest over the Rose Bowl bar.

But final balloting on the post season bar must be done at the meeting here. A Michigan State spokesman said the decision to put the school against both questions "reaffirms M.S.U.'s pro-Rose Bowl position."

Tompion Is 5 to 2, Bally Ache 4 to 1 For Kentucky Derby

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico, April 5 (UPI)—Tompion and Bally Ache today were Caliente future book favorites for the 86th running of the Kentucky Derby, May 7.

Pricemaker Tony Alessio posted Tompion a 5-2 favorite and trimmed Bally Ache a point to 4-1 after his Florida triumph Saturday.

Here's the new line on leading contenders: Tompion, 5-2; Bally Ache, 4-1; Eagle Admiral, 8-1; Flow Line, 10-1; Hillsborough, 10-1; John William, 12-1; Venetian Way, 15-1; and Bourbon Prince, Victoria Prince, Weatherwise, York Town and Zenith all 20-1.

Early Bird Hole-in-One.

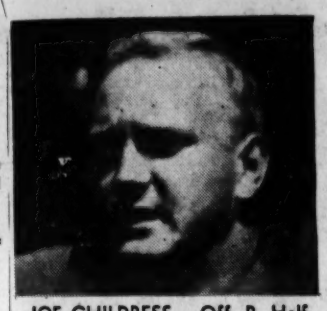

First hole-in-one of the spring golf season at Sunset Hills Country Club, Edwardsville, Ill., was scored Sunday by Dr. C. A. Schmitt on No. 2 green. Dr. Schmitt was playing with B. L. Compton, J. P. Allred and A. Queiroli.

A.B.C. Delegates Oppose Classic Group

Decision to Come At Meeting Friday

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 5 (AP)—Some 700 delegates to the annual American Bowling Congress' week-long convention which began yesterday will consider a controversial proposal to introduce a "Classic" Division into the ABC tournament.

The tournament committee has recommended a "Classic" Division to separate highly subsidized bowlers who earn their basic livelihood from bowling from the men who bowl as a hobby.

The issue is slated to come up at Friday's convention session, and is likely to encounter stiff opposition. The proposal would effect the biggest change in the 57-year-old tournament since the booster division was created with regular averages of 850 a game or less.

Opponents of the "Classic" Division say it would complicate the tournament and would take prestige from the winner of the open team division.

Classic Group Rules.

The committee's proposal would add $5000 prize money to the entrance-fee prize funds available for the "Classic" Division. In the new divilson would be any team which included in its five-man line-up two or more bowlers who averaged 190 or more and who came under any one of the following headings:

1. Earned major portion of income from bowling.
2. Identifies self as professional bowler.
3. Owes employment to bowling ability.
4. Is subsidized by a sponsor so he can devote his major time to bowling.
5. Works half or more of work time as a bowling instructor.
6. Gets experience in pressure competition from frequent appearances on nationally televised bowling programs.

Yesterday the tournament-site committee of the convention heard representatives of 11 cities bid for future ABC tournaments. The committee's decision will be released Thursday. The 1961 tournament already is set for Detroit, and 1962 for Des Moines. Bidding for 1963 were Buffalo, which has had the tournament six times and last in 1946; St. Paul, which had it twice, last in 1951; and Pittsburgh which never has been host.

Seeking the tournament for later years were Long Beach, Calif., Miami, Indianapolis, Portland, Ore., Oakland, Calif., Seattle, Albany and New York City. The ABC constitution provides the 1964 tournament must be in the West and the 1967 tournament in the South.

2872 Is Top Score.

Last night's best open team score, a 2872 by the Bowl-All Center of Cleveland, fell 115 pins shy of making even the tenth rung of the top ten.

With his 1829 in all-events yesterday, George Defler of Berwyn, Ill., was 87 pins short of ranking with the leaders. And Gene Smith and Harold Guard of Reading, Pa., were 47 pins short of the tenth-ranked doubles total, with 1229. A 674 singles series by Henry Schaffhauser of Rochelle Park, N. J. was the nearest thing to a top-ten change, but he needed another strike to do it.

Bowling Clinic to End Today

Bowlers who filled out registration cards for the Post-Dispatch-sponsored Free Bowling Clinics, scheduled to end with a 7:30 o'clock session tonight at Belleville's Midway Bowl, gave a variety of answers to "what do you enjoy most about bowling?"

"Fun" and "relaxation" frequently appeared on the cards, but among the other answers were:

"The fellowship and the challenge to improve my game."

"Because it's a good clean sport."

"Exercise and getting away from the housework."

"Relaxing with friends after a day's work."

A morning session at Knittig Bros. Lanes on Highway 21 and an afternoon session at Bowl-A-Rama, 1575 Woodson road, were the other clinics on the final program. A total of 26 two-hour sessions have been held since the series began last Wednesday.

The co-sponsoring American Machine and Foundry Company, headed by Joseph Schoenberg, was enthusiastic over the reception in St. Louis.

Many pupils attended three or more sessions. One college student, living in Southeast Missouri, came here to learn more about the game. He has a 190 average.

The AMF clinics run throughout the year. Another clinic opens late in May and runs through July on the West Coast.

Today's Final Pin Clinic Schedule

Honest Danny

FORT MYERS, Fla., April 5—Danny Murtaugh, who manages the Pittsburgh Pirates, was brought up, like a good Irish boy, in the tenet that honesty is the best policy.

But he never embraced the maxim more resignedly than on a forenoon in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., more than 13 years ago while he was a playing member of the Braves.

Spring training, in 1947, was almost over. Danny and his roommate, southpaw Ernie White, decided to forsake the narrow confines of their end room in the Braves' motel for the more open spaces of Miami.

There was so much to do, and see, that they barely made camp by 9 a.m. next morning and hurriedly donned uniforms to join the squad.

Bill McKechnie was managing the Braves and he crooked a finger at Murtaugh. "Didn't see you around last night," said Bill.

Danny agreed he was missing. "Had a little headache," he vouchsafed, "so I got me a book, read a while and went to bed real early . . ."

McKechnie seemed amazed. "You did?" he asked. "Well, you're sure lucky to be with us today, because a runaway truck plowed through your room just about midnight. . . . The other boys were tryin' to rescue you."

So perhaps it was in memory, or deference, to that incident that Murtaugh, when asked "how about the Pirates for 1960?" hesitated only a split-second and replied: "About the same as last year, but we hope to play better."

Looks for Boost

No forthright claim to a flag, or even late-season contention, just: "we have five fellows who played below par last year and we still were three games out of first place Sept. 2. They should improve."

Those five, of course, included Pitcher Bob Friend, who was 8-19 for 1959; Second Baseman Bill Mazeroski, who hit .241, and Shortstop Dick Groat, who batted .275.

Bill Virdon and Bob Skinner, two outfielders, barely batted in 100 runs between 'em.

"They're all back in old form," said Danny. "Friend and Mazeroski have taken off weight which hampered them last year.

"The league is stacked with pretty tough teams, but if our pitching comes through, we'll be among the good finishers."

As now constituted, the Pirates are fairly well committed to an infield of Groat, Mazeroski, Don Hoak at third and Dick Stuart at first . . . to an outfield of Skinner, Gene Cimoli, Virdon or Roberto Clemente . . . to a pair of top-notch catchers in Hal Smith and Smoky Burgess.

"We have talked some deals," said Joe L. Brown, the general manager, "but I feel we should wait and see what we really need. Maybe a big trade could swing it."

Stuart New Kiner

Stuart is the new Ralph Kiner of the Buccaneers. The only job open to him is first base.

"His fielding leaves something to be desired," said Murtaugh. "We all know that. But he's not as bad as he used to be and he can learn.

"It's up to him . . . and he'll hit. In only 118 games he belted 27 homers and drove in 78 runs. That's like 40 homers and 100 RBIs in a full year."

The pride of the Buc mound corps is Roy Face. He didn't start a game in '59, but was in 57.

"He was always under pressure," said Danny. "I never called him in unless there was a run or two either way in the late inning. He was 17-0 the day he walked out against the Dodgers last September, with a one-run lead.

"There was a single and then one out and then Junior Gilliam tripled home the tying run. With infield in, Charley Neal hit between third and short and Face got beat.

He finished 18-1 with an earned-run mark of 2.71."

As Murtaugh turned away, he called back: ". . . and if the Dodgers don't win that one. They don't tie for the pennant and maybe the White Sox could have beaten Milwaukee, huh?"

Third-Place Tie In Bowling Meet

Frank Peters, Fort Wayne, Ind., rolling 830 in the scratch division, gained a third-place tie with Art Hartman, Collinsville, in the third weekend of the Fairmont Bowl Classic in Collinsville. The scratch leader is Lee Steiger, Alton, with 860.

There was one change in the handicap competition. Homer Henke, Bethalto, rolled into fourth place with 880. Carl Roman, Staunton, leads with 906.

NEGRO BOYCOTT URGED AGAINST EASTER FINERY

ATLANTA, Ga., April 5 (AP)—A new battle cry, "No fashions for Easter," has been sounded in the fight by Negroes for equal treatment in Southern business establishments.

Dr. Vivian Henderson, an economics professor at Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn., urged more than 500 Negroes at a meeting in Nashville to continue boycotting downtown business firms, even to the point of passing up Easter finery.

The boycotts were begun two weeks ago in support of efforts to end racial segregation at lunch counters. Henderson said, "Millions of dollars (are) being lost by the city of Nashville over a 25-cent hamburger."

In Memphis, Tenn., a two-week truce was broken when eight Negro students were arrested yesterday at public libraries restricted to white persons.

Two Negro ministers and 10 students got 180 days in jail and were fined $100 each after being convicted in Birmingham, Ala., last night on charges resulting from sitin demonstrations. All 12 said they would appeal.

Two Portland, (Ore.) Negroes were charged with the senseless beating to death of a white man. Paul Arnold Machen and Charles Ivan Patterson Jr., each 21 years old, were charged with murder. Police said they had been drinking and one of them reported they became upset over racial troubles in Africa and the South and wanted to do something about it.

The sitdown movement was renewed yesterday at High Point, N. C., where seven Negro high school pupils unsuccessfully sought service at Woolworth's. The demonstrators then moved to the McClellan store next door and were served standing up. Lunch counter stools had been removed after a previous sitdown.

Meanwhile, Southern University administrators estimated 260 of the 4850 registered students had withdrawn from the Baton Rouge (La.) college. Student leaders had asked for a mass withdrawal because of the arrests, but later reversed their request.

At Knoxville, Tenn., the school board approved a grade-a year plan for desegregation of city schools. It is similar to one in effect in Nashville.

JUDGE VOIDS ONE COUNT IN REP. POWELL TAX CASE

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP) — United States District Judge Frederick Van Pelt Bryan today dismissed one of three counts of an indictment charging Representative Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (Dem.), New York, with income tax evasion.

The action came after Government attorneys conceded failure to prove allegations of tax evasion involving the 1952 federal tax return filed by the Negro Congressman on behalf of himself and his wife, Hazel Scott, jazz pianist.

Judge Bryan dismissed the count as the Government began argument to answer the defense challenges to the validity of the entire indictment.

FURLOUGH AIR RATES URGED FOR MILITARY PERSONNEL

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Chairman James R. Durfee of the Civil Aeronautics Board urged Congress yesterday to authorize domestic air lines to carry military personnel on furlough at reduced fares.

Durfee told the Senate Aviation subcommittee the cut rate trips would be a justified break for uniformed men and women who have limited time off.

He said that if Congress approved a proposal to permit cut-rate fares for furloughed military personnel on flights between the other states and Alaska or Hawaii, the permission should be made general.

MERGER APPROVED BY UNIVERSALISTS AND UNITARIANS

BOSTON, April 5 (AP)—Overwhelming approval of a plan to consolidate the Unitarian and Universalist churches was announced yesterday, after a count in a plebiscite completed March 31.

Dr. William B. Rice, chairman of the Unitarian-Universalist Joint Merger Commission, said 91 per cent of the Unitarian churches and fellowships and 79 per cent of the Universalist societies voted approval. He said approval of 70 per cent of the participating units was required before further action could be taken.

The next step, Dr. Rice said, will be recommending the plan for final adoption at the annual meeting of the American Unitarian Association, and at a special meeting of the General assembly of the Universalist Church of America May 23 in Boston. If both assemblies adopt the plan, it will become effective in May, 1961.

VALUE OF $700,933 PLACED ON DORA SCHOFIELD ESTATE

The estate of Mrs. Dora J. Schofield was valued at $700,933 in an inventory filed yesterday in probate court. She had been secretary to every president of Anheuser-Busch Inc. in the firm's history.

Principal assets in the estate were corporation stocks with a current market value of $522,288; bonds valued at $111,766, cash and insurance, $43,277, and real estate, $20,500. She held $24,956 in shares of the brewery.

Her will, filed earlier, made specific bequests totaling $19,500 and directed that the residue be placed in a five-year trust fund for the benefit of two cousins, Louis Ford and Mrs. Robert A. Emnet, who lived with her at her home at 1939 Wyoming street. She died Jan. 11 at the age of 84.

MAN WORKING ON WARNING LIGHT HURT BY STREETCAR

John C. Wingren, a city traffic division employe, suffered a head injury yesterday when he was struck by a streetcar in the 5400 block of Delmar boulevard.

Wingren, 71 years old, was struck by an eastbound Delmar car while standing in the street working on a warning light at a safety island. The operator of the streetcar, Fielding Quincy, 1522 Bond avenue, East St. Louis, told police he saw Wingren but thought there was sufficient room to pass him.

Wingren was taken to City Hospital. He lives at 2020 South Eleventh street.

successor to remain effective. He added, however, that he would ask for an opinion from the Attorney General.

A spokesman for the Justice Department said yesterday it had received the President's request and was working on an opinion.

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, who is working hard for the Democratic nomination although not an announced candidate, said his position on a moratorium would depend in the first instance on its precise terms.

"I would not comment on any moratorium without knowing more about the total terms," the Senate majority leader said, "and the question of what I would do as President is completely academic.

"But it is obvious that the United States must always maintain good faith in its international dealings. A President is a temporary custodian of the words and pledges of the United Sttaes, and I would think that in international relations a President would have to have extreme provocation to repudiate an agreement made in good faith by his predecessor."

FTC TO INVESTIGATE FOOD CHAIN ACTIONS

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—The impact of chain-store business practices on independent growers and suppliers will be the next phase of the Federal Trade Commission's investigation of the food industry, Chairman Earl W. Kintner said yesterday.

Kintner told the National Independent Dairies Association that remedial steps will be taken if the study uncovers unfair trade practices, unwarranted discrimination or abuse of free competition.

He said the first stage of the investigation conducted last year, soon to be made public, reveals that stores selling more than $1000 a day now account for 70 per cent of retail food stores, compared with 4 per cent in 1929.

Kintner said the trend toward larger and fewer stores organizations should not discourage energetic promotion efforts by suppliers in the small-business category. The Robinson-Patman price discrimination law provides protection, he said, adding:

"Any pressure by a large retailer seeking preferential treatment from you violates that law."

MELVIN RITTER, JANE ALLEN TO GIVE RECITAL IN ALTON

Violinist Melvin Ritter and pianist Jane Allen will present a recital at the Alton Center Auditorium, 2809 College avenue, Alton, at 8:30 p.m. Friday. The recital will be part of Southern Illinois University's Southwestern Illinois Campus recital series.

Ritter, assistant concertmaster of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, and his wife, Miss Allen, gave a duo recital at Carnegie Hall in New York last September. In the recital Friday, the pair will play Beethoven's "Spring Sonata," the first movement of the Bloch Sonata and the F Major Sonata of Mendelssohn.

Individually, Ritter will play Bach's Adagio and Fugue for violin, and Miss Allen will perform the piano sonata of Charles Griffes. The program is open to the public without charge.

Davidson, now a Portland (Ore.) lawyer and Democratic national committeeman from Oregon, has 16 years experience with the Government. He formerly served with the Tennessee Valley Authority, the United States Housing Authority, the Bonneville Power Administration and as a member of the Econimoc Co-operation Administration.

As assistant secretary of the interior under President Truman, Davidson was in charge of the Bureau of Land Management, the Bureau of Mines, the United States Geological Survey, the National Parks Service and the entire program of the Department of the Interior for the Pacific Northwest.

ORCHESTRA, CHORUS SING FOR PIERRE MONTEUX, 85

BOSTON, April 5 (AP)—The Boston Symphony Orchestra broke into song last night when Pierre Monteux, oldest active symphony conductor, stepped on stage for a rehearsal.

The musicians, joined by the 120-voice chorus, gave out with "Happy Birthday to You," to Monteux, who was 85 years old yesterday.

Violinist Harry Ellis Dickson presented Monteux with a plaque from the State of Maine where he has his home in Hancock. With the ceremonies over, Monteux conducted the orchestra and chorus in Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, the number which he will conduct tomorrow night for the orchestra pension fund.

6 PCT. OF DIXIE NEGRO PUPILS INTEGRATED

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 5 (AP)—More than 180,000 Negroes—or 6 per cent of the total enrolled—are attending classes with white students in public schools in the South and "border states," Southern School News reports.

The publication, in its monthly report, said 524,425 of the 3,039,133 Negroes enrolled are in integrated school districts, but only 182,104 actually attend classes with whites. The white enrollment in the 17 Southern and border states is 9,901,310.

The report said the District of Columbia and West Virginia have complete integration in their school systems. Six states—Delaware, Kentucky, Maryland, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas — were listed as having "substantial" integration.

Arkansas, Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia have part integration, the publication said, and the five Deep South states of Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina maintain complete segregation.

Among the states, Missouri has the most Negroes attending classes with whites—about 35,000. The five states with complete segregation have a Negro enrollment of 1,391,921, or 46 per cent of the region's total.

MOTORS GET PLAY IN LATE TRADE; CLOSE HIGHER

NEW YORK, April 5 (UPI) — The stock market staged a late rally today with motors, chemicals, and scattered steels, aircrafts and drugs dominating the play.

The list closed with a modest gain, as it did yesterday, and marking the second rise in the last eight sessions.

Brokers have said that investors would have to be patient until the market had formed a base broad enough to support a rally worthy of the name. Price movements over most of the last 10 days have held within a narrow range in relatively light dealings.

Autos scored the bulk of their advance in the closing hour just as the electronics ran into some heavy selling. Ford jumped nearly 3 and Mack Trucks a point. Chrysler reported that sales jumped sharply in the last 10 days of March and the stock rose more than a point.

General Motors firmed following news that its Chevrolet division had record sales in March and the first quarter of the year.

The Associated Press reported that of 1192 issues traded, 559 rose and 400 fell. New 1960 highs totaled 68 and new lows 56.

Volume was 2,840,000 shares compared with 2,450,000 yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .80 to 215.20 with the industrials up 1.80, the rails up .10 and the utilities down .10.

BORROWING COST TO U.S. SHOWS NEW DROP

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP) — In very quiet dealings U.S. government bonds headed lower today.

Corporate bonds were mixed. High quality issues tended a shade easier. Several convertibles were strong in line with advances in the stock market.

Over-the-counter dealers quoted long term government bonds 2-32 to 6-32 lower while intermediate term issues were down 2-32 to 4-32.

Among foreign bonds Greek and Serbian issues advanced. Union of South Africa obligations made further recovery from their recent weakness.

The treasury's short term borrowing costs dropped for the fifth straight week. The current issue of 13-week bills brought a price equivalent to an average yield of 2.372 per cent, down from 2.792 per cent the previous week.

The 26-week bills sold at a rate of 2.927 per cent, dropping below 3 per cent in this category for the first time this year. A week ago the rate was 3.187 per cent.

Some market experts speculated that the new decline stemmed partly from last week's Treasury offering of up to 1½ billion dollars of a 25-year 4¼ per cent bond. Washington said subscriptions received above an informal target of $500,000,000 will be used to retire some of the outstanding 13-week bills.

Bidders who anticipate a good reception for the bonds may feel the supply of 13-week bills is about to be reduced. This would tend to push their market price up and yields down.

GOODYEAR TIRE PLANS TO SPEND 90 MILLION IN 1960

AKRON, O., April 5 (AP)—Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. stockholders were told that the company plans to spend $90,000,000 in 1960 for new production facilities and the expansion and modernization of present facilities.

E. J. Thomas, chairman of the board, told stockholders at their annual meeting the 1960 capital expenditure program exceeds the 1959 program by nearly $35,000,000. Goodyear now has 58 manufacturing locations throughout the world.

International Shoe Announces Lower Prices for Its Fall Lines

Size of Reductions Not Disclosed — Most Other Manufacturers Not Planning Cuts.

By William H. Kester
Post-Dispatch Business Correspondent

Lower shoe prices for fall lines have been announced by International Shoe Co., but most other shoe manufacturers say they do not expect any change in selling prices.

In almost every category of shoes, International has either reduced the price or made improvements in the quality of its fall lines, the company announced yesterday. Some of these price reductions will permit lower retail prices and, in almost all instances, the price cuts will improve retailers' profit margins, the announcement continued.

Company officials declined to indicate the size of the price reductions.

Retail prices of shoes rose about 7 per cent in 1959, according to the consumer price index compiled by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics. The rise was attributed largely to the advance in hide and leather prices last year.

Most other shoe manufacturers in St. Louis said they did not anticipate any change in prices of their fall lines. Brown Shoe Co. officials said they expected to complete the pricing of their shoes next Friday.

W. H. Kester

Prices of shoes manufactured by Samuels Shoe Co. for delivery next fall will be from 3 to 5 per cent less than prices of spring line season shoes, an official said yesterday. The reduction was attributed to a new marketing policy of keeping the retail price on 80 per cent of its shoes below $20.

The price changes instituted by International reflect current market conditions, the company said. Leather and hide prices are considerably lower than a year ago and orders received for shoes so far this year have been less than in the corresponding period of a year earlier. Some of the decline in orders has been attributed to bad weather in February and March and to the later date of Easter this year than last year.

However, sales in the next two months are expected to improve and there is a reasonable chance that the current season's total will equal that of last year, Robert O. Monnig, vice president of International, said yesterday.

Prices of light native cow hides in Chicago rose 2 cents to 23 cents a pound last week, but remained 5 cents a pound below the level of a year earlier. Leather prices in Feburary were about one sixth below the peak reached in May 1959, according to the United States Bureau of Labor statistics.

Dollar volume of sales of reporting furniture stores in the St. Louis metropolitan area in February was the same as in the February, 1959, the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis reported today. There was one more shopping day in February this year than last year.

Credit continued to be used to a smaller extent than in the comparable period last year. In February cash sales rose 11 per cent but credit sales declined 1 per cent from the corresponding totals last year.

Collections on accounts receivables and installment contracts in February were 23 per cent ahead of those in February, 1959.

Stanley Molasky, formerly president of Food Center Stores, has been appointed a registered representative of Morfeld, Moss & Hartnett, securities dealer.

Shelton W. Mozley of Fusz-Schmelzle & Co. has been elected to the board of directors of Mississippi Valley Helicopters, Inc. All seven of the original members were re-elected.

A. M. Schulten has been appointed president of Missouri Solvents and Chemical Co., a subsidiary of Central Solvents and Chemical Co. He replaces K. L. Simpson, who has been named president of an affiliated Cleveland firm.

Edward F. Noe has been named assistant secretary of Conrad, Inc., distiller, importer and wholesaler of wines and liquors.

Jesse F. Goodson has been appointed superintendent of the St. Louis division of Railway Express Agency.

John Kenyon has been named St. Louis district manager of Richardson Scale Co.

STOCK INCREASE VOTE

McDonnell Aircraft Corp. stockholders at a special meeting called for April 29 will vote on a proposal to increase the authorized shares of common stock to 8,000,000 from 2,000,000 and to change the par value to $2.50 from $5, so as to provide for the two-for-one stock split previously announced and for other corporate requirements.

After the increase in number of shares there will be 4,280,520 shares in excess of the 1,709,778 to be issued for the stock split and 299,520 for the incentive compensation plan. The company said it had no plans for issuance of the excess shares at this time.

BUSINESS FAILURES OF WEEK 2-YEAR HIGH

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—More businesses failed last week than during any week of the last two years, Dun & Bradstreet Inc., reported.

A total of 356 failed, two below the number recorded for the week of March 6, 1958 which was the highest toll since 1939.

The latest total was 70 above the previous week and compared with 284 in the similar week a year ago. The previous 1960 high was 318 for the week ended Feb. 4.

The business reporting agency said that all industry and trade groups except manufacturing reported more casualties than the previous week. The retailing toll rose the most, to 172 from 123. Manufacturing failures fell from 63 to 57.

The New England and West North Central States were the only regions of the country that reported fewer failures than the previous week. The biggest increases were in the west south central and south Atlantic regions.

Failures for the year to date, Dun & Bradstreet added, are running slightly behind 1959 at an average of 296 a week compared with 298.

LONDON STOCKS DEPRESSED BY NEW NATIONAL BUDGET

LONDON, APRIL 5 (AP)—The new British national budget had a depressing effect on the stock exchange today.

The budget, coupled with government warnings of a possible credit squeeze, caused buyers to move cautiously although industrial issues managed to mark up some of gains.

British government bonds were dull.

Gold shares attracted little attention. Diamonds and coppers were lower.

Oils started firm but then many issues lost fractions.

CONSUMER BUYING UP AS EASTER NEARS

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Easter business is making a brisk comeback in most areas after being walloped by a siege of bad weather. In some areas, however, merchants find sales falling behind the 1959 season.

A warming spring brought buyers into stores at a rate which promises record volume. However, in some cities storekeepers felt that the long-lasting winter had nipped the normal buying impulse and that sales would never reach last year's fine figures.

An Associated Press survey of 17 major cities indicated today that optimism is growing after a generally dismal outlook brought on by a plague of snow and ice.

Later Easter Helps.

Most business men said the calendar had rescued them from a debacle. With Easter falling on April 17, they had three later shopping weeks than last year.

Are buyers holding back because of recession fears or because of the stock market decline?

No, said most of the merchants surveyed. Weather was the villain.

In New York, Macy's reported sales spurted ahead of last year's record volume as spring weather arrived. James F. O'Grady, manager of the 56-store Bergen Mall shopping center in Paramus, N.J., said: "Most of our stores exceeded the 1959 Palm Saturday sales figure as early as March 19, a full three weeks before the date which is traditionally the top retail sales day of the Easter season." A Cleveland department store executive predicted considerably better business than last year, adding: "I'm starting to feel much more optimistic, especially when I can look out and see the sun melting a foot and a half of snow."

Outlook in Chicago.

Chicago merchants are looking for a bigger volume than last year because of the late-falling Easter. "The first mild days, Easter business will pop with a big bang," said James O'Brien, manager of Carson Pirie Scott & Co. In Atlanta, where early buying was knocked out by the worst ice storm in 74 years, merchants expressed confidence that sales may equal or slightly exceed 1959. Denver stores found buyers ready to pay more for quality and prestige goods. As a result, they expect a record season. An early lag in sales was encountered in Dallas, but merchants now say they are optimistic.

GRAIN PRICES LOWER ON PROFIT-TAKING

CHICAGO, April 5 (AP)—The grain futures market slowly retreated in the early afternoon today after having traded within a narrow range both above and below previous closes most of the time.

All grains except wheat were down major fractions in spots within a half hour of the close as selling described as profit taking increased in volume and resistance softened.

Wheat eased slightly despite support linked with sale of a million bushels of hard to Pakistan.

WARNS PLUMBERS OF WATER DISEASES

Strict enforcement of health and sanitation codes is the only way to prevent "death-dealing epidemics" from spreading through drinking water, Nathan Burbank Jr., dean of civil engineering at Washington University, said yesterday.

Addressing the seventy-sixth annual convention of the Missouri State Association of Master Plumbers, Burbank said that enforcement should especially be stressed in the installation of proper plumbing facilities. The three-day meeting at the Sheraton-Jefferson Hotel will end tomorrow.

Burbank urged also the licensing of those who install plumbing facilities. Without such protection, he said, "we shall slip to the very low level of 1933 when one faulty plumbing installation in Chicago caused 98 deaths from amoebic dysentery."

Most of the recent urban outbreaks of typhoid and dysentery have been caused by contamination of water after it had passed through the purification process, he asserted.

Joseph T. Sheehan, president of the association, warned of a growing shortage of water in this country and urged plumbers and the public to join in conserving water.

"Few realize that a slow drip from a faucet will waste 15 gallons of water a day," he said. He noted that the plumbing industry had designed flow control valves that help prevent leakage and excessive flow of water.

Jack Spillers of Jefferson City, first vice president of the association, told of a "quiet revolution" taking place recently in the planning of bathrooms.

The new plan, which stresses greater privacy, calls for the creation of separate dressing areas with lavatories and toilets for husband and wife, he said. Each area is equipped with a clothes closet, he added.

In an address prepared for today's session, Harry L. Stevens of Hutchinson, Kan., a director of the National Association of Plumbing Contractors, listed several advances in the plumbing industry.

These developments include single-handle faucets for sinks, off-the-floor water closets, vanity-type built-in lavatories with cabinets underneath, one-piece toilets and interchangeable units in all-brass fittings. He noted also a trend toward homes having a bath with every bedroom.

Maybe you've never bought any before—and wonder.

Where do you start, how do you begin?

Well, if you like to know the people you deal with, you'll probably want to start right in our office.

When you come in, the first person you see will simply ask if he can help—probably direct you to our manager. Or, if he's not free, you'll be introduced to one of our account executives. These are the men we pay to know all they can about stocks and bonds . . . to give you all the assistance you need when it comes to planning an investment program.

So, if you're brand new to stocks and bonds, he'll want to know something about your over-all circumstances, and why you want to invest. He may even raise the question whether or not you prudently should.

Then chances are, he'll talk to you about the different kinds of stocks that seem to fit your situation—the risks and rewards that are likely to go hand-in-hand with owning them.

At this point, if you want to, you can open an account and buy stock simply by giving the account executive your order.

Or, if you have a sizeable amount to invest, he might suggest that our Research Department draw up a complete and detailed program for your approval.

There's no charge for this extra service, of course, and you're not obligated in any way whether you become a Merrill Lynch customer—or don't.

Meanwhile, if you'd like to known more about investing before you come in, just ask for our pamphlet "What Everybody Ought To Know About This Stock And Bond Business."

It's easy to read, easy to understand, and sticks to the plainest English possible to give you the facts you want.

If you'd like a copy, we'll see that you get one. Simply address—

SYMINGTON ASKS FOR BOLD ACTION TO AID EDUCATION

MECHANICSBURG, Pa., April 5 (UPI)—Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri said last night America should "move forward boldly" to improve education by lowering interest rates and reducing "truly appalling" waste in government.

"We can't just procrastinate, postpone or pussyfoot any longer," said the candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination at a Democratic dinner in Cumberland county.

"I believe we should move forward boldly toward more classrooms, more teachers, better teachers because of better salaries," he said.

To this end, he said, "we should relax the tight money policy" and "provide federal aid for school construction."

Symington recalled the old riddle of "What has four eyes and can't see?"—the answer to which was "the Mississippi river."

"The answer today is the Republican Administration," he said. "It has four I's—ineptness, indifference, inflexibility and indecision."

He said Democrats also have four I's—"initiative, intelligence, interest and investment."

Symington said the average interest rate for school construction bonds has "doubled in the last five years."

To obtain better education, he said, taxes need not be raised but "we do have to cut down waste."

"I see billions a year being wasted in our current mismanaged farm program. A saving of two billion dollars a year would be enough to build 50,000 classrooms. It would be enough to give every teacher in America a raise in earnings of $1500 a year."

By the Associated Press.

Pennsylvania's Democratic Gov. David L. Lawrence, who said he had a previous speaking engagement, was not at the dinner. He has insisted the state's 81-vote Democratic delegation should remain neutral until the convention. Asked at a press conference what he thought of the prospect of having Lawrence, a Democratic national committeeman, as a running mate, Symington replied. "I don't think anyone else could make a better Vice President."

Marquess of Bristol Dies.

LONDON, April 5 (AP)—The Marquess of Bristol, for many years a British diplomat in South America, died in a hospital early today. The 89-year-old peer had broken his hip in a fall at his London home.

FIREWORKS PLANT OWNER KILLED IN THIRD BLAST

CLINTON, Mo., April 5 (AP)—An explosion wrecked the fireworks factory of Lawrence W. Brown last night for the third time in 13 years.

The first explosion, April 2, 1947, killed 10 persons and injured five. The second, March 21, 1952, killed one and hurt two. The one last night killed Brown.

After the first two blasts, Brown moved from a site outside Clinton into an old three-story brick building a block east of the courthouse square.

Last night, Brown, 78 years old, was working alone when a series of explosions destroyed the building and shattered windows in surrounding structures. His body was found in the debris.

TOOLS, EQUIPMENT STOLEN FROM 4 SOUTH SIDE GARAGES

Tools and other equipment were stolen from four garages in a South St. Louis neighborhood yesterday, police reported. In each case, entrance was gained through forcing a window.

Mrs. John Perry of 5215 Grace avenue reported that a box of tools and dies valued at $500 and an electric tool grinder valued at $50 were taken. Charles Zesch, a television repair man of 5511 South Thirty-Seventh street, said that a cabinet filled with TV tubes valued at $400, a tube tester worth $50 and a box of tools valued at $20 was missing from his garage.

Lawrence Holman of 5521 South Thirty-Seventh told police that tools and other equipment valued at $210 was taken from his garage. George Sterzik of 5525 South Thirty-Seventh reported a hydraulic floor jack valued at $86 was missing.

U.S. CHARGES FRANK LEAHY MISLED OIL STOCK BUYERS

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Government lawyers said yesterday that former Notre Dame football coach Frank Leahy used false and misleading information to sell oil stock to friends and acquaintances.

Leahy said in Los Angeles, "I have done nothing dishonest."

In a brief filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission, SEC lawyers said he used his name in 1958-1959 to sell the stock of Hamilton Oil & Gas Corp. and had misled buyers about what the lawyers called the limited production of its oil wells.

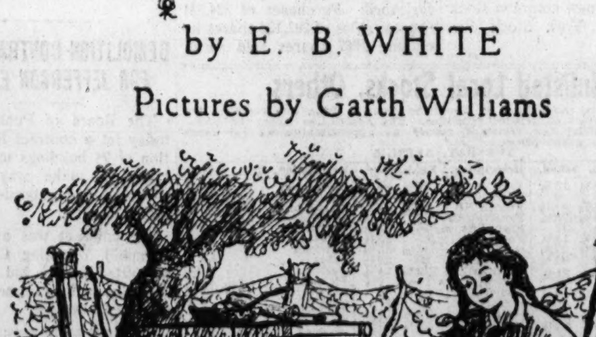

They said Leahy also failed to tell prospective buyers about his own financial interest in the securities or about Hamilton Oil's "precarious financial condition."

Cloudy and Warm Tomorrow

FORECAST
—Associated Press Wirephoto.
Low temperatures and areas of precipitation expected tonight.

Fair and slightly warmer weather is expected in the St. Louis area tonight, with increasing cloudiness and continued warm tomorrow, the Weather Bureau said today.

Temperatures dropped rather sharply in the Missouri-Illinois area last night. Joplin reported 36 this morning. Quincy had a reading of 36, Kirksville 33 and Malden 39.

The nation's highest temperature reading yesterday was 97 at Imperial, Calif., and Yuma, Ariz. The lowest reading was 17 above at Fraser, Colo.

Mild, damp weather extended along the entire east coast from Florida to Maine this morning ahead of a stationary front that lay just east of the Appalachian Mountains. Temperatures ranged from the 30s in northern New England to the 70s in Florida last night. Rain fell over most sections of the Atlantic seaboard.

Clearing skies brought relief to the flood-plagued midwest this morning as cooler and drier air moved southward ahead of a high pressure area centered over the northern plains. A Pacific cold front caused cloudiness and some sprinkling over coastal areas of Washington and Oregon.

Heating degree days in the St. Louis area yesterday, 19; the month, 62; the season, 4946.

RED CHINA GOT $750,000,000 IN RUSSIAN PLANTS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., April 5 (AP)—A United Nations report showed last night that in four years the Soviet Union shipped Communist China equipment for complete industrial plants valued officially at almost three-quarters of a billion dollars.

The U.N.'s "Yearbook of International Trade Statistics—1958" listed such shipments for 1955 through 1958 at 2,933,500,000 rubles, or $733,375,000 at the official exchange rate of four rubles to the dollar.

That was well above half of Soviet exports of equipment for complete industrial plants to all countries for that four-year period. The grand total was 4,952,600,000 rubles.

The Russians exported such equipment valued at $175,125,000 to Poland, $51,825,000 to Bulgaria, $38,625,000 to Romania, $11,775,000 to Czechoslovakia, $9,175,000 to Hungary and $1,725,000 to the Egyptian region of the United Arab Republic.

The exports to Egypt rose steeply from negligible in 1955 to $25,000 in 1956, $475,000 in 1957 and $1,225,000 in 1958. To East Germany, they were $1,150,000 in 1956, $1,250,000 in 1957 and negligible the other two years.

The yearbook is rare among U.N. statistical publications in that it gives a picture of trade relations within the Communist world.

Within that sphere, it showed Communist China to be the Soviet Union's leading customer for petroleum products and the Soviet Union's chief supplier of minerals, wool, meat, vegetable oils, raw tobacco and clothing.

It brought out that in 1958, the latest year covered, the Soviet Union had an unfavorable balance of trade with Communist China—that is, it did not sell it enough to pay for what it bought from China. The Soviet Union also had unfavorable balances with Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and East Germany—but favorable balances with Hungary, North Korea, Outer Mongolia, Poland and Romania.

In 1957, the Soviet Union's trade balance with the whole world was favorable. But in 1958, it turned unfavorable, partly because of bigger imports of such consumer goods as food and clothing.

NEW HELP FOR MILLIONS WITH EAR WAX TROUBLE

New formula removes impacted ear wax safely, painlessly at home

An amazing number of people suffer from deeply impacted ear wax (cerumen). Some have it painfully removed with instruments. Others try poking it out and risk puncturing their ear drums. Still others do not even realize they have it. They only know their ears feel blocked. But until now, there has been no effective home remedy.

Recently scientists developed a new formula for removing stubborn ear wax. It works in minutes, without the pain of instruments. It is formulated of medically-tested ingredients used by doctors on thousands of patients. This is the selfsame formula you get in Kerid® Drops without prescription.

It is remarkable how fast New Formula Kerid Drops work. Suddenly your ears feel good again, clear, unblocked. Get Kerid today and feel the remarkable difference.

The big difference is

Flood Pattern in Levee Break

Flood waters of the Mississippi cut a swirling course through farm yard following break in levee along the river near Meyer, Ill., yesterday. National Guard and civilian volunteers were forced to flee when the levee they were struggling to strengthen gave way under the pounding of the river. Within a few hours, more than 30,000 acres were under water. More of the countryside was being inundated today as floodwaters crept over the lowlands at the rate of about 100 yards an hour.

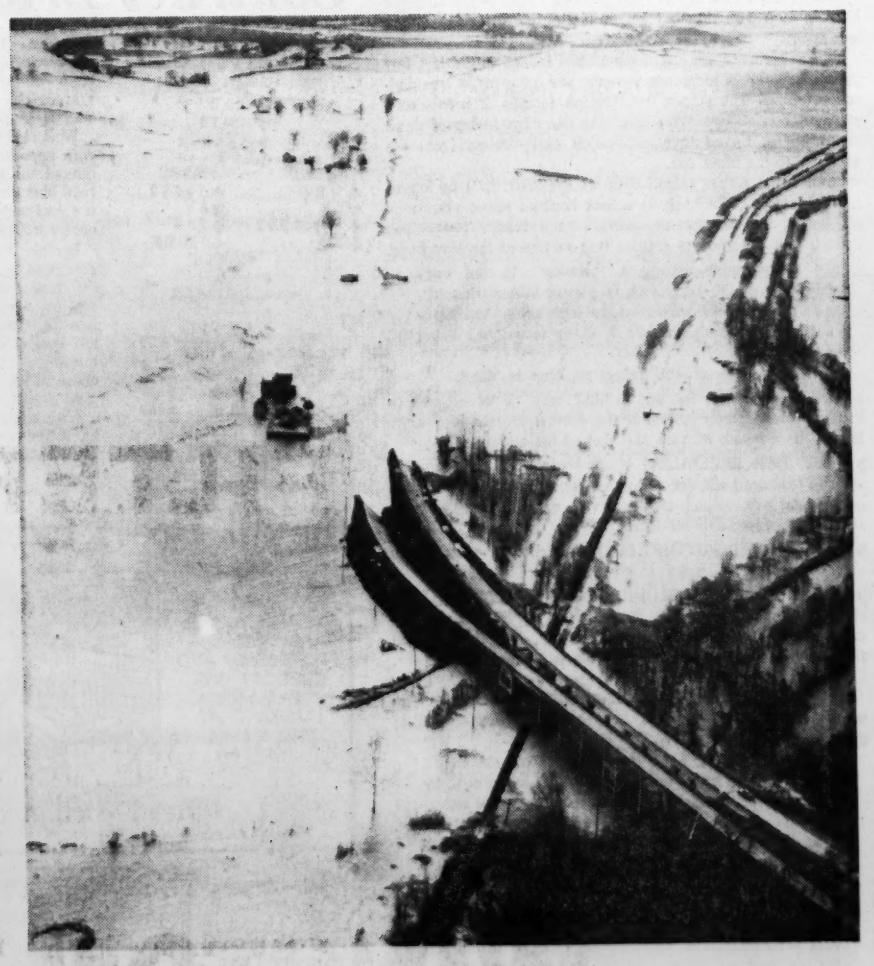

Girded Against A Hostile World

Farmer's second line of defense, his own levee system, is put to the test as the flooding Mississippi covers the countryside around Canton, Mo. Elsewhere, damage to farm buildings and stored crops was expected to be considerable as floodwaters took over the threatened countryside from which hundreds of families had been evacuated.

Triumphant Return to London

French President Charles de Gaulle, wearing his World War II brigadier general's uniform, rides with Queen Elizabeth in open landau in London today on way from Victoria station to Buckingham Palace. A crowd of 100,000 cheered De Gaulle who had not been in London for nearly 16 years. Today was the first public appearance of the Queen since the birth Feb. 19 of her third child, Prince Andrew. The wartime leader of the Free French forces will spend three days in Britain.—PI Radiophoto.

The Wide Missouri

Vast sweep of the Missouri river in flood marks end of the road for travelers on Highway 40 east of Boonville. The rampaging river covers much of its historic flood plain after surging over its banks and breaching levees for many miles through the center of the state. Additional widespread flooding is in prospect as the flood crest moves down stream, arriving in the St. Charles area late Friday.

Rites of Spring; First Barbecue

"We may live without friends;
"We may live without books;
"But civilized man cannot live without cooks."

IT IS NOW officially spring and we have been celebrating certain pagan rites peculiar to our part of the country.

We have been scouring out the barbecue. ($9.95. Cook now; pay later.)

When mystic spring comes 'round, the barbecue should be scoured out by a fair young maiden.

Our fair young maiden saw what was going on and pleaded a sad case of homework.

"You don't want me to flunk biology; do you? Gosh!"

She then retreated to her room and turned on the hi-fi. You cannot study without the hi-fi on. Anybody knows that.

After I scrubbed out the barbecue I went down and bought a dollar's worth of gravel. A bed of gravel is needed to make the coals burn better.

Many people do not know where to get a dollar's worth of gravel. But I do. You get it at a pet store. You say: "Give me a dollar's worth of gravel for my canary." I bought $1.69 worth of charcoal from the hardware store.

I laid the bird gravel in the newly scoured barbecue—our barbecue is just a big round pan on three legs. It is not an elegant barbecue and we are a little ashamed. Most of our neighbors have hand-built brick barbecues. In the winter, they encase them in war surplus bubbles—like the kind they put on cannon. We just have a little old portable barbecue. But it is the thought that counts, I always say. Anyway, we do not cook on our $500 stove like squares.

I put on my apron with the funny sayings: "What's yours? Rare, medium or well done? I'm the Chef, etc."

All over the house you could hear people whispering: "Don't go out there, Daddy's barbecueing."

It was a sacred hour.

Well, I put some Sunday papers in the pan. And a few twigs on top. And a few charcoal briquets on top of that. And I touched her off.

The Sunday paper made a tremendous blaze.

When it died down, the twigs were still there. I felt them. Cold as a banker's heart.

I got out a can of fire-starter. It is fluid. You squirt it out of the can. I hate to do this because it is like cheating. I remember in my Boy Scout book where it quoted a wise Indian:

"Paleface build heap big fire, no can get close. Injun build little fire, get heap close, keep heap warm. Ugh!"

What a heap big fire! I could not get within 20 feet of it and yet I was heap warm.

The fire-starter burned off. I felt the charcoal. It was not even room temperature.

I murmured some of the words we use in these rites. (But I cannot print them here.)

I sprayed some more fire-starter and got a little smoke. Then I stood off and threw cupfuls of the stuff on. More smoke.

I got the elk steaks out of the freezer. The elk steaks are sent to me by Mr. Walter Ramage, the Reno sportsman. (He can hardly shoot eight the hard way and I think this elk must have given himself up voluntarily.)

The barbecue gave off little puffs. I took a piece of paper and lit it and threw it at the charcoal. BOOM!

I tell you it nearly took the eyebrows off me! A little mushroom cloud rose off the barbecue. And everybody yelled: "Daddy blew himself up!"

The rites now being finished, I went in the kitchen and mixed myself a ritual cup of cooking sherry.

And into our spring sky rose the holy smoke.

Hearing Difficulties

I SERIOUSLY DOUBT whether enough is being said and written about hearing difficulties. Because the fact is that some wonderful things are going on these days.

When I was young, there was relatively little that could be done for the person having impaired hearing. Over the last 25 years or so, hearing aids have improved amazingly. It was just a little over 10 years ago that the transistor was invented. Since then it has been possible to put much stronger hearing aids with tiny but longer lasting batteries into much less space.

Likewise over the last decade (and indeed in the last few years) techniques for surgery in the ear have made tremendous progress. The stapes mobilization (stapes is pronounced stay-peas) is an operation involving one of a series of three small bones, linked together, which carry sound from the eardrum to the inner ear.

For if the stapes (also known as the "stirrup") no longer moves properly, obviously it cannot conduct sound vibrations efficiently, and the hearing suffers as a result. The stapes operation is designed to restore free motion of the tiny bone.

Fenestration—cutting a "window" in the bony labyrinth of the inner ear, to permit better transmission of sound—is another useful operation. And there are an increasing number of other techniques being put to good use.

Now there are several things to keep in mind:

▸ WHAT IS BEST for one patient may be of no use to another. Stapes mobilization is the perfect answer for some. It may be a waste of time and money for another.

▸ THE EAR SPECIALIST is the only one who can tell what YOU need. If he says a hearing aid is your best course, get one, relying on his advice on choice of the most satisfactory type, and the fitting of it.

▸ DON'T KEEP PUTTING IT OFF. Some conditions grow steadily worse and harder to correct.

▸ SOME PEOPLE WILL get the disappointing news that something has happened to the auditory nerve, and nothing can be done for them. But the majority, by far, will find that they can be helped by one known method or another.

"Dear Dr. Molner:

"I SUNBURN EASILY, and my skin never got back to normal until about January. Is there any lotion or pill to prevent this? J.W."

Well, there's a drug (tablet form) called 8-MOP, which is short for "8-methoxypsoralen" being used by skin specialists. It must be given under medical supervision. The idea is to darken the skin more rapidly at first, and thus prevent burning. I know of some people it has helped, and of others who didn't benefit. But it's the only thing I know of in that direction.

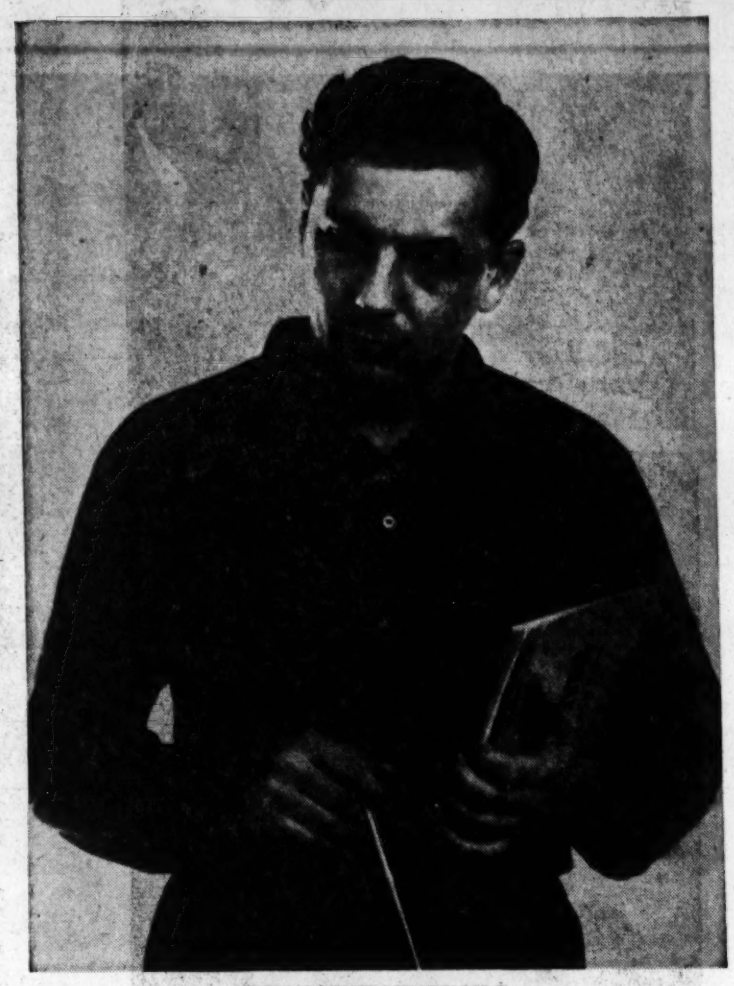

Otherwise, with such tender skin, start tanning early each year, and in very small doses of exposure. And even after that, don't expose yourself to the sun for as long as do the tough-hided sun worshipers. Remember there are lotions and oils which help by filtering out some of the ultra-violet light.

Dr. Molner welcomes reader mail but, due to the volume received, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Commuting Conductor of Philharmonic

Stefan Bauer-Mengelberg Has Flown Here Weekly to Rehearse for Thursday Night Concert

STEFAN BAUER-MENGELBERG

By Virginia Irwin
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

NEW YORK, April 5.

HARD-WORKING Stefan Bauer-Mengelberg has been commuting between New York and St. Louis for six weeks to conduct Wednesday night rehearsals of the St. Louis Philharmonic Orchestra. On Thursday night, he will be guest conductor at the orchestra's final concert of the season in Kiel Auditorium Opera House.

The German-born, American-trained conductor sings the praises of the century-old orchestra.

"It's an amazing group," he says. "Working with them has come to be the high point of my week.

"Your Philharmonic is really a fantastic organization. The devotion with which those musicians work, their dedication to music, the way the group is held together by sheer love of music, makes it so easy to work with them. They do their utmost to satisfy a conductor's every wish and in addition to all this they have the best rehearsal manners of any orchestra I've ever seen or heard."

Bauer-Mengelberg is not alone in his admiration for the St. Louis Philharmonic. It has been called the finest non-professional orchestra in the world. Made up of housewives, students, dentists, engineers, business men and persons from all walks of life, its 95 musicians actually pay to play with the Philharmonic. And each musician must submit to an annual audition to hold his or her place in the ranks. There is always fresh, outside talent clamoring for the privilege of playing with the Philharmonic.

Founded in 1860, 20 years before the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, the St. Louis Philharmonic is the second oldest orchestra in the United States. Only the New York Philharmonic is older.

"It's a great privilege for me to work with the two oldest orchestras in the country during the same season," said Bauer-Mengelberg, who is an assistant conductor of the New York Philharmonic. "It is also an honor to have been chosen to conduct the St. Louis Philharmonic during its centennial season."

Born in Heidelberg, Germany, in 1927, Stefan Bauer-Mengelberg came to the United States with his mother in 1939. They escaped from Germany into Holland on Sept. 1 of that year, just six hours before the German borders were closed and Nazi troops marched into Poland.

Young Stefan and his mother, who had been a professor of economics at the University of Frankfurt, moved to Ames, Ia. There his mother obtained a teaching position at Iowa State College and Stefan attended public schools. After high school, he attended Iowa State for two years and then went on to Rutgers University after his mother had transferred to its faculty. In 1946 he was drafted into the Army and spent a year in United States military government administration in Korea.

"I must have been the only G.I. who ever liked Korea," he said with a laugh. "I was at Chonju and thoroughly enjoyed every minute of the months I was there."

It was during his months in the Army that Stefan finally decided to become a professional musician. His father, from whom his mother had been divorced, was a lawyer, but his uncles were all musicians. One uncle, the famous Willem Mengelberg, was director of the New York Philharmonic from 1920 to 1930. Stefan had been pursuing musical studies and now out of the Army he determined to continue, but first he decided to develop the liberal side of his education at New York University.

"And what could be more liberal than philosophy?" he asked. "So I majored in philosophy, got my degree, and was little by little seduced by the faculty into staying on as a graduate student. I started to teach a little but found that studying philosophy was more fun than teaching it, so I began to hang around the mathematics department. But they were very snobbish about it until on Aug. 4, 1952, they found a class over-enrolled and had no idea where to get a mathematics teacher at that late hour. Their snobbery suddenly disappeared and I became a member of the math department. But I decided to make an honest woman out of New York University and got my master's in math after teaching for four years."

Having developed the liberal side of his education to something near satisfaction, Stefan turned to music in earnest in 1952 while still an instructor in philosophy and mathematics at New York U.

"I started to study conducting, but I realized it would be a long and weary process, so I used my academic occupations to finance my music studies," he related. "In one year I taught at three institutions simultaneously while pursuing my conducting work on the side. I taught math at N.Y.U., math at Hunter College and was a voice coach at Sarah Lawrence College in Bronxville and still found time for conducting lessons and study by putting in 16-hour days."

During these years of what he calls "unbelievable chaos," Stefan also found time to act as editorial and research assistant on a project for Widener Library of Harvard University, while pursuing his conducting studies with Carl Bamberger in New York.

Later came studies with Leonard Bernstein at Tanglewood and three years ago, on a Frank Huntington Beebe Fund fellowship, Stefan was able to put in a year's study in Paris. This important fellowship is given to only three or four musicians a year and the grant cannot be applied for. It must come through recommendation. In Stefan's case, the recommendation came from Leonard Bernstein of the New York Philharmonic. In 1958 Stefan acted as assistant to Carl Schuricht, who conducted the United States tour of the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra and then on a scholarship to the Juilliard School of Music began work as a special student under Jean Morel.

"I want very much to do music in America," Stefan says. "The development of symphonic culture here has been staggering. The number of new orchestras springing up and the acceptance of American-trained conductors is simply wonderful. As short a time as 15 years ago if you called someone an American conductor it was almost an insult. Leonard Bernstein was, of course, chiefly instrumental in breaking the barriers. He has put the American musician on the map in a way never done before and all American musicians are in his debt."

Last September Stefan was appointed assistant conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra. And during 1959 he had one last fling at a job outside the world of music. He was hired by International Business Machines Corp. to put his knowledge of mathematics to work on an electronic high speed computer.

"I had a wonderful time," he recalled. "I designed the Logic Macro-Generator for the 7070 Antocoder." All that means is that I developed a way the machine could solve logic problems presented to it."

Unmarried, he lives in the same small apartment he occupied as a student. His mother is now head of the sociology department at Upsala College, East Orange, N.J. A handsome, six-footer, he has no hobbies because whenever he becomes interested in some endeavor he pursues it too seriously for it to remain in the hobby class. He spends his free evenings attending concerts, plays the piano, harpsichord and celesta, and collects the works of contemporary painters whose fame is not yet sufficient to price their works out of reach.

After the Thursday night concert of the St. Louis Philharmonic, Stefan will go to Ames, Ia., to visit old friends of his student days.

"In St. Louis I found the same warm hospitality I knew when I had just come to America and settled with my mother in Iowa," he says. "Actually in my trips to St. Louis to conduct rehearsals I have found the hospitality of St. Louisans overwhelming. I am convinced that only in the Midwest is this openness and generosity to be found."

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♥	2♦	3♥	Pass
4♦	Pass	4♥	Pass
6♥

FOR AN EXAMPLE of good technique in the play of the cards, we have this hand which occurred in a team of four match. The bidding is given the way it took place.

West led a diamond and it was apparent that the contract hinged on avoiding the loss of two club tricks. Declarer was not inclined to stake the result on the success of a club finesse.

In line with these thoughts, therefore South ruffed the opening lead, postponing a discard on the ace of diamonds until later. His aim was to eliminate the spades and diamonds from dummy's hand and his own in order to set up an eventual end-play position.

After cashing the A-K of hearts he ruffed another low diamond. Then he cashed two high spades and ruffed a spade in dummy.

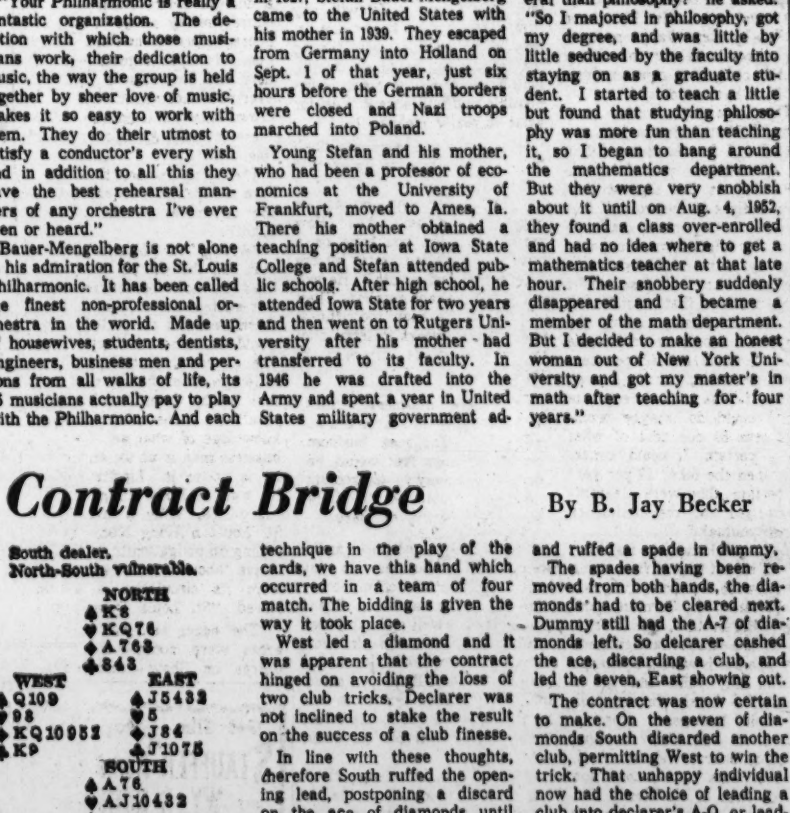

The spades having been removed from both hands, the diamonds had to be cleared next. Dummy still had the A-7 of diamonds left. So delcarer cashed the ace, discarding a club, and led the seven, East showing out.

The contract was now certain to make. On the seven of diamonds South discarded another club, permitting West to win the trick. That unhappy individual now had the choice of leading a club into declarer's A-Q, or leading a diamond which would permit dummy to ruff as South discarded the queen of clubs.

So declarer made the slam which would have failed if he had relied solely on the luck of the club finesse. The elimination play worked.

Job Talks

by KAY WILLIAMS
OF
Kay Williams Personnel
14th Floor, Paul Brown Bldg.

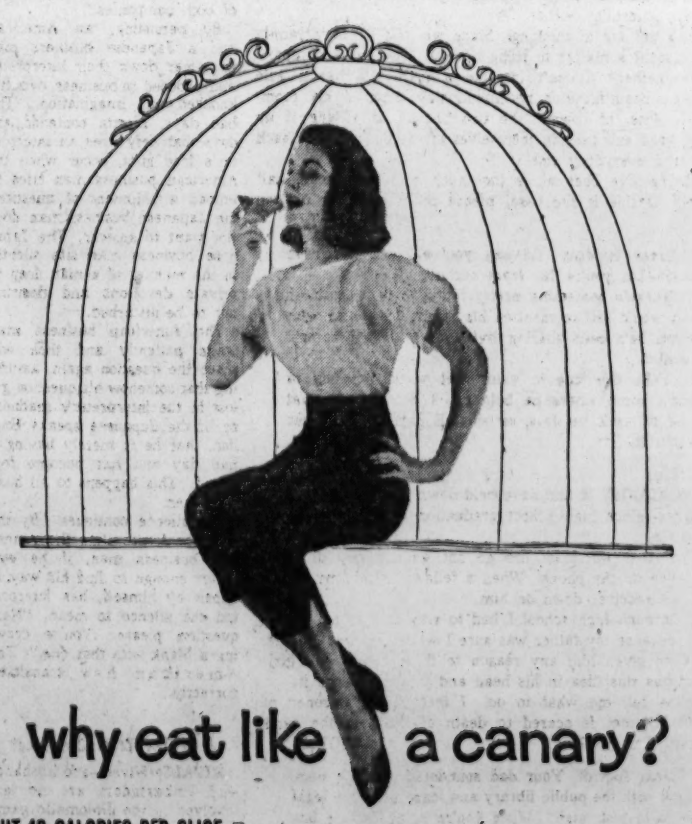

For at least five years my friends and staff have been adding fire to an urge I already had—to write a column about the complexities of jobs. How they affect us—is it you with the problem or is it your job? "Should all men and women doing office or technical work be happy in all types of work?"—that sort of problem—plus hundreds more.

Seeing all the columns on financial, business, beauty, diet, fashion, lovelorn and marriage problems has made me realize many times that a terribly important part of our lives is being overlooked—and that is the subject of "JOBS."

So that's what I'm doing here . . . week after week. I would be happy to have you look for me here every Tuesday, starting today. I'll bring up different points each week—maybe one or more will have something to do with YOU., I hope so.

As for me, my husband, Mr. John D. Williams and I own Kay Williams Personnel, an employment service for both men and women—and we are located on the 14th Floor of the Paul Brown Building, 818 Olive Street in Downtown St. Louis. We are now in our 18th year, and during these years we have worked with thousands of people from the beginners to top executives.

With our staff members we are working constantly to solve job problems and create "THE HAPPY WORKER."

Gridiron Melody By Helen Prange

THE OTHER DAY I found myself humming a catchy tune that goes, "Everything comes out in the springtime." When I realized what it was, I laughed. The inevitable lines followed:

"Then in 1950 I wrote . . ."

HELEN PRANGE

"Everything Comes Out In the Springtime" was an original song written for the 1949 gridiron show of the Women's Advertising Club. The somewhat less-than-immortal lyric ("from Ladue down to the river, spring makes every liver quivver") were written by me but the reason the song has stayed with me all these years is the good bouncy melody written by Helen Prange.

I don't know how Oscar Hammerstein feels about this but I think a song stands or falls according to its melody. If it isn't singable or danceable, the lyrics can be clever as all get-out but no one will leave the show, humming it.

Tomorrow night, as guests leave the gridiron, humming "Queens Are Wild," the lyrics will be by Elinor Ohrn, the music again by Helen Prange, who has written her thirteenth original for the biggest amateur show in town. Each year for the six weeks preceding the show, she also works as its rehearsal pianist, pounding out the beat and changing keys for women who sing "no, not in that key—no, not that one either—somewhere between the two."

Perhaps the most remarkable thing about Helen's talent is the way everyone takes it for granted. The other day I sat at Helen's desk at Jaccard's jewelry store where she's advertising manager and learned just how substantial her musical background is.

To begin with, she came from a musical family. Her older brother, Harold, played violin, later good jazz piano. Her sister, Lorene, now Mrs. Herbert Kolkmeyer, was contralto soloist at the Church of the Ascension for 20 years, and is married to the organist at Centenary Methodist Church. Younger brother, Fred, studied banjo, her father played guitar, her mother, the mandolin.

"And in the days before radio, we really had fun—or at least made a lot of noise with our family orchestra," Helen says.

She began studying at age 9 and continued until 30, mostly with Eleanor Uljee, who made her debut with the St. Louis Symphony. Helen hoped to become a concert pianist but when she was 18 her father died and she went to work. At Selle Jewelry Co. she started as "the girl in the office," eventually became advertising manager and in recent years moved over to Jaccard's.

In 1932 she joined the Women's Ad Club and was the "orchestra" for its first gridiron in 1935. For the second show she became a comedienne and many still remember her skit on "What the tired business woman does before she goes to bed," from donning her chin strap to soaking her feet. A tall blonde with a crackly voice that makes you laugh at whatever she says, Helen was a star of the show for many years. In 1945, Bea Adams said to her, "We're going to have an original song this year and you're going to write it," The song was, "Bumped By ODT," which Dorothy Ward sang. Since then she's done an original almost every year, and loves it.

"It's thrilling to get lyrics and try to match their meaning in tone and rhythm and enthusiasm with a music pattern," she says. She works out a one note lead melody which she calls the "formula." Adding the harmonic structure is "like working out a mathematical problem." Whenever she hears someone "wrote a song in five minutes," she's highly skeptical.

Helen and I worked out one song ("Fasten Your Seat Belts," in 1957) over the telephone and it was much fun. That one was put on a record and got quite a radio and TV play around town. But our favorite is still, "Everything Comes Out In the Springtime." Oscar Hammerstein couldn't be prouder of "Oklahoma!"

Ann Landers

Her Wandering Boy

Dear Ann:

MY HUSBAND is out of town on a job that keeps him away from home several months at a time. He is batching with a fellow worker I've never met.

When I wrote and asked whether this man was married, my husband replied that he didn't poke his nose into other people's business. He also made it plain the guy didn't ask him any questions, either.

This got me to thinking. Since when is a man's family too personal a matter to bring up when you share an apartment together? I can't imagine a man who has a wife and four beautiful kids not mentioning them to his roommate—unless, of course, the two "boys" are living it up pretty good and passing themselves off as bachelors to each other and everybody else.

Maybe I've been alone too much and I'm getting half cuckoo. If this is the case, please tell me. What do you say? HIDDEN WIFE

Dear Hidden: I'd say you've been alone too much—but you're far from cuckoo.

There's something pretty flaky about a husband who would fail to mention his family to a man with whom he's been sharing living quarters for several months.

Take this cue to yank that wandering boy of yours home where he belongs. I don't know what kind of work he does, or what it pays—but it's not worth it.

Dear Ann:

I'M ALMOST 20 and have held down a good job for over two years—since high school graduation—and I have never had a date.

My father won't let me go out with a boy or even talk to one on the phone. When a fellow phones, my father slams the receiver down on him.

All through high school I had to stay away from school parties because my father was sure I would get into trouble. I've never given him any reason to think I'm a bad girl. He just has this idea in his head and I can't change it.

Please tell me what to do. I feel like a prisoner in jail. My mother is scared to death of Dad, so she can't help me. Can you? INGRID.

Dear Ingrid: Your dad sounds like a sick man. Check with the public library and learn what the legal age is in your state. When you're of age, move into a private home with a respectable family and lead a normal life.

A few more years under this tyrant's iron rule and you'll be as sick as he is.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for Ann Landers's booklet, "How to Be Date Bait," inclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

St. Louisan's Business Adventures in Japan

Robert J. Lipsitz Learned It Takes Time to Close Deals in Tokyo, but It Was Profitable Experience

ROBERT J. LIPSITZ

LIPSITZ at a business conference in Japan with TOYOICHIRO FUJIMORI.

By Jack Rice
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff

THE BIGGEST three little words in the import business are "Made in Japan," but East does not meet West without a strain. By trial and error, by headache and by aspirin, Robert J. Lipsitz of St. Louis has put together a set of ground rules for an American doing business in Japan.

During the past five and a half years Lipsitz has made 10 trips to Japan and has totaled about 15 months there. He has become Orientally passive to business conferences that won't get down to business. He has developed a professional code-expert's fondness for Japanese imitations of business letters written in English. He has developed patience. He has developed profits. Patience and profits seem to be made together, in Japan.

Lipsitz estimates that he spoke 12 words of Japanese on his first trip and maintains that on his tenth trip his Japanese vocabulary amounted to the same 12 words, slightly rusted. His attitude is that a man can go to Japan to learn the language or to do business, but life is too short to do both.

A great many Japanese speak English and a great many other Japanese business men do not. Lipsitz and his first contacts among Japanese manufacturers met on equal terms. Neither understood a word the other was saying. Lipsitz had braced himself to speak through a third party, but he was not prepared for the Japanese improvement on the language barrier. He was not prepared for the Interpreter Barrier.

A Japanese interpreter is not satisfied with the normal confusion going on around him in two languages, according to the Lipsitz studies of the situation. Some strong inner call obliges a Japanese interpreter to make improvements upon the message entrusted to his care.

If the interpreter does not like the content of a sentence he will blithely turn it upside down, shake out the matter that offends him, and substitute something that pleases him better.

"The interpreter," says Lipsitz, "thinks he is the president of both companies."

By persisting, an American and a Japanese business man can wear down their interpreter and proceed to business, over his knocked-out imagination. The bad days, Lipsitz contends, the days that defy even an interpreter's free gifts, occur when the American business man tries to unload a shipment of questions the Japanese business man does not want to answer. The Japanese business man sits silently in the manner of a man deep in private devotions and desiring not to be disturbed.

The American business man waits patiently and then will place the question again, assuming that somehow his question got lost in the interpreter's madness or, if the Japanese speaks English, that he is merely having a bad day and has become fogbound. This happens to all business men.

The silence continues. By the third or fourth time the American business man, if he was smart enough to find his way to Japan by himself, has interpreted the silence to mean, "Next question, please. You're drawing a blank with that one." The American has translated correctly.

"I have tried coming back to such a question," Lipsitz said, "thinking I was cleverly rewording a request for the same information. In return I have received a question that had nothing to do with the point I was trying to determine. That means the same thing as silence: Bring up another subject."

Lipsitz is a good American business man to have abroad, a man with an observant and appreciative eye. He has been amused by some Japanese business procedures but he never has felt obliged to consider himself in a backward land.

"The Japanese became very leery of United States business men after a few American filling station owners passed themselves off as the biggest dry-goods dealers in the world," Lipsitz said. "Japanese manufacturers were led down a one-way street by many a United States business man. I resolved I wouldn't make that mistake. I want to do business with the Japanese a long time so I made certain I could do 100 per cent what I promised them. I even went so far as to underestimate what I could do, maybe promising them 80 per cent of what I was certain I could order. Then when the other 20 per cent was certain, they were pleasantly surprised and the confidence became mutual."

He is president of Kalimar, Inc., an export-import firm doing a world-wide business in goods manufactured in Germany and Japan. His brother, Abe Lipsitz, handles the travel assignments to Europe but is willing to change direction any time and go to Japan. The Lipsitz brothers direct their businesses from a building at 4916 Shaw avenue. The entry door is labeled Arel, Inc., the name of a second and separate firm in the family that serves as a distributing agency for Kalimar.

Professional cameramen for the past half-dozen years or so have been excellent propagandists for the quality of Japanese cameras and Lipsitz was one of the first in his business to negotiate with Japanese camera manufacturers. This is fortunate for Lipsitz and has been fortunate for the Japanese, too, but the fact that Lipsitz deals in cameras is relatively unimportant to his discoveries on Japanese business life. His experiences would have been similar if he had gone there to deal in the egg-beater market.

Otis Garland, a vice president of Kalimar and a bemused admirer of the Japanese in business, said, "Bob, tell about the Japanese inability to say 'No.' "

"They refuse to say 'No,' " Lipsitz said, "and that can be disastrous. Supose you ask a Japanese manufacturer if he can have so many units on a boat within a month. He will say 'Yes' although he knows the order is impossible. He figures that you, too, being an intelligent man, know the order is impossible and will accept 'Yes' for what it really means—'No.' "

Lipsitz nodded sympathetically at my struggle to figure that out.

"The proper way to ask a question," he said, "is, 'How many units can you have on a boat to the United States by the fifteenth of next month?' He will tell you the exact number. They will be on the boat, too. But it took me four years to learn how to ask questions properly in Japan.

"Japanese business ethics are excellent. But there are no secrets in Japanese business circles. Things that would be be a company's top-secrets here are published in daily business papers over there.

"A friend — American — and I were talking business in my hotel room on one of my early trips to Japan and my friend pointed to the wall and said, 'See those? They look like air vents to you but they look like microphones to me. I'll tell you something in secret in this room and by the time we get to the street the door-man will tell us about it.' "

With all this knowledge floating around, there is not the necessity of expending great amounts of energy for Macy-San to learn what Gimbel-San is doing. Possibly the free exchange of intelligence accounts for the easier pace Lipsitz has noted in Japanese business. The pace is not comforting to a man keeping time by American standards.

Lipsitz has timed himself about as follows: Six weeks of business-like rush from meetings to discussions to factories to nights-out that settle down, American-style, to shop talk, and not an order or a decision forthcoming from the entire medley relay. Then, two hours before plane-time, a mob descends upon Lipsitz with orders and contracts in hand and every Japanese gentleman in the crowd knew all along he would be there at the American's deadline.

The thing to do, then, is to fake a departure, to shake loose the Japanese gentlemen early. Right?

"Wrong," said Lipsitz. He tried that. In the United States, airlines do not post reservations. But airlines do in Japan. And if there were not the airlines there would be some other give-away. The air-vents, probably.

George Winslow, a seven-trip man to the Orient for Kalimar, recalled a virtue in the Japanese knowledge of what an American business man is up to, and where he is up to it. Lipsitz agreed. He was in Hong Kong in February 1959. When a tornado hit St. Louis a Hong Kong paper, feeling no obligation to be conservative about events so remote from its circulation area, declared, "St. Louis Devastated."

"The paper said the worst-hit areas were south — that's our offices on Shaw — and west — that's my home in Ladue," Lipsitz said.

He tried for two days to place a call from Hong Kong to his wife in St. Louis. The passing hours convinced him of the worst about his family's fate instead of the worst about the telephone service from Hong Kong. When he did receive a long-distance call it was from Tokyo. A Japanese gentleman said he had taken the liberty of calling Mrs. Lipsitz in St. Louis and wished to report the family was fine, the house was fine and the office was fine in St. Louis, and how was Mr. Lipsitz in Hong Kong?

Mr. Lipsitz allowed as how he was fine now, too. That's what he likes especially about the Japanese. They're so polite. They don't think twice about a 13,000-mile courtesy call.

B'nai B'rith Council Plans Donor Dinner

ST. LOUIS B'nai B'rith Women's Council will have its annual donor dinner dance in the Khorassan Room of the Chase Hotel Sunday, April 24. Mrs. James Goldenberg is chairman for the affair.

The party will mark the end of a year's work in behalf of all B'nai B'rith philanthropic projects. Each woman must have earned a minimum of $25 for the council in order to attend. There will be a floor show and dancing to Jerry Gotler's orchestra.

Mrs. Louis Sandler is president of the council. Mrs. Goldenberg is being assisted by Mrs. Frank Cohen and Mrs. Albert Markenson.

The council is the co-ordinating body governing the six local chapters. Serving as donor chairmen and hostesses for their respective chapters will be: Mrs. Max Kornblet, Missouri; Mrs. Ben Cohen, Ebn Ezra; Mrs. Stanley Strauss, Harrison-Egel; Mrs. Sidney Goldberg, Brandeis, and Mrs. Mary Cohen, St. Louis.

The Aero Chart Woman's Club will meet Thursday at the Flame restaurant, Highway 66 and Lindbergh boulevard, for dinner at 6:30 p.m. Afterward there will be a question and answer period.

Martha Carr's OPINION

No Time to Speak Up

Dear Martha:

A YOUNG MARRIED WOMAN is being courted by a man nearly twice her age who recently got a divorce because of her, some say. He has chased women all his life but our friend is new in this small town and we doubt if she knows.

He flashes money, drives a big car and travels, but his family had little more than bare necessities. We can't say this to a girl in love, but is it morally right for us to watch her walk into this without raising a hand to stop her? She used to be such a nice girl.

WORRIED FRIENDS.

If she's already married, as your letter said, she's as guilty as he is. But I suspect you meant to say she is unmarried. Even so, as an adult, she will have to make her own decision. You may disapprove of the man—and from what you say he doesn't sound like much of a marriage bet—but I honestly don't think that anything you would say would be welcomed by a star-struck young woman. If all she hears are wedding bells, she won't listen to crash warnings. You may have to stand by to pick up the pieces, but you may be happily surprised if the marriage should succeed. Give them both a chance.

Dear Martha:

RECENTLY YOU HAD a letter from "Unhappy Neighbor." She said the woman next door thought that she was infatuated with the woman's husband. I didn't think anything about this until someone else who lives near here told me this was meant for me. I was thoroughly shocked. "Unhappy Neighbor" must have dreamed it up. I trust my husband implicitly. I have never been so happy in my whole life.

I like to keep to myself and keep my mouth shut about those who live around here, which is more than I can say about "Unhappy Neighbor." She is the neighborhood gossip. I need someone like this like I need a sore thumb.

How can I convince her how wrong she is?

PLEASE HELP.

Don't give it another thought. The letter came from a town miles from here, a long way from your home city. So put that shadow of a doubt out of your mind and keep on being happy.

Dear Martha:

"GROWN UP" isn't as adult as she claims if she feels it is rude to tell a careless visitor in your home not to lean on a light colored wall. If your visitors act like small children, treat them as such. Regardless of their formal education, some people have never learned to respect others' property. If more mothers would teach their children at an early age to show respect maybe there wouldn't be so many adult-kiddies running around. Of course, these people never recognize themselves as such. FURNITURE PROTECTOR.

Martha Carr has compiled a leaflet of prayers for children and grace to be said at table. You are welcome to have as many copies as you need for your own family or Sunday school class or department. Please inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Fun at Thurber Show

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 5.

I ARRIVED HOME Friday morning after a very easy flight, and in the evening I had the pleasure of dining with some friends, Dr. William T. Levy and his mother. Afterward I went to a performance of "A Thurber Carnival." Burgess Meredith certainly does a good job in his direction of these entertaining and delightful Thurber sketches. I loved "The Unicorn in the Garden," and "The Gentlemen Shoppers" seemed to be having such a good time. "File and Forget" struck a reminiscent note for me. Altogether, it was a good Thurber collection and provided an enjoyable evening.

Just before I left the hotel in Salt Lake City I was confronted with someone who insisted that I fill out a census blank immediately, though I told him I was from New York and would probably have to fill one out at home. Being away from New York, there were certain questions I could not possibly answer, and hence I am afraid my own census filing was not a very great success. But at least I will be counted as living in the United States at this period!

IT WAS INTERESTING to read that New York City's fair housing practices law was upheld on Friday by State Supreme Court Justice Steur. Suit had been brought on the ground that the Sharkey-Brown-Isaacs law was an injustified interference with the complainant's right to conduct his business. The Judge said: "The individual must yield to what legislative authority deems is for the common good." This law prohibits discrimination because of race, religion or national origin in non-government aided housing.

The decision just at this moment points up the failure of the Republican-led state legislature to approve a proposal made by their own Republican governor for a state fair housing practices law. I think there will be a sense of outrage that the state is held back in its development along these lines. We have led in the effort to improve our housing situation in the city, and the state, under Republican control, should certainly keep pace with the city which is under Democratic control.

IT IS REPORTED in the newspapers that Vice President Nixon claims to have an open mind on a possible invitation to Mr. Rockefeller to be his running mate. Why should Rockefeller consider such an offer? Being Governor of New York is certainly a more interesting job than being Vice President. Few of our vice presidents are remembered for very long after they have served, unless by chance death of a President makes them the chief executive and they become well known in that capacity. In itself the vice presidency has never seemed a very interesting position. Certainly, for a young man who has bright future political prospects, it does not seem to hold many attractions.

Late Start for the Vegetable Garden

By Leonard Hall

LEONARD HALL

WHENEVER I LOOK at a seed catalogue I am reminded of an old friend who had a sure-fire formula for selling. "All you do," he said, "is take your prospect up on the mountain and show him the view." Nor is anyone more expert at this, I think, than people who sell us our flower and vegetable seeds. From asparagus to zucchini and azalea to yew, there isn't a page or a plant variety in the catalogues that does not tempt us.

This season the vegetable seed order went off ahead of time in anticipation of an early spring. But although the plans are big as ever, all the gardening has been done on blustery evenings beside the fireplace. We are determined, moreover, not to be discouraged by the fact that the garden is usually plowed in February; that St. Patrick's day is for planting early potatoes; that spinach, lettuce, radishes, onions and beets should be in by the end of March; that if the peas aren't up by this time, they may be caught by the first hot spell and not make a crop.

Every year there must be at least one new plant experiment and this year it is the sensational climbing strawberry. Ginnie spotted it in an early catalogue and she and John Cary started plotting how we will raise our strawberry jam on a trellis. But whether or not this comes to pass, it will be fun seeing strawberries competing with Paul Scarlet roses. Meanwhile I am grateful they did not decide on the fruit trees grafted to grow a half-dozen varities of plum, peach, apricot and all the rest.

The reason for a vegetable garden, of course, is not to save money. Figure a fair cost for labor, seed, fertilizer, dusts and sprays and ground rent, and the saving over what your vegetables cost in the market may vanish. There are variables, of course; the size of your family; the amount of produce stored, canned and frozen. Taken together, these make quite an item. But the real reason for a garden is the wonderful eating it provides. Even today's miracles of refrigeration, processing, quick-freezing, plus the development of varieties that transport and stand up on the shelf, cannot produce vegetables that compare in flavor or quality with those picked fresh in your own garden. Every home gardener knows this because he has proved it a hundred times.

There are really two ways to garden. One is to do it intensively in a small space, concentrating on favorite vegetables that produce well and take up the least room. Such a garden can be worked by hand, and the job of maintaining fertility and organic content is not difficult. The other way, generally followed when space is not at a premium, is to have a large garden and work it by machinery. Now more kinds of vegetables are raised, including those that take up space, such as corn, squash, potatoes, melons and the like. There are also succession plantings of vegetables that will continue bearing through the hot weather.

It is not as easy to keep up the fertility level of the large garden. When we cultivate clean between the rows, organic matter oxidizes and burns up in fairly short order and the problem is how to constantly keep adding more. One way is to farm half the plot to vegetables and the other half to a green manure crop such as barley or rye which can be plowed under. This is "rotation gardening" and it works well if you have space for it. Some lime and nitrogen, as well as potash and phosphate, can be added during the season of green manuring as tests show these are needed.

In our garden we are trying a new experiment this season. Last autumn we spread a foot of sawdust over the entire garden area and to this added a liberal application of nitrogen in the form of ammonium nitrate.

This will help break down the sawdust into humus; and the whole will be left on top of the ground rather than plowed under. The reason for this is that if green sawdust is worked directly into the soil, it has a tendency to use topsoil nitrogen as it rots, and this throws the fertility balance out of kilter for a season. Now, instead of plowing, we will open up the soil with the tiller or sub-soil chisel. Just what problems of planting and cultivation we may encounter, we aren't quite certain. But the method will step up the over-all organic content—and we will let you know how it works out as the season progresses.

BLUE SHIELD
PERSONAL MEMBERSHIP

IS AVAILABLE TO ALL... you can join as an individual AT ANY AGE... you do not have to belong to a group

Age is no barrier to Blue Shield membership—you may join at any age, and Blue Shield means lifetime protection.

Your Blue Shield protection cannot be canceled because of the number of times you need care, the amount of benefits paid, age, the type of illness, or for any other reason except fraud or non-payment of dues.

No physical examination is required for Blue Shield membership.

Blue Shield protection is good anywhere in the world.

There is no special restriction on Blue Shield benefits for treatment of tuberculosis, mental or nervous disorders, venereal, drug or alcohol addiction diseases. Benefits are provided on the same basis as for any other illness.

With Blue Shield, you have your own free choice of physician.

There is no red tape in obtaining your benefits—you just show your Blue Shield card to your doctor and the hospital.

Blue Shield benefits are paid directly to your participating physician, with notification to you of the amount paid.

The family has the opportunity of continuing a membership if the member dies, and dependent children may continue their own memberships after age 19 or marriage.

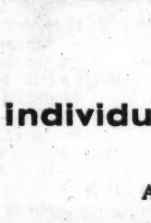

Here are the benefits you get with Blue Shield non-group membership

MEDICAL

Medical protection is especially important to older people since Blue Shield records show that more than half of all hospital admissions last year for members over 60 were for medical cases. Blue Shield medical benefits are provided for 70 days for each different hospital confinement—$5 a day for the first seven days and $3 a day for the next 63 days.

It is important, too, that under Blue Shield terms, a hospital stay qualifies as a different confinement any time it is for a different condition. Even when it is for the same or a related condition, it qualifies if the stays are 90 days apart.

SURGICAL

Blue Shield surgical benefits are paid for operations and most endoscopic procedures in a physician's office as well as in the hospital. Benefits up to $200 for specified procedures are paid for surgery, including fractures. There is no limited list of operations—benefits are paid for any type of surgical procedure. (Plastic operations simply for beautifying purposes and treatment for conditions existing before you became a member are, of course, not covered by your membership.) Total surgical and endoscopic benefits for treatment of one condition in any 12 consecutive months can be paid up to a maximum of $200.

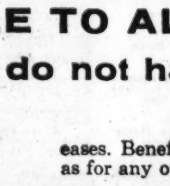

DIAGNOSTIC X-RAY

Benefits up to $25 each membership year for each person covered by your membership are provided for diagnostic X-ray in your physician's office in traumatic injury cases such as fractures.

DEEP X-RAY THERAPY

Benefits up to $100 in any 12 consecutive months are provided on the basis of $5 per treatment for each person covered by your membership for deep X-ray treatment of malignant conditions rendered and billed by a physician, whether given in the hospital or in the doctor's office.

REMEMBER: THERE IS NO MAXIMUM LIMIT ON THE TOTAL BENEFITS PAID OUT UNDER YOUR BLUE SHIELD MEMBERSHIP

Compare the benefits—the cost—the special features—of Blue Shield with the medical-surgical provisions of any other plan. You'll see why Blue Shield is your best protection.

For companion hospitalization expense benefits, be sure you have Blue Cross.
Blue Cross benefits cover a broad range of services you need when you go to the hospital.
Dues are low and there is no age limit on membership. Ask about becoming a Blue Cross member too.

Blue Shield and Blue Cross offer a variety of special plans for employed groups which provide a number of advantages possible only through group membership. If you are interested in having a Blue Cross-Blue Shield group where you work, please furnish us with the name and address of your company.

Blue Shield non-group monthly membership dues are low...

	Individual Membership	Family Membership
For members joining before age 65	$1.75	$4.10
For members joining after age 65* (any person included in membership 65 or over at time of enrollment)	$2.65	$4.30

For your convenience, dues are billed every three months.

*Because the need for medical care increases for people in older age groups, dues for those who join Blue Shield after they are 65 are necessarily slightly higher. Dues for members who join before becoming 65, however, are NOT increased at 65. Benefits remain the same regardless of age.

Family memberships include the husband, wife and all unmarried children and dependent brothers and sisters under age 19. Sponsored memberships are available for unmarried dependents between 19 and 27. Maternity benefits are available under Family memberships only.

Get full information...

Simply fill in the coupon and mail it to Blue Shield—today. You will receive full information about Blue Shield non-group protection along with a membership application. No obligation, of course, and no salesman will call.

LAFF-A-DAY

"Our first day in Paris, and that's all you can say—your feet hurt?"

Uncle Ray's Column Perry's Trip to Japan

Scene in Keijo, Japan.

SOME PERSONS suppose that Commodore Perry was "the first man from the western world to lead an expedition to Japan." That is far from the truth. Perry did fine work in the middle of the past century, but some white men reached Japan hundreds of years before he was born.

The first men from Europe to visit Japan (so far as our records tell) went there 50 years after Columbus made his first Atlantic voyage. They were sailors of Portugal, and opened up a small trade with the island empire.

LATER came vessels from Holland and England. The Dutch carried on the best trade with the Japanese, but an Englishman is the most interesting of the pioneers. His name was Will Adams, and he was a pilot during the reign of Queen Elizabeth I.

Adams was invited to stay in Japan, and to show the Japanese how to build good ocean vessels. He became a resident, and in later years married a Japanese woman.

LIVING on islands in western parts of the Pacific ocean, the Japanese needed knowledge of navigation. They have done well in this art (far better than the Chinese) and now send ocean liners and freight steamers to the New World, also to ports in southeastern Asia.

White tribesmen of Aino stock appear to have been the first settlers in Japan. It is believed that they were related to some of the Stone Age stock of southern Europe.

Later came people of Mongolian stock. These took over most of the land, driving the Ainos into small areas. Malays and Polynesians entered Japan at an early date, and married with the Mongolian settlers.
